Before The Rational Male I never knew what the word rational was.

Passing shit test after beta filter I got $10k worth of care from worker comp for back- I ran for office to talk about this.

Passing the first beta filter/shit test is taking the Red Pill.

'Pro white' candidate expelled by state GOP

By TOM CALLIS Hawaii Tribune-Herald | Saturday, July 21, 2018, 12:05 a.m.

Bryan Feste, who is running as a Republican for the Hilo seat, told the Tribune-Herald that he wants an "all white nation" and shared campaign material that states he is "pro white" and uses derogatory language for Jewish and black Americans.

Thank you for standing up for human rights.

Thank you Bryan for trying to help White children, women and men who face discrimination in workplace hiring, promotions and college admissions through affirmative action and other state sponsored anti-White policies.

If the Hawaii Republican Party and Democrat Party value diversity then why are they not disavowing Kamehameha Schools when they have an admission policy based on race? Why is it okay to legally discriminate against Whites based on the color of their skin.

Thanks again Bryan for bringing the challenges Whites face in Hawaii to the forefront. You have nothing to be ashamed of and you are not alone.

There's either a later update on this thread where a /pol/ user called me a Chaos God and another user commented on "I'm trying to make a manual like how the communist lawyers hand out the terrorist of how to talk to the police but how anyone in capitalism system can stay in frame and LARP to get workers comp care) this is brilliant or it was censored.

$100 solo censored campaign in Hilo, HI. Where I called non-Whites shit skins vs well funded fully backed by both party candidate who was fully backed by the media and had a ton of volunteers.

OUCH.

Main Objective.

- 1. The Exodus of White wage-salves from big cities to contactors.
- 2. How one contactor can bill Boomers, from big cities to small cities within a three hour drive from his shop, at $125,000 a week with a crew of three that includes himself.
- 3. Anti-aging for men from looking 35 to 22 in six months.
- 4. How I navigated workers comp and got $10,000 worth of back care in a few months 30 back adjustments and 40 hour long back massages. And what I Learned about workers comp about it not being based on the care one needs but one's ability to hold Frame and Live Action Role Play.
- 5. How I navigated the Hawaii Civil Rights Commission and filed a case solely based on male sex discrimination creating a lot of paper work in the process.
- 6. When I was recruited to run for office (R) in Hawaii, how I would now ruin political opponents campaigns, what I learned about their vetting process and how to play as a Racial Team.
- 7. An Extreme Satanist Right of Passage.
- 8. What is Morbid, how to spot it and how to root it out.

Preface

I used to be able to do math in my head until I had a chimp placed in front of me for a pre-calc class. I've been failing English class since second grade. I've retaken English at least a dozen times. This isn't a polished piece of work – This is written by a White Straight man who's listened to Rap and played video games most of his life. I've only started reading and writing two years ago. It's a PDF that shits all over obummer care's legacy making the highest status nigger just another din-do-nuffin. It's been said radicals and revolutionaries get no retirement benefits: Here's how to get 30 back adjustments and 40 hour long massages after getting hired part time. This will offend you. I would seem to be the first person in US history to see Workers Comp for what it is, how to navigate it, and how to pass on that knowledge. I even tried to take the main points of how to LARP into the system and give it to antifa and black lies matter hoping they would spark the workers comp revelation – are 100% of them extreme masochist with no spine? It would seem so or I am incomprehensible to the 'Semite.'

Not to say I ever got a skill to lvl 99 on runescape but I had two friends who did. My gab username was and Is lvl99Loki

Can you hold frame vs a slew of Jewish companies that don't present themselves as Jewish? Do you know what Live Action Role Playing is? Will you have a spine and take $10k worth of health care without remorse? Will you rationalize anything your (((manager))), your (((case worker))), your local (((hospital))), or anything from other sources and play into a hostile frame IE being knocked off balance? My story and case were EXTREME – straight from the majority Non-White State of Hawaii in the US. If at any time I played into a hostile frame I'd either have a fucked up back or lots of medical debt or no civil rights case filed or ended up a neo-cuk-serative.

I've earned my title.

I originally archived a PDF when the main stream media smeared my name in hopes that some would read it. I woke up one day to find myself all over ZOG-book so I uploaded it AS IS. I was playing 3D chess. I now edit and present that PDF (LARPER MINDSET).

I would seem to be a High Profile person in the Movement. I will attempt to stitch things together: To go from "I can spend 8 years becoming a master electrician to writing a manual so a CURRENT master electrician in the movement can make bill boomers at $125k a week via building a 50k mega watt solar system each week with a team of three guys." Have you ever looked around and saw all the horribly hurt people – back braces, hobbling, doping up on every and all drugs to try to cover their back pain? It would seem as long as capitalism is a thing people are expected to grind their spines into nothing before being replaced and left to a pitiful whimpering existence, a living hell. What I can offer is a recall of my gut feelings while going through workers comp. At one point it clicked, these (((companies))) are LARPING and I needed to LARP (Live Action Role Play) back.

This isn't a reform of any kind for insurance, health care, workers comp, etc. This is how to get the care you need out of the current system.

This is Frame and Power. The (((system))) LARP's against you. It does it flamboyantly expecting you to cuck.

In 2017 I went through workers comp in the US for hip, neck, back, spine and shoulders while working at a feed store 3x busier than the average where the men moved 50lbs bags of feed forty hours a week with a hand truck/dolly. I learned something, the system depends on peoples good will – people don't get cared based on who needs it, it's based on if they can Stay in Frame and LARP. Imagine if there was a machine that could detect the slightest hint of finding out what it means to screw yourself over IE A feel of someone grinding a screwdriver into one part of your spine for the rest of your life and dreams.

Someone may think of some advanced x-ray machine or highly trained Drs. When in reality the answer is so fucking simple. When I walk down the hall way with a mirror at the end, I watch how I walk to see if I hobble. When I sit down I naturally put my feet next to each other and see how they line up. If one foot is way off, outside the normal 1/2 inch, it's time to swim. I NEVER crack my neck with my hands or any other object unlike all those old western movies. Have you ever put -24 db ear plugs in and covered them with 3M ear muffs and walked around on gravel, concrete, dirt or grass and actually listened to your body? Have you ever sat down in the back of a super cab truck and found yourself hating to sit with one hip way off to one side with your back way down? If you value being able to deadlift your best friend, work at a contactor job or survive the random times you have to "preform secondary job duties" for a female co-worker who refused to "preform main job duties" since a man is a around to move that heavy object.

I went through workers comp and got $10k worth of care. Why are women in health care? It's a shit test. I later filed a Hawaii Civil Rights Commission case for male sex discrimination for male sex discrimination. I created a lot of paper work.

All the employees were liberals expect me. Not to say I was a Republican or conservative....

I, alone in Hawaii as a proud White man, had to seek out identity online. The Donald sub during the election fed me memes. Little did I know what the word nationalist or civic meant back then or anything about the JQ. I thought I was way to the right until I talked to some group on discord where one of them called me a neo-cuck-serative. I was the first person from Hawaii to reach out.

After my workman comp was finished the shit-lib coworkers sat back, talked down to me, wrote me up for "working slow" while I did loops around all of them. A location with 15 people + with about half as men. I was the only one loading those 50lbs bags of feed some day. I developed a stoic mindset, focused on keeping a healthy pain free body while the spare work crushed them one by one.

Odin did the work of nine men for a season.

I lifted and moved 40 hours a week like the quality of my life was on the line. I've lived with my mother who had back surgery and I DO NOT WANT THAT – I ran out of sympathy for that life choice and I see it everywhere. I did that for a few months while applying places and got a job at a home improvement store in Plumbing department. This taught me a similar tale of Live Action Role Playing for my manager was some 40 year old Christinsanity who's had five back surgeries – that one day her Dr said it would be a blessing from God if she could work again after the first... Four later she's one hell of a mess if she's 30 minutes late from taking her pain meds.

I would go to the beach when the cruise ships where in to play game while reading Man-o-sphere books, pdfs, and blog posts. I had to read the Red_Pill side bar and go to the beach to test what I was learning. One day while driving home I saw some Trump MAGA hat sign wavers. I stopped to talk to them and within a month I went to district chair to being recruited to run for office.

I was anti-Christian at that point. Almost instantly after a half mud half white blood co-worker said he didn't believe in God any more, I started to see a flicker Light. The Bible speaks about not trying to save muds. I became like the tale Dante and Virgil watching the many levels of hell be shown before me while working 40 hours a week with a crew of shit-libs. At one point I stopped trying to teach them how to lift correctly and started talking shit to their face – foretelling their soon to come living hell via their own "actions." One by one, I watched them develop back pain all in different ways. I watched them tell stories of their morning about waking up and drinking two energy drinks and taking 20 Ibuprofen, and how they couldn't eat breakfast because the three 32 oz cups of coffee and that "breakfast" made them not able to eat – many tales like this fed me spiritually a new. I suppose this made me into an extreme Satanist – being forever stained for the rest of my existence radiating black energy – an Angel of Chao, Madness and Disorder.

"No shitholes in the USA, then the World, all else is error." A quote picked up my zogbook timeline later posted as a follow up story by the media outlet that originally ran a story on me.

The Hawaii Republican Party sent me to a special political training event where the final project was to write up a campaign plan (see later the whole plan – Political debate replaced by Internet Blood Sports). They also sent me to Leadership Institute classes. Most of these classes are less than $25 to attend. Essentially, they are trying to teach frame to people with IQ at room temperature. There's some other good stuff. There's a chance to talk shit to Proud Boys and open Communist in the audience. It's a two day paid hotel stay for a 16 hour class where I got to answer most the questions and leave the event staff speechless.

Hilter said anything that can help hasten the destruction of the system should be done. If one of my readers desires to work to write an indoctrination book to present to the public as a work like "How to be Invisible" about my Workers Comp case or Civil Rights case they can send a letter to Bryan Feste PO Box 622, Saint Charles, MN, 55972. Or if a reader desires to write a manual that mirrors the communist handout written by lawyers of how to talk to the police but instead how to talk to worker comp (managers, insurance companies, and Dr). Or a manual on how to file a civil rights commission case. I do not want to work with anonymous people. Meeting face to face is important so I can listen to my gut and pick up any hints one does give off.

If you ever read How to be Invisible, you'll quickly learn that $100 can turn up almost anyone's physical address.

Again – this is NOT a polished piece of work. The main trust of this work is to teach contactors how to bill boomers at $125,000 a week with a three man team AND how one can hold Frame and Live Action Role Play into workers comp at normi wage-salve jobs so one can get 40 hour long massages and 30 adjustments.

When someone goes through workers comp the manager will NOT hire more people to cover said work load. When you get written an prescription for fore adjustments and massages still no extra help will be hired. The manager knows his team is mortally wounded and is now waiting for the damaged ones to fall off so he can replaced them with fresh ones. Said work load will not only Stress out your coworkers but will HURT and CRUSH some. It will make some co-workers so mad that they say "I'm so mad I can't see straight."

This is a WAVE ONE work.

Any and all information, documents, pictures or whatever is solely for educational purposes.

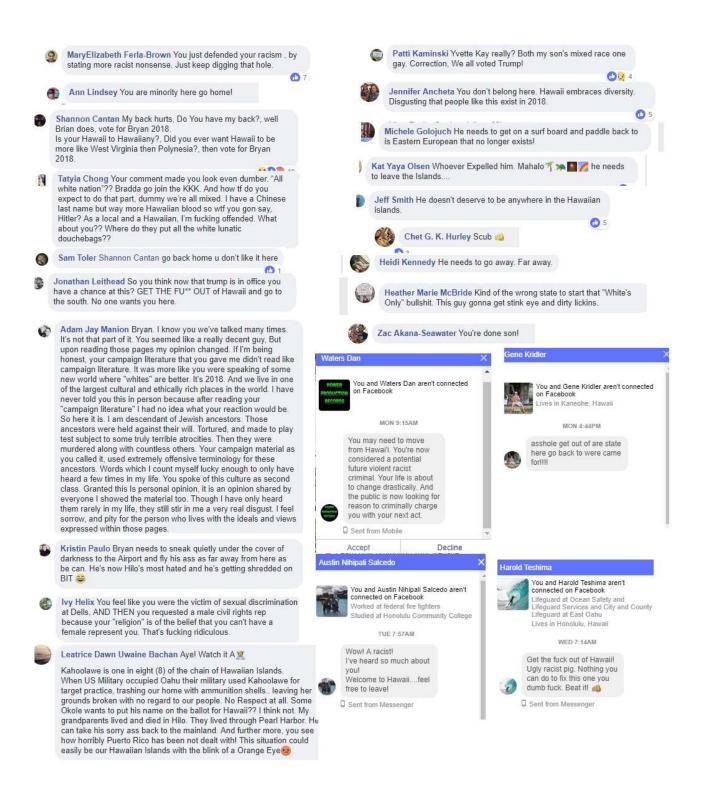

Hitler said anything that can be done to hasten the destruction of the system should be done.

>muh omg he doxed himself.

The (((system))) will one day come for my life. I intent to get the highest price. If I get assassinated let it aid in opening the flood gates. Screw your grammar, I'm writing.

Workers comp is one giant shit-test. Why else would there be so many women in the medical field?

In 2015 my mother had back surgery and my step dad had a heart attack, so I moved to Hawaii to shovel mulch on their agricultural lot.

An agricultural lot is a lot that gets taxed about ten times less than a regular living lot. Whereas the yearly taxes in Tacoma, WA was $5,000 a year this agricultural lot was $500 a year. In Hawaii one can build without permit structures less than 600sq'. Many people would buy 50 acres, build a 599sq' single home, rent it out for $150 a month and 20 hours of work trade a week, and when they filled a small house, they would build another. Perhaps someday this will spread to other states. This will obviously make people racist because of the contrast between Whites and muds aka Shires vs shit holes. This might be a good point to bring up while running for office – politics is a blood sport. One must not try to make a blow against his opponents campaign but wreck it with one swift blow IE having some young good looking people come to the current mayor with an proposal to "get with the times" like Hawaii, "a tropical paradise" where "everyone is happy." When the Mayor says no, they send the letter to the new candidate and then that candidate does a press release: "stagnant ideas from a suppose progressive mayor refuses to embrace change and give younger generations hope." Lines like this would probably work in really Liberal states and then as they picked it up more conservative states would ... Two teams, on the same side, working together. One gives an extended out reached hand and when rejected the other comes in with a clenched fist.

...While picking up ten 50lbs bags of duck food from one of the local feed stores the Jewish ham planet cashier manager see I have some biceps and says I should apply. I didn't know she was Jewish at the time, just she was almost 400lbs, had more make up on she had to buy in bulk, and chins so fierce that it made a stack of pancakes look pathetic. I later find out she has the same last name of the store manager. Jews are 1% of the Hawaiian population but would seem to have been 2/3rds' of the managers at this location, ½ the lead positions, my first Hawaii civil rights case worker and of course lawyers I talked too. Full time jobs in non-White majority Hawaii are hard to come by. It's the highest cost of living in the nation. I was working one day a week, a four-hour shift, unloading some truck in the morning. I apply to this location, and my mom tells me "you'll be able to keep your dignity at this job."

Around 2013/2014 while working at a warehouse night shift job I wanted to be healthier, so I got a wholesale membership and browsed what they had. I ended up drinking a quart of soy milk a day. What a mistake as you can see the 2015 photo I got wrecked by soy. I experienced a psychological break lasting for years, running back into the shroud of darkness and fought off enslavement and found new life.

2017

I spiraled into despair. If I could go back and give myself advice.

- "You are not a small dog that shakes uncontrollably when you are not held"
- -Roosh V
- "You are the prize, not her"
- -Rollo

Onions, not soy. If you can't eat an raw onion then you DON'T deserve the health benefits of it. Are you so emotionally weak that only SODA makes you happy for more than a 30 second fap?

Seek pleasure from accomplishing deeds, not selfish instant gratification.

Don't dig a well so later in life you wont die of thirst when the neighbors up the hill have cesspools for toilets.

The one good thing about The_Donald was that I could flip through countless memes and grew a meme collection. I would not save memes that I had to read for more than a few seconds. I wanted to flip through hundreds. The edgy civic nationalist content on jewtube was OKAY but flipping through countless memes helped me smile on demand.

While my step dad took me job hunting in Hawaii he once said after I talked to a manager that I had to find some way to smile or not have such a blank face. So I spent time collecting memes. One of the Doctors I saw while going through workers comp was a short faded blue hair way post wall feminist dyke type – there's NO WAY in Hell I would trust her with my quality of life. It was a Red Flag – how did this bitch get here? Who put her there? Putting a pussy on the pedestal IE workers comp Dr. There always seems to be some smoking hot bitch to calm down the high test guys, not in Hawaii. They are all postwall after hitting the wall hard at 19. Non-Whites make fun of Whites needing sun screen, but when we put on a mask to prevent sun burn, it's all of a sudden offensive – Whites are expected to willing get burnt as if we, as a race, genetically modified ourselves by the sun, sitting drunk under a tree, to fat to move after the shade moves, waiting for a free lunch to hit us on the head – IE burnt genes that are the mark of always being acted upon and never acting in their best interest.

>muh shit-skin isn't the mark of the beast

I've never dead lifted or squatted much before. I definitely never done any clean and jerks. My father passed away in 2008 via a heart attack. He was taking wave 1.0 diet pills that were piratically meth and would be drunk by noon. My mother eventually kicked him out of the house where later she got a job at a local retirement home. To get hours she would be the one who'd answer calls for when someone fell down – the only one. A small woman picking up a couple hundred lbs old person in a shitty piss covered floor bathroom. As time went on her back pain grew, worse and worse – I would not suffer the same fate or have sympathy for that, and later, other "life styles".

My older sister KNOWS and has lived with our mother just as long if not MORE. One day my sister visits Hawaii and my mother, sister and I go out for Sushi. My mother is sitting flinching in back pain. I start to talk about whatever and my sister blurts out to my mother is great discomfort "What's wrong mom?" My mom weeps and says "It's my back"

My sister is shit-lib. She tried to be a race mixing shit-lib with some half Asian guy that she meat on WOW but even he kicked her out.

While working at that feed store I had to pay off a $6000 car payment that I went upside down on along with a couple thousand of debt from a failed Uber driver in Seattle. I was baited by Uber to live alone in the big city, if I only read Nietzsche back then. Nietzsche warms of the illusion of young men moving to the big city in dreams of making it to only be crushed by rent. I rented a one bedroom apartment in Seattle with a 20% discount with the rent alone coming in at $1000 a month. I quickly found out that most the neighbors, besides elderly couples who got their rent locked in from the 50's, that the landlords, and fire department were so scared of being called racist that they let 15 cat-shit-brown muds live in a one bedroom apartment – my uber/lift/taxi competition.

While paying off that debt from going upside down on a car payment I kept a log of what I incoming and outgoing money.

That log quickly became a I better figure out how NOT to one day wake up in a nightmare with a screw driver being grind into the same spot of my spine daily.

I would write down interactions with co-workers that later became AF/BB interactions (Alpha-fucks and Beta Bucks). I would note down their vices, habits, hobbies and mantras. I later profiled each of my coworkers with a page each. Not only did I note what they did talk about like say video games but what video game and why they liked it. Some shitty role playing game in space with text dialog where at the end the person can sacrifice themselves for "humanity" – IE what Jews want brainwashed goys to do.

I became sick. I was tracking each of their own personal "developments." My path became being anything but that with back pain not being an option. I started to research, seek and read like the quality of my life depended on it. I had a gut feeling that I too might one day be faced with fighting off back pain.

To those who say "You can search for anything on the internet" – why do so many people back pain? While searching and finding NOTHING for workers comp back related injuries all the posts said something like "May God have mercy on your soul." And God did have Mercy.

After a life time of thinking I could search for ANY answer online I drew a blank. I event had a testimony of being able to figure out anything I needed by search engines – all Jewish supplied sources.

One of my pillars being paranoid – all my coworkers had horrifying back pain, perhaps one day I too would have to sink or swim.

Another one of my pillars being hatred – that of having NO sympathy for those life styles.

I demanded the highest price for if I had to live with back pain, I started to work my way to a higher consciousness. So I wrote – never keeping a journal before and only talking shit in video games. Trying to describe what I didn't have the vocabulary or terms for. Seeing all those memes help me group people together. As women are casting men to fill roles in their life – how one looks matter. Like the buttergolem dyke who had a mean hobble who took my X-rays at the workers comp location – I was seeking back care and the employees suffer from back problems, red flag unless you're some filthy pro-nigger rap loving cuck who just sees a bbw.

Then I remembered the shopping carts at the local grocery store where the White man shopped in Hawaii. Unless a DR is TRAINED to touch your back, they will not. Unless a DR is trained cardiologist they will not comment on your heart. In Hawaii there's only a couple, if that, cardiologist in Honolulu. I knew that from a story my mom told me about when my step dad had a heart attack.

To day, 2-23-ba+ 8:15-8:22-AM I, BRYAN FESTE, popped my back while picking up a 10' 3"4" wood post that was wet. I pulled it tome w/ my left arm, pivoted & brought it up w/ both arms while extending out to throw it in the loading Container I must not of picked it up evenally beacause while extending up to out I lagged on the left Side so I would not smash the wood on the metal pull. POP. I continued to do more wood post until a client housed me a load out. The during the loadout I squated up the half bale of Aflfa & felt pressure in my neck and pain followed on the other side. While pushing out the Cart my shoulders crightside) has pain while on the Phone 8:33 -9:33 I noticed other spots as well. My knee is popping while walking . My whole Back from neck to hip & sore, pain in my shooter & pressure pain in neck by end of call. I've developed a head a che my speech has declined. _looks The Connected dots are main areas of Soreness. 3+/10 Cett = Quint TSC1702239753 2=23

The chiropractor saw that and said holy shit I wrote a lot.

Lucky for me, he was one of those muds from India. Whereas a White Dr might see society as his and work to keep and maintain law and order, this Dr had dollar signs in his eyes.

The Dr will ONLY treat what you write down. When I went in I had to write down something like that above statement again – Oh how back then, I had a complete lack of understanding what the word fundamental meant. I just had surface talk.

K.I.S.S Keep It Simple Stupid

We live in a society with shit skins.

"I was lifting X and then I felt a pain from my neck, shoulder, spine, back and hip. The pain is a 10"

Repeat that and stick to it. When asked why you are repeating yourself, try not to tell them you write in PILES OF DEAD NIGGERS for presidential elections.

I faced outrage after outrage, manager after manager, some puppet after another puppet. It would seem you can always trust someone to act in their best interest – and no truer words have been spoken about men with back pain who are expected to lift stuff for some cooperation – they will find a way to opt out of it, not be in that area at that time, know when to take lunch, know how to milk a task, and most importantly how to express outrage at other people for some bull shit excuse about why they have to do something and you have to lift. In short, I was seemingly the first person in the history of that location to get lifting restrictions for more than three days.

It was about a 60-90 days no lifting more than 5lbs period. Did the manager hire another person? No, but the lead started smoking meth. I watched these faggots wreck their backs one by one – being all different flavors of extreme masochist.

This shit-lib meth head death masochist cult says "I know I good work today because my back is so stiff that I can barely get into my car." These shitty bosses want to see you struggle. Unless you're physically feeling pain and whelping like a dog – you're not obviously working because ALL of them can't be wrong. In any sane training routine one is meant to progress. I originally thought about how cool it would be to lead a cooperation like this where men could get work and go from being 28 and looking 35 to looking 22 in six months: Paid to do an anti-aging workout, however, it would seem many positions exist to create pain in people so that they develop a selfish attachment to some kind of dope. Dope here is can be weed, meth, oxy, ibuprofen, drink or whatever – the force I'm talking about is you have a ROOT problem and instead of treating the ROOT problem they are treating the surface symptoms.

Most people assume that by default society becomes a beautiful garden and not over run by weeds. If you can search for any answer online, then why are their so many people with back pain? Why haven't these people looked online? Why haven't they talked to t heir managers? Why do seemingly ALL of them except me tell a story about getting a raw deal that stings 24/7 for the rest of their pathetic lives before they slaves to be shredded. They all pushed their psychological, emotional, spiritual, and moral limits to the extreme and became SLAVES. I became a MASTER.

I literally had to write that same line down about a half dozen times on different paper work, and had to repeat that to half dozen intake Nurses over the phone with the insurance company – it was like I developed a new mantra. These bitches on the phone will try to bait you like some post wall bitch trying to gossip with you while trying to find any reason NOT TO PAY. Make these worker comp companies pay pigs.

Be it saying/writing "back" and not "from my neck, shoulder, spine, back and hip."

Apparently, Insurance companies and general education have different terms and if you don't use the right terms, the Dr can't tell the insurance company hence not treat you properly.

I got 15 adjustments and 20 hour massages. two adjustments a week and three massages a week. Then my pain wasn't low enough, as we've been keeping track on the paper that he sends the insurance company at the end. I got written a prescription for another 15 adjustments and another 20 hour long massages. My pain ended at a 3.

My Jewish boss flipped out when I got a prescription for another 15/20. He tried to treatment if that I would get found out for Fraud because he never has seen this before in his decades with the company. That when the insurance company found fraud in me that he would then fire me, and I would have to foot that whole bill.

Honestly what counts as fraud? Having a pain that doesn't descend like a steady line in the same spots?

I had phone interview after phone interview. Where the bitch on the phone finally presented bait to me to try to catch me with fraud. When she asked how I felt about my back I said "I think I should follow the Dr's directions since I have no medical education what so ever."

Eventually the insurance company called me with a senior case manager saying that if I needed more care that I would have to see a state Dr since at that point it would be considered a life long injury.

I was learning to swim while going through workers comp. My Dr told me, I wanted to lift after this I would have to lift during my treatment – under his directions: weight limits that matched the weight resections. I've learned that when I have a concern about my back health, when I slip, when I move funny, when I lift heavy, when I have a stiff neck, when there's a slight concerning "pain", when I trip, when I fall it's all seemingly forgiven if one goes swims for 15 minutes.

The word pain is TOO general. Now is NOT the time to redefine it. (((They))) want us to believe we are all individuals and we all get individual care and not a few different groups each having their own blanket care. Maybe one day the White man, after the Great Flush, will heal ruptured disk and pinched nerves until then the term FUCKED UP BEYOND ALL REPAIR is a very real term living in a world of shit skins.

Funny how the tropical islands of Hawaii, where the swimming pools are free, are filled with a brown bio-masses with back pain. It would seem they have a complete lack of quality – none of them have a spine, non of them have a gut instinct telling them to go swim, all spineless idiots with a bottomless stomach with an eternal out stretched hand with gnashing of teeth.

I got a TENS unit and used that during the night. Using a TENS unit before free style swimming has helped me wonders. When reading, researching, writing, typing putting on a TENS unit is a great idea.

I sit down on the bench and look at my natural feet position and judge how long I need to swim. While in the shower I look at at my natural feet position and judge if I need to swim. If my slippers slip while showering, I'll go reswim and later buy anti-slip slippers. I've gone to bed a few times with a stiff neck, went swimming the neck day and all was well. In a sense it helps keep the fight alive.

I was trying to find other White men to pressure myself against in Hawaii, to hold each other accountable, and ended up pressuring myself against the pig system where my back was on the line.

Later you will see in my Hawaii Civil Rights Commission case that they claimed that women do load outs all the time (moving those 50lbs bags of feed), yet why are all the female cashiers horribly over weight or skin and bones with no muscles, no tits and no ass? Probably because they are all on heroine - What is most Whites in a non-White living area.

For some reason I grew up with one shoulder way higher than the other. What a shitty school system.

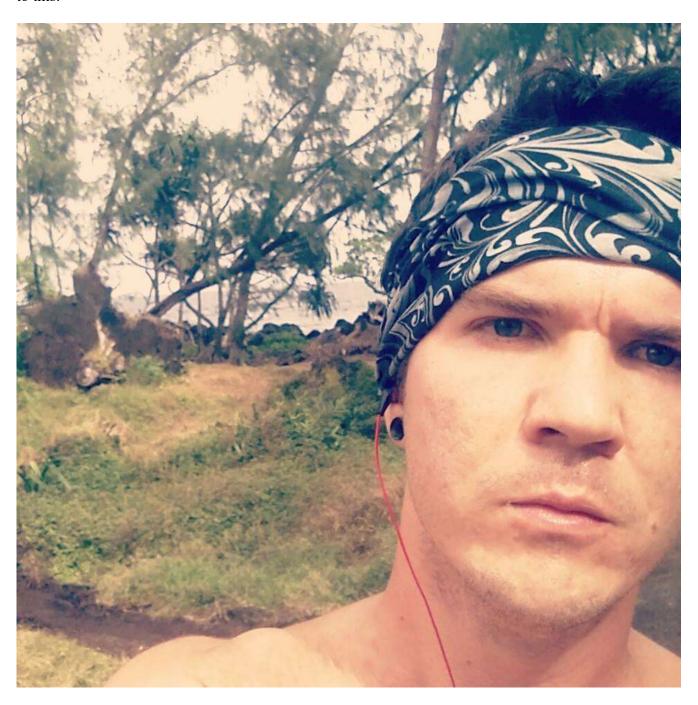

Dead lifting, squatting, and clean and jerking is a lot easier with a 50lbs bag of chicken scratch. After I went through workers comp I would do these moves in front of my coworkers to mock them – I had a weekend coming up, just after workers comp they see me in the back of the warehouse getting reps in with a 50lbs bag of feed – Whereas what broke ALL of them I got stronger. I did the work of nine men for a season.

I went from looking 35 to being confused with being 22 again in less than six months.

From this...

That home improvement store sure did hire me up quick. I was so good at moving water heaters that my supervisor fought for me against two other managers and the store manager to keep me in Plumbing and not be transferred to lot.

While at this job I wore a head hand to keep the moldy company supplied hat off my skin and to keep some shade on my neck. I grew my hair out for the second time. I wasn't going to spend $10 a week on a hair cut when I had a hat on all the time. I later got a job at some home improvement store and took the hat off and tried to cut my own hair – learn how to fix the root and not keep throwing money at the symptoms IE paying a barber. I took a little too much off above my side burns so I shaved the side of my head. I thought it looked weird so I shaved off some of the back side too. I now have and can maintain a hair cut no shit-skin or jew has – a Viking hair cut. I made dubstep joke or Viking references but a lot of people call it a Nazi or Hitler Youth hair cut. I'm NEVER going to look like a Jew backed puppet in pop culture. This look is rugged.

Meth head death cult

Despite Whites being a minority in Hawaii everyone but two people at that feed store, 15+ employees, where White. Or at least seemed White. The store manager spoke so much about money, had such a big nose, and had the last name of the cashier manager – who admitted one of her parents were jewish. The cashier lead's mother was also jewish. These weaklings seem to have a fetish about testing people near them that would hide them in a dark warm hide away spot – like a parasite.

That eternally sick looking cashier lead, no tits, no ass, always wearing short shorts that showed her snatch when she bent over to dust. A spoken proud feminist, a strong proclaimed woman who would never leave the cashier pedestal for three lucky workers to sit by idlily bradding each others hair, doing cross word puzzles, texting endlessly, writing product reviews, keeping around a self help book of how to unleash their inner superhero, one has a dog and got paid more than the men with the same job title for product knowledge, a weekly bring a pet to work day in rotation, daily coffee from the creep store manager who would pet them on the head like good little slaves, all psychological broken for who knows how long, never able to respond in wit, only saying sexist or racist – there is no saving them. No captain-save-a-hoe. No White Knight.

The ill thing, malnourished, $30 a day on trendy food, after a week of walking for some hand held poke-e-loose-some-weight-hoe game came out it happens. The cracks begin to show. A huge oddly shaped blue vein half an inch under her eye, shaped like a parasite, some hook tail type, appears above her make up line.

I being bombarded with shit from all directions from all my co-workers, leads and managers. Developed a stoic frame among others. I once told my manager that the lead was smoking next to the propane tanks and the lead only resumed it after the main manager left at 3pm. Was I to photo him smoking next to it AGAIN with one of the butter golem cashiers? No. Many words, and deeds, lay on deaf ears so to speak. Justice, fair, equality, sharing the work load? How can a so called person speak about these things when they take 10 ibuprofen, four energy drinks and endless amounts of meth smoke breaks to keep up with loading dog food into customers cars? Do you want to see LIVING HELL ON EARTH? Wave one isn't just that feed store in Hawaii but the whole so called state. An Agriculture state that can't even feed itself – they import 90% of the food.

One day jewish slut leaves her pedestal and ventures out side where I am stretching and watching the line for customers. The jew, as usually, is about to break down. After letting the witched thing speak freely for what seemed like five minutes about how she can't leave the cashier stand and that she tried reading, she tried texting but her friends have jobs and can't respond, she's sick of social media, she's sick of writing fake product reviews, that she can only stay somewhat sane from having to stand in one spot most the time by drawing, and those drawings, all those drawings that cover the cash counting room walls, are the only thing in life that bring her joy and that she couldn't believe I complained to the store manager that she got to draw. She then goes off on how we, she and I, need to work together, that I if I didn't tell on her could get away with so much if only I didn't tell on her because she didn't like telling on other people.

This jew once timed a hand exchange of 150 7' t-posts for 8' t-posts, since a new sale price after a recent purchase came about, out of the back of a truck said it seems I took too long — as if I'm in the Olympics being timed and judged on everything I do at that job. I tell her it wasn't me and I don't care what anyone does because it didn't effect me. She doubled down saying I know it was you, you are out to get me. I tell her to go talk to the shit-skin dude with arms the size of run way models next and ask if he feels I've been snitching on him for the last few months. It clicks to her because that fucking idiot who screwed himself over seemingly showed up with the sole purpose to find any way to ruin my day 40 hours a week.

I grew up being best friends with this Jew on the left. Ironically the female iewish cashier looks the same if you changed the face and removed the facial hair for make up. We were playing Jazz Jacket Rabit one night and his dad came down tell us to go to bed. He said okay one minute because he hasn't gotten a kill in a few minutes so he asked me to sacrifice my character so his friends didn't think he was a looser. I blew up his character three more times while he starting squealing like a pig, slapping/mashing the keyboard on my side but my characters flame flower just spanned. He was literally screaming, mouth wide open, eyes wide open and the scream became a high pitch squeal. His dad raised his voice and said enough. That was the last, and defining, memory of him for he later developed a (((rare genetic disease))) AKA the mark of the beast that prevented him from growing muscle or some jew genetic disease shit.

What a fucking creep. Every public photo of him on facebook he's trying to get close to people and they are trying to get as much distance and space between them. Just like any Jew, he's hands on while the females have horrified smiles on their face.

His grandma paid his rent in Seattle for a decade while he tried to start a blog, that obviously failed, and after a decade of free loading he got a job as a political consultanting – what is one example of Jewish privilege.

Jews are CURSED.

Imagine this level of cuck.

I tried to talk to him about memes but he said no, people will always like to read long articles from creditable sources.

By fucking idiot who screwed himself over I mean a mud who can't shut up about having a fmugly bitch who likes to suck his dick and fucking this shorter awkwardly fat mud. Who I once tried honestly to teach him how to lift but then one day revoked my extended outstretched hand and turned it to a clenched fist. Every time the fucking idiot spoke about his back running out of battery or having no energy to do anything I amplified and help drive him into a psychotic rage that peaked two days after he ruptured a disk "it feels like someone is taking a screw driver and grinding it into this part of my spine" screamed out to his manager who laughed and told him to have a smoke break. Then the next trying to present, for the first time in the whole time I've known him, in a meek "I don't know what happened this morning but it felt like I pulled something getting out of my bed." Where the drunk who drank so much he started to shit blood in the mens bathroom, who would show up Sunday (no managers) drunk and drive fork lifts, some average frustrated chump who could kick back $50 worth of drinks in 3 minutes and not be phased before looking at female profiles on zogbook while explaining how he's going to tell her she's absolutely beatify next time she comes into the store, says to him "ya, the weirdest thing happened this morning too. I tried to get out of bed and pulled my groin, it was awful, I feel back in bed and slept for another twenty minutes before trying to get out to only pull my groin again! And the night before! It happened twice!" the manager laughs and says "that's weird man because when my non-white wife is out of town I try to get into bed and pull my groin too." The next day his psychotic screaming and yelling at all the co-workers, trashing tickets out of customers hands, carrying 50lbs salt blocks up a ladder one floor to place them on a pallet up top screaming at whoever that they aren't working fast enough. I forget what I said until he's up front on the sales floor by where we get tickets screaming "I can't stand up, I don't know why my back wont move, the pain is in my leg and not my stupid legs. I can't stand! Can you get these loadouts Feste?"

I reply "why yes Kyle, I did show up to work to work today."

Customers say that, customers heard and say almost all of these. However, it wasn't caught on video – such a shame. Would make GREAT propaganda. However, seemingly ever White man in Hawaii is focused on escaping – drugs, drink, video games, porn or being a slave to pussy sums it up. While every White female is focused on riding the cock carasoul and enjoying her alpha sexual market status.

I, while going through some redpill boot camp, once thought I was a looser for not talking to some 18 year old who was carrying a happy 18th birthday balloon with a flock of friends who was eyeing me at starcucks while they walked past. I didn't finch despite her booty shorts and short shirt that made every other guy look at me like I was broken – I was White. My training manual said talk to em all, my gut said keep it White.

Warehouse duties or men at that location lasted a couple months usually. That location got some real masochist shit-libs to fill the role alright. One dude drank so much that he developed a stomach ucler and started to shit blood in the men's bathroom. The lead, married to a Hawaiian feminist 300lber with six kids not of his own, smoked so much meth that he went from having a full set of teeth to a baby set of teeth.

One day he pointed a finger at me, his hand shaking uncontrollably before he grabbed it with his other hand, failing in attempting to shot it from shaking, he tried to parent me: "you listen here mister." Before he could get out what he had to say he coughed, flinched, took his right hand back and made a fist and hit his heart so hard I could feel the thump that came out of his chest.

Some 35 year old faggot who looked 50 got a job there. He lasted a couple months. I got him to sing with me "hey, hey, hey, good bye" or "another one bites the dust." I remember his puppy dog look one day while he stood up straight after getting off the fork lift. His face filled with pure pain and discomfort. I could tell his disk in his back were grinding with each other. He didn't like Kyle and I got him to sing along with me. I would say nah nah nah nahhh and he would look into my eyes and we would sing hey, hey, hey good bye. He thought we were singing about the fucking screw ball idiot. He would try to sing a more upbeat or less foreshowing song of his fate. I told him no and he respected like a that good button husband he was. We sang those songs together as I watched day by day him sink deeper into despair as his disk grinded against each other in new ways. After Kyle hobbled off the job, this faggot got put in charge of stocking dog food. He standing as if where his spine started at his hip and would normally go straight up, now was to the side about five inches. Some silly faggot probably never placed in charge of anything in his life all of a sudden became in charge of stocking dog food after the previous month almost crying in a pathetic whimper to me on the loading dock that he needed a new back.

Some 22 year old half Nordic half Philippine tall anti-White with arms the size of run way models would openly echo the main stream media about him being racist against White people. I originally tried to teach him how to lift correctly, I tried to teach everyone, but the orc horde rejected me words. Over a year I took a lot of verbal abuse from this guy. While acting kinda like Virgil from Dante's Inferno. I saw each one of these people going down the same path – straight to a living hell: kyle.

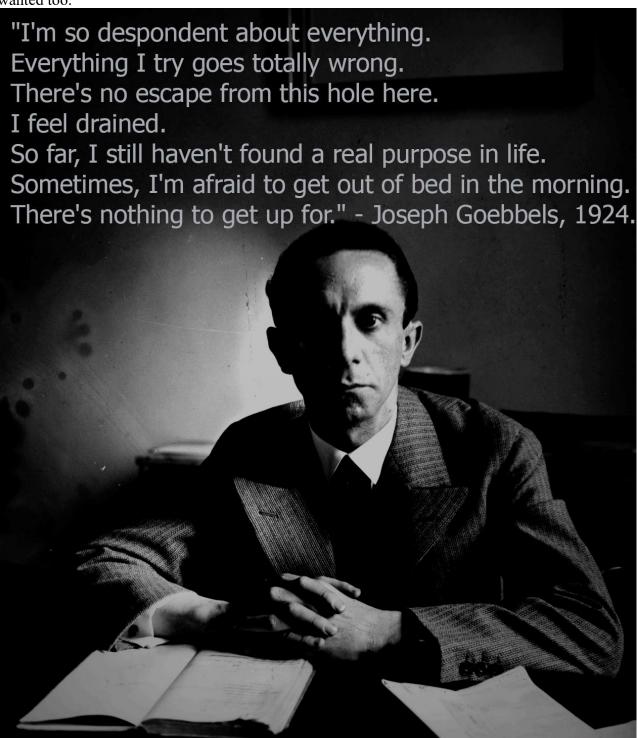

After Kyle hobbled off the job the store manager for the first time in decades changed the store layout, we brought two pallets of dog food onto the sales floor and not a constant bending over once to get the dog food out of it's storage location and place it in it's sales location. The fucking god damn jew actually did what I, the lowest on the totem pull, suggested. I didn't get a thanks but I did get to see the jew store manager sprawled out on a pallet of dog food in front of a line of customers whimpering "my back." As little brian, the blood shitter, said "get back to work bob we need you."

I'm Big Bryan.

Some army vet HATED me and said BULL SHIT to so many things I said. He hated me up till the week after he had a heart attack on the job. Mr "I can't feel anything in my left arm" managed by a navy and army vet thought he'd be okay since he seemed tough so didn't call 911. He skips the first day of work but the second he's back "I'm here but I won't be nice." The manager sends him home to figure out his attitude. The next day he's back because his wife, even though they live in some tent, has to have a pet fucking horse for some god forsaken reason: women cleaning up daily piles of horse shit is therapy but cleaning up after her man is traumatizing and de-humanizing.

I kept track of events, interactions that stood out, and profiled each one a couple times. I would then carve MY PATH, or at least the start, to be anything but them. I later reflect on the time spent with the out reached open hand... All these shocks, trials, ordeals and torture of the mind and body and soul... I seek a higher stages of breakthrough.

I could tell you stories about ending up in psycho wards and then end up renting a room in my grandpa's second house at a premium price since learning to pay my way is a good life lesson while working part time at some thrift store coming home to literally scream until I had no breath, punching solid well crafted walls with no give. Or years later to screaming in my Prius between Uber clients to loose my voice and work a night and early morning without being able to speak. "Oh my god you're my first White Uber driver! I've been taking Uber for two years now! Hi!" I couldn't reply even if I wanted too.

It was nice. Every day I was tested, on edge, constantly reminded of the enemy. It was easy to close my heart to pity. While going trough workers comp I could literally sit in PURE CHAOS doped up on some prescription muscle relaxer and tell my meth head lead and the fucking idiot screw ball my back hurt and I needed a few minutes to sit down after moving 5lbs bags of dog food while watching men from age 22 to 50 break their back stocking 28lbs bags of dog food.

While I decorate my new apartment and pick a phone background, the goal is to remind myself I am at war NOT waiting for some bell to ring for the next round. Not merely overcoming obstacles but decimating them entirely. In politics you don't score points for landing a hit like in professional sports. You either win or you lose.

A great man once said the only immoral thing is defeat.

A great man once said if National Socialist leave the scene then the ears of everyone who is left will ring forever.

A great man once said seek happiness in victory – but never peace.

The Lot

The lot associates would be hired in teams of seven, mostly young, men. One by one, they would start calling out. Since the location is a cooperation they are staffed for optional conditions. Often the loading area would be busy and the guys would have to carry 95lbs bags of concert 50 yards by hand or shoulder, no hand truck and no fork lift.

The all female cashier staff of about 20 cashiers would never help loading no matter how slow the cashiers were. It could be thirty minutes to close with a almost completely dead store and four cashiers would stand chatting with each other while paging on the intercom for assistance in the loading bay – every man in the lot called out that night. The lot associates reported to the lead cashier who was incharge of them. The lead cashier would page for back up – but couldn't leave her post and needed her cashiers at the cashier stands just encase a wave came since customer check out speeds is a top priority as per company demands. "long checkout times is one of the heaviest weighed scores on the recpite!"

While at this location for six months I saw three team of of seven men replaced every couple of months.

Are all locations like this in the nation or is it just that non-Whites don't work?

The locals don't care about their youth. Do words prevent your son from breaking their back at some part time job? No. The locals speak proudly about the businesses paying $4 above minimum wage. They don't know or can't comprehend some locals get paid to protest any business that does, they keep the illusion alive that they are worth $4 above minimum wage. If someone can't do their job without breaking their back, is that work yet alone a career? I went from thinking about surface symptom issues and try to get to the root.

I tried to talk to a couple from each wave. Young men hate reading, they develop back pain and opt for vaping, smoking, drugs, or drinking. It gives them a personal excuse to do these numbing activities since their back pain is developing.

It would seem these guys would join up for the lot, start to get their back ruined, then join the military – never fixing the root problem just escaping.

One night there were NO lot associates and the no associate came during a ten-minute page fest. The head cashier helped load one customer and fucked up her back.

I can only imagine how long she's been at that job. Her role at that job is to yell at the lot associates that "it's not the cashier duties to load stuff" – essentially, she was a scape goat, a real bitch that got what she deserved. Maybe 24 years old, already hit the wall hard, and hobbling around in the top 10% of worst I've seen.

She took her sick time saved up, just happened to get pregnant by her boyfriend, took her vacation time, and then got disability a month before she was due.

Women can always opt out of not lifting stuff. If you're a women and a co-worker asks you to move something I would just refuse and say "no, I'm a women." Most of these betas will White knight it up and pick up extra extra job duties and wreck their back for a female.

As a man either don't argue or don't be in that area – hide in your department or talk endlessly with customers or you will get shamed from people, and a manager, about you not being a team player or some abstract moral code. If you're really trying to go against the grain while working on the job, file a workers comp case.

The-bitch-isn't-vested-in-your-success

I know google reads my work. When I was keeping a blog www.fearthereply.com I would write about my shit-lib coworkers. I was originally working with the definition of liberal. I was speaking about how their world view is wrong by the fact that they all wreck their backs one by one. I later saw google change that definition to include "not physical things."

I've learned that optimizers, a solar system unit, can communicate with an inverter (DC to AC) via Direct Current. These inverters, usually capped out at 30 optimizers, can sense and read at least 15 optimizers per single DC 6AWG and can either broadcast data in real time or can send a package every four hours with all the data over each second of the last four hours. Can a computer that has a wifi card removed with no internet connection stream what you're doing live? Do you know what noise in a line means? I recently got some cheap home audio system, plugged into a power conditioner that's plugged into a decent surge protector — since I aim to remove noise in the line from my studio monitors. One morning hear radio or some other apartment stream on a different breaker playing through my speakers. I stop the audio book and sure enough, some unknown audio is playing, I mute my computer and it's still there, I switch to blue booth and the sound is gone. Do you ever wonder why all cameras, printers, and even some motherboards seem to always come with wifi or Bluetooth? Does having the knowledge to know how to break said wifi/Bluetooth make a difference with knowing that DC or AC wires can communicate and stream in real time? Does plugging something in send a surged backed up message? The said optimizers and solar inverters are an Israeli company — the JEWS KNOW how to pick up real time data from DC wires. How much technology are the Jews hiding from us?

I hope insurance companies will read and study this work in the aim to profile the meth head death cult I listed so they can maximize profits – grinding more spines, and making the stronger stronger. Making the White masses more uncomfortable than ever. As long as capitalism is around, these insurance companies and cooperation's will rely on people to be gears willing to grinded into nothing before being replaced. I even tried to write a how-to-manual and send it to antifa-wear-panties and nigger lies matter.

These companies rely on your innate friendliness and optimistic nature. They rely on you talking and giving detail when one simple line works. When they ask how you're doing and you're just having a decent day for the fist time and say good. They will wow it's great to hear you're doing good, sounds like treatment is over since we don't pay for massages for good healthy people.

The first location I went too was a long wait. There's so many shit test it's hard to count hence this text aims to teach you some fundamentals so you can identify a shit test and Live Action Role Play accordingly.

Make no mistake the manager LARPS that they care about you, but has anyone ever gone up to their boss in a capitalist system said their back hurts and need care and got it?

I can spot if some one has back pain from a mile away – they walk uneven. Their hips are off. My hips are off around a half inch, but I swim a few times a week to maintain a healthy hip, back, spine, shoulder and neck.

Don't argue with people in society. Nothing good will come from it. I argued with my coworkers about how to lift, I was written up, and they one by one shit blood, ruptured a disk, had a heart attack, had a stroke, cerebral palsy, ripped tendons, pinched a nerve – and people expect society can talk stuff out? The voting masses can't even prevent themselves from finding out what it means to screw yourself over.

There's a reason why swear words can get you in trouble at most jobs – If I see they walk funny, I hold up their reflection of back pain to them. I've gotten soy boys to almost scream that they don't have back pain. I tell them they just want a personal excuse to go home and dope up. They will say they don't smoke dope and I'll say that they use some kind of drug to forget – and if they weren't a dope head they'd understand the point.

If you move to Hawaii and get a job at a feed store you will get bored of calling your coworkers faggots to their face and start playing psychology games.

I got that anti-White half white to tell me he didn't believe in God one day after I told him "What do you think God is telling you every time you have back pain." These people hate you, but they aren't smart enough to keep their mouth shut – they keep talking like one day the same thing they've been saying for almost a year will finally strike a root – obviously a foreshadow of them crying out to their manager that it feels like someone is grinding a screw driver into this one spot in their spine.

Get out of the big cities

Don't take on debt for three easy payments to work towards starting your own business. Did I want to take electrical engineering classes next year and start billing Boomers at $125k a week to install 50k megawatt systems? I tried to rationalize that plan as an individual. Start thinking as a team. I can write about how my boss is currently doing that and pass along the knowledge to the movement.

Write a cover letter, a resume, take a caffeine pill or thermogenic before the job interview and for the probation period, think of /pol/ memes that can easily bring a smile to your face. Get some job at some morning truck unloading retail store. Then after you get that job, that shows you're employable, go get some job in a feed store. I bet they need some young man with a hint of arm muscles. Get yourself a new back if you need one, get yourself looking young again by cutting the vices out while lifting those 50lbs bags of feed. Learn to talk to contactors... #ropeculture Then start searching craigslist for a trade.

Ideally someone will infiltrate politics in the sense that a political candidate will want 1% of the energy to come from renewable energies. A master electrician can submit his plans to build solar, sense most cities are in the business of making money they will likely reject said plan so they can raise money over the next decade to build their own solar farm. The master electrician then writes up a press release exposing the mayor and there just happens to be One of Us who's platform is renewable energy.

Solar is getting better to the point that hundreds of home owners in the big cities will come together for a co-op to buy 13 acers of solar for a monthly reduction to their electric bill by 10%. That's a team of 200 men to build that solar farm.

The current 200 people kind team are very loose with their paper work IE having people have their licenses. Imagine a lone inspector rolling up to a 32 acer solar project and trying to count everyone before asking to see their licenses, in Minnesota, these 200 people team have people running into the forest and hiding. Drones are a thing. Cities and Parks use drones to cover huge amounts of land looking for meth labs, so why can't drones be used to count the number of people on a fenced job site and demand to see that many licenses or SHUT THEM DOWN on the spot. At one point a company gets too big – they get diversity % mandated about their workers/contactors.

A lot of these trades start at $18 an hour. When you're a journey many you're making $40 an hour. How many 40-50 hour weeks do you have to work to pay rent for a $600 two bedroom apartment split two ways for the whole year?

Ideally there's a master electrician who does solar. He'll have a journeyman and three appetences. This team of four will work under him 50 hours a week installing solar for farms until they have enough money saved up to pay rent and their over head for the rest of the year and then switch out for another team of four – thus creating the "I work three months and have nine months off." The master electrician will have a couple super cab trucks so that the four workers can driver whatever to the shop IE NOT having a $600 monthly car payment.

Most states you can take the master electrician test if you have a master's in electrical engineering.

I know a master electrician who started five years ago. He started out of the back his f-150. An f-150 caps out towing a bob cat.

Within five years he now owns a F-350 supercab silver edition turbo Diesel, F-250 supercab silver edition turbos diesel, F-250 supercab silver edition, two bob cats, four 16' fully loaded trailers, a German pile drive (that's half the weight and size of the American one), two different lifts, a sit down riding trencher, a standing ditch witch, soon a bucket truck (to lift to the power pulls), some German lift that takes stuff up a few levels, a trailer loaded with tools, a shop loaded with panels – bulk discount, and is building a new house by scratch. The stuff without the house is probably about half a million and the house is seemingly not some modest house.

He would seem to be the solar king for a 2-3 hour drive from his shop. As more states go renewable, as more big cities build solar farms, as more retired farmers build their own 32 acer solar farms, who will get that work?

He did that with some no-neck faggot Christ-lie nicked name either no-neck or dil-ham. The females in the town know him by no-neck and the men call him dil-ham. This dude would stand around and take photos of himself posting to his snapchat story. He was some what related to the master electrician so it's kinda one of those family things were he couldn't fire the guy. The faggot would ask the journeyman questions like "have you ever sucked dick for money?" "it's art and not gay if you get paid, right?" his knee would give out and he would fall down randomly. He said the Drs told him he had the knees of a 70 year old man. He did dry walling once around the age of 16-20 for a while and says that he got nerve damage in his back from that. He'll say one thing and then deny it the next day. He'll use those mouth caffeine pouches like six of them in a day. He's on anti-psychotic medicine yet drinks. He'll pick up his phone and say his boss needs him and leave. He'll do some photo shoots for some other guy saying it's a $1000 photo shoot, ya $100 for his boss and maybe $200 for him. He's got some computer "guru" that sits at a computer all day that he can text questions to - "he can find anything online" Ya? How about he finds a way so your back pain goes away? He'll say he doesn't have back pain but it's obvious. Are you looking to hire men to do labor for a start up construction company? How do they walk? Do they walk like some ham planet at wally wood swaying dyadically side by side – or even have a hint of that? Do they sit down in a way, like in the back of a super cab with extra space, that's way way fucked up IE hips two feet away from where ones butt should be, off to the side. How does someone lift? Do they lift with their back or with their spine? You can even tell if someone's hips are fucked up by how they sit normally – you can't hide this from someone who started to notice. He would sit on the riding trencher for an hour then walk over to me digging and say "well looks like you have a bit left to do. I finished my trenching. Let me know when you're done" and walk off. The master electrician I work for seems to have messed up hips but is a beast when it comes to hand digging a trench. He shows the journeyman and me up. He can trench something in five minutes that takes us 30. I mean, when you're billing people $125k a week with a four man team...

Have you ever been to a home improvement store and seen how the people walk? I once said to myself regarding that feed store "I'm not going to let down and take that company to court and take over that company." What would I do with a company like that? I would take people from the public and make it a boot camp a go from looking 35 to looking 22 in six month program where people would learn to swim and maintain a healthy back while doing hard labor while picking up how to read their body and how to correct it themselves and not deepened on some Dr for the rest of their life. Trying to imagine a reform like that is a joke. There are deep roots of people, groups and (((special interested))) that need to be rooted up because they are Fucked Up Beyond All Repair.

Understand FUBAR. These FUBAR people rationalize their own horrific physical pain inflicted by themselves – they will not rationalize with you, they will not change themselves even if it made their quality of life not a constant 24/7 flinch in pain. They don't want to read or talk about books or even can talk about ideals because they think they can search for anything they need online. Their life has become a constant blue-pill – any and all activities beside their miserable jobs is directed towards covering up or forgetting the pain as much as possible hence all the drugs. "weed helps with back pain" The conversation about back pain isn't even legal. These people cannot be left alone for the creepy things start to creep in.

Famers love seeming machines. Many farmers will get rid of their $1000 monthly power will by buying a $125k solar system. The farmers say solar pays more than growing corn or soy or cattle without an incentive.

Lots of paper work

It took a while but eventually a case worker for my Hawaii Civil Rights Commission case was assigned. I thought to facebook her before we talked. She was the only person I could find on social media related to my case with the Hawaii Civil Rights Commission. Weird how you're seemingly not allowed to know said persons full name – they might have well handed over the case to the ADL or SPLC and gave you a fake name as to pretend they have no online presence.

That Pitbull meme just got kinda sick.

I thought about the Muslims and how they have a religious preference for having a male worker on their care. I requested a male to be on my case citing my religion. If they asked what my religion was I would ask for them to present the current accepted list of religions.

It took a few weeks for a case worker to be assigned to my case. Little did I know there was a time window of having to get the case filed. Every day I should have been calling, hounding them, non-stop to talk to my case worker.

Eventually a man was put on my case. His name was some laugh out loud nigger name like Toby. During the intake interview he said "wow this could open the flood gates." He said he would get back to me next week. And I waited again when I should have been hounding them every day, requesting stuff to be in writing from the manager. I eventually called back to found out he was offered a new job someplace else, that there wasn't enough time to wait for another man and some bitch was put on my case.

I bet that nigger got a job at the ADL or SPLC. I held frame despite her open professed confusion about how I wanted my paper work typed up saying this does not making sense but "okay, I'm just here to type it up."

Imagine a the headline "Jewish Hawaii Civil Rights Commission Case worker gets face bit off while alone naked with Pitbull and jar of Peanut butter"

The Pitbull meme people and a couple other said LOL when I sent these photos.

At one point I go off like an NFL coach "I have a plan. I'm not going to tell it but it I have a plan to win. This is great my boss said that."

My boss originally said that I never applied to I did apply but he didn't have to give me the position. The bitch flipped on me. These companies record phone calls, and back then I wasn't recording phone calls. What difference does it make though? I'm going to sue a top 500 company? Pull out some phone recording and the paper work and be like he lied and the case worker pretended nothing happened.

Workers comp, the civil rights do NOT work for the workers. It's a LARPING battle.

Never even give away you have a plan or that you would like the chance to take the boss to court on his point because you can disprove it.

Never give away or talk about your hand. Imagine the amount of injustices exposed if all my phone calls related and my manager and any and all HI civil right commission phone calls related to my case were exposed? I still to this day get to SLIENT treatment. (((They))) are hoping I fall off due to lack of interest like every other thing in my life.

Who'd of known any group that compromises or calls of truce I loose interest in.

Men's Right Center

If I were to one day open up a men's right consoling center like the one listed on said case I would give this blanket advice.

Learn what the word rational is. Rosaparks was staged. As a White Straight Man who isn't anti-White you will get the silent treatment.

Have you ever flipped through your phone or laptop without covering up the camera and didn't react with innate disgust at a racist meme? The (((system))) knows what you are and has been pushing you in a direction via social media for decades now.

Don't wait for a bell to ring for the next round to become more radical. They placed me in a silent bubble in a sense. Do you or do you know someone who keeps tracks of foot ball? Imagine if you kept track on a poster in your wall of crimes, be it rape or violence or injustice, of non-Whites against Whites: not a meme folder but a glare in the face reminder of a hint of the true score.

You have had false idols placed in front of you by Jews as so that you might act like one of them. Did you recently find out that in family history dating back to the 1400's that you have one Indian ancestor and think you will be the conservative male Pocahontas? Will you act like a football couch who's got the video zoomed in on his face while he hints at his poker hand? Will you repeat a mantra written by your mortal enemies? Will you bark at your female lead, manager, supervisor or case worker instead at channeling that energy towards destroying (((their))) system?

I've seen lots of guys yell at female co-workers to only be written up and or fired. Then after fired they still bend the knee to it, they still echo it's values, they still only look for what it has painted.

Do you know what a power structure is? Will you read Nietzsche's Will to Power or at least watch the few jew-approved-tube videos and admitted what you currently think is ground breaking stuff is simply part of bigger game: you're either pro-White or you're not.

When I first read some Nietzsche's and some Evola it was like finding an alien intelligence that bathed naked in their knowledge – I finished most of the book and put it down for a few months while my unconscious mind went to work. After a year of putting down that first book I am now no longer in over my head.

You are probably in over your head. In a short time you will notice how numb you are to how radical you are compared to the people you talk to in normal life – when talking to normies keep in mind they are in over their head: Water doesn't freeze all at once nor does Water melt all at once. When talking to other Race Aware White Men think about the 12 Lost Tribes of Israel, think of Hierarchy, or think of Lord of the Rings: this city is not equal to that city and not equal to this other city but ALL those cities are infinity better than the Orcs. You are not an omnipotent God, you are a member of a race, and your race is and has been under radical attack for a long time be it mental, history, movies, education, popculture, and all types of escapism.

Learn to develop filter.

First the sex pill. The company knows there's a large % if not all cashiers are female and that cashiering pays more than manual labor. You barking at them or the lead or the manager will not make a difference – it will only give them another reason to fire you, to write you up, to give you shifts with people who call out leaving the work load only to you thus physically breaking you. Focus on maintaining good back health: no job is worth breaking your back over. Say that said location is out dated and has minimum equipment IE how did the shipping facility get these 16' galvanized steel corral panels in bundled together with 12 at a time? Why are you removing 50 of these almost 200+lbs beast by HAND with one other co-worker then carrying them up to the front lot via a 150 meter walk? Are you the type to call out the next day after this? Are you the type to refuse to lift these and possible get fired/written up on the spot? Or are you the type that will attempt to lift one and then claim workers comp? Did the weekly unloading team leave those for the weekend "catch up" crew to unload? Are you willing to call out sick while planning what to do when you come back the next day to find that back breaking work waiting for you?

Don't plan on depending on the system, don't plan on it being fair to you, don't plan on them not pulling out all the direst tricks it can. I see a lot of young men want to get a car payment after getting a job. When that happens the company knows and they own you. They will start to mold you and craft you. They will threaten firing you so you behave how they want – you're selling yourself for a car, to save 20 minutes getting to work, to save yourself from having to taxi around town. Listen to audio books while driving, there's tons of free one at VNN forum.

Do you think you were the first man in recorded history to champion said idea, event or whatever you're going through? Sure, there are tons of false idols that the Jews give us to mimic but what is the one thing Jews, Blacks and the system fears most? Being aware of Race.

Second, revisit things like books to reread them once you developed a filter. Taking the red pill is like developing a filter to see the world as it is, not as how you hope it is. Does history and the books you read dog-whistle towards something? What's bigger than the small pity thing you're going through? When listening to top 50 music, or new movies, or posts in your social media – think in real time of how that is either Pro-White or Anti-White.

"All occurrences in world history are merely an expression of the racial instinct for self-preservation, in a good or bad sense." -Hitler 1:11

Stop trying to think what you can be after more years of education, more years of work, or tons of equipment and start thinking about how to play the ball where it lies. Did I once think I wanted to become a Master Electrician after getting a BS in electrical engineering to bill boomers at $125k a week? Yes but now I work on playing the ball where it lies.

You will probably not be able to sue and get anything out of these companies – they only pay out to pussies and anti-Whites. A White woman may get a payout – but that's so other White women mimic what she did.

Even if you are a pussy flavored version of Hitler – you still have a role.

Don't go out with a pathetic whimper.

If you're going to burn a bridge at a job, vet the managers or leads to see if they are openly anti-White or anti-Male and then have friends record said verbal bridge burning. Only Jews can lie without people picking up the hints. I would say learn the local laws about video and audio recording but remember rape is illegal, but Niggers still do it to White females. Violent crime is illegal, yet Niggers are at least responsible for %50 of the violent crimes in the US.

Have you seen videos of veteran niggers complaining about some top 500 company about injustice? Do you know that Jews and niggers work together? If you get sued by some top 500 cooperation, bravo. You somehow broke the silent treatment.

Do you know what the silent treatment is? Have you heard the radicals from the past talk? This pig system seemingly tries to prevent events that aren't death blows to the radical since the ones that only hurt make one more radical. Will you find a way to become more radical by self or do you unwittingly fantasize about big brother giving you a good spanking like the pussy flavored version of Hitler you are.

You don't have to unlearn everything you know – Everything you been thought is probably Anti-White be it 1+1=2 like two people coming together can have a baby IE a nigger and a White can have a baby. Define baby – what does it grow up to become – just another worthless mouth to feed that has never not one exemption in all of history of NOT being a worthless mouth to feed? Is one baby by Tesla worth infinity more than the whole nigger race? Words will probably not be redefined openly till after the revolution. Learn to flip what values you clung to for "sanity" while growing up to a pro-White value – to play into the power structure.

Are you willing to do stop watching jew produced porn to become more radical?

How many straight kicks to the teeth are you willing to take before you become radical? This pig system gives me the silent treatment – My workers comp and Civil Rights Case is a hot topic for them. I've seen floods of comments come in my facebook to only be deleted in real time – as if someone is watching and trying to prevent me from becoming more radical – being pushed to become more radical.

Pretend random roommates, co-workers, whatever are not only uncle toms – dime dropping on you for a pack of cigs or bottle of vodka or a pat on the head like the submissive bitch they are that's has been and will always be deprived of affection – they can and will threaten you to try to get you to respond in kind. Some day you may be on the big screen with audio and video stitched seamlessly together. Many times in Hawaii my roommates would try to stage events where eventually there would be bait: be in half way in, at the end, or hours later with some black or drunk trying to fight you who's talking shit, who will say he's going to go get his gun. This drunk may eventually be replaced be it a dramatic pity event, but make no mistake. He is a pimp of the system and you are the target. A complete double standard.

Stop talking and start kicking things around in your head. You are not obligated to talk.

Don't deny yourself your true heroes.

The system wanted you to hate reading, the system wanted you to hate racist. Read with a pro-White point of view unseals so much.

What is the scariest thing to the system? Race aware White men working in groups.

Do you have a small printed library? Does it contain math, chemistry, biology and computer science topics? Do your stock supplies include various electronic parts?

Don't think that other races think like Whites – prepare for Nuclear War. Jews, niggers, liberal Whites, the Churches, Colleges, fags and Communists will not turn over the key to society if Whites won an democratic election fare and square. They are probably waiting for some threshold to be passed before they advanced to their next stage.

Logs from 2017 to 2018

My two 2016 journals somehow are NOT in my possession despite packing them after moving. They are NOT in my car or my apartment.

Jan.

The start of the 2017 journal begins with contrasting between my co-workers hating me and not me not respecting them. The Communist Manifesto is a two and a hour read yet they do not read it yet alone even reading anything of your side. What is Human? When one starts to define terms, not as individual lone islands, but as Lego pieces that add up. Do you have a vision of some kind of future? Does it depend on people who don't read, don't write, don't stay fit and somehow want to give it all away to a non-descript bio-mass of faceless people?

What does it mean to be human? A great man once said there's three type of people – those who create culture, those who sustain culture and those who destroy culture.

This month is filled with Alpha Fucks and Beta Bucks interactions. My co-workers being the BB laughing at dudes who lift. BB who has various BB who obviously are swole-RX for a mud girlfriend: imagine training for years, taking riods, and then knocking up a somewhat not offensive looking half nigger. BB only take stuff at face value. BB only takes his back pain when it flairs out and not the constant dull pain.

There's a lot of interactions with females where I write down the banter, where I write down the cause and affect. I write down my gut feeling – I don't try to sell myself being attracted to a female over the age 25 despite how much banter or thirsty she acts: 25 is the wall to me. Imagine dating a women at 23 and risking her getting knocked up and only getting two years of sexual market value out of her? This is what our society offer men as a release. Seemingly any many who's blood hasn't been corrupted is competing for females in the same age group 18-22.

This is where I started to wear my wrist straps. I would log what I felt about my body. These wrist bands got my co-workers to mock me a good bit. These wrist bands were to remind me to lift everything correctly, to move in a proper way, it really helped me hear my body.

I learned briefly what is called power talking IE manager "what do you think about Kyle?" Me: "I don't even know where to begin." It gives the ball back to them while not falling into a faulty Frame.

I picked up on Zyzz's workout. Mostly I did what he talked about in the Zyzz bible as doing every rep like the whole world is watching and when it comes to the last rep of the set and you're struggling pretend someone has a gun pointed to your parents head and you had to do that last rep perfectly. It was to make every rep intense as possible and not just the last couple. It was going down to start anew with 5lbs on almost every lift and find a way to make the muscles burn and feel sore the next day by bringing up the intensity. Not a lot of retunes focus on intensity, negatives, keeping the muscle flex and then doing a superflex at the bottom and top of each rep.

There are passages were I just wrote trying to describe something without having the proper vocabulary, terms or history. It was like feeling an elephant each day or each week and slow describing a new part of the whole. The AF/BB interactions were good for I would not use their logic for myself or if I did I use it I would use it against them. These interactions stood out to me. I did not want to end up in the same fate as these basic bitch males be it the same dead-end job, the same relation-shit, the same escapism – it would seem the ONLY thing they are not forced to retreat on 24/7 is Anti-White hate.

Here I think about getting a new job, moving, and how I can develop my music hobby to one day pay my bills.

I spend a couple hundred bucks on supplements and I feel much better.

I start to give myself homework – more reading out of specific books. To read more about these supplements – as what are they hinting at.

I start to write on the margin size of the paper a few letters for the topic of each note. Red Pill. BB. Health, HW. Game.

I write down how BB take the news of some MILF they've been staring at since they started said I was looking Big. The BB seems to think females will give it up on the spot like a man would to a "home wrecker"

This MILF was married to a White man who did music film score for movies. I tell her I only do loud music and she says oh yeah he – referring to her husband—does quiet music. She emasculated him. Her daughter probably say her White mother emasculate her White father. A year Later I see this White German Thot getting out of the charger of some vet nigger with two other niggers in the car dropping her off at starcucks.

These pages are filled with AF/BB interactions with my BB trying to shave off a few seconds to preform better to get that 25 cent raise at the end of the year. Like him climbing the warehouse in the back to stock cat food and slipping and falling in a metal beam before landing on the hard pavement. He cracked three ribs. This shit-skin just laughs it off poking it showing it to me saying oh look it's White like you, it's my only weak spot.

At this point I start to identify how people act without them being wittingly aware of the label they are projecting. We are given scripts of professional or well written works. Whereas my journal is filled with interactions of Beta Bucks, Basic Bitch men, MGTOW, Female Whore, Average Frustrated Chump, etc. Nietzsche said not just Will to Power but a multiplicity of Wills. What six or seven wills per person will be identified as you write interactions down?

One only needs to write a few male women interactions to see that we are different. The M2F thing didn't last long since it got hit by a car walking work one day and got a shit ton of pain pills. The M2F would seem to be scarred of lifting anything – it sees the horrific back pain in society, it doesn't have the terms or vocublary or doesn't know where to get proper lifting advice or training so it sees becoming a boi-pussy and having a pain in the ass and risking AIDS better than having back pain "I am not going to lift anything" I recall it saying. I recall it having a red bandanna in it's left back pocket while checking customers out.

Women are like leather. Have you ever owned leather boots? A new pair of boots will mold to you and if well kept will last a life time. In Hawaii there are no boot makers – no business that will grind off the Men are like closed books. Don't judge a book by it's cover? My co-workers when confronted with me saying they had back pain would respond "You don't know that, I never said anything about that to you." What is human? When you see someone take twenty Ibuprofens after hobbling holding their back yelling GOD DAMNIT do you think what a poor soul and may God have mercy on them? Or do you think I do not have time to read, study and judge every book – I must learn to discriminate or face the same fate.

I start to collect pallets to break down the wood so I can build chicken tractors during my two week vacation coming up in Feb.

The Veteran starts to sweep from 330 to 5pm. He gets yelled at by his wife. His wife still texts him non-stop on the clock. This BB starts to throw up at work.

The Tranny faggot is taking nails out of pallets and leaving the nails on the group so it can build a bed frame out of the wood. I'm pissed because I'm not trying to step on a nail. I leave a note for the boss and he's like "how do I know these nails were left in an unsafe space" — The amount of proof a manager requires is stupid. He will literally let a tranny disassemble pallets at work with company equipment on company group not as a break or lunch break but as getting paid to. The Jewish cashier tells the faggot not to come the first time she pages for cashier back up but only the second time.

Women seem to be on auto pilot in constant please save-a-ho mode. This is the direction our society is going, begging for a God or something to come save it.

Here I meat some MGTOW figure who openly knows what the word MGTOW is and uses it. He's married yet flirts with the 22 year old ham planet mud cashiers. It would seem even a 24 year old who's has been going through the party phase for the last decade still is a better option than a female his age. His wife is submissive and stays true to him. He's a stranger one to think back on. A MAGA supporters who when driving me around to events to collect signatures to get my name on the ballot said "when I bought said book the anarchist cook book a FBI agent came to talk to him" I recently just finished the audio book SIEGE, Whiter Power and Mein Kampf. He did seem to engineer some events, wanted to interview candidates to see who he would donate too, and just didn't know what to do when all hope seemed so dark and was searching for something. He refused to sign my paper work since the year one is born can expose much if not everything about someone.

What does the system fear more? The next Uni-bomber, who my middle school Spanish teacher said I looked like, or another James Mason?

Thank God Conservatives are spineless sacks of shit with their greatest offensive being personally morally outraged.

The shift closes its me, the ham planet cashier manager and the vet. The AM is talking politics with him. AM says Trump wants to lock up schizophrenics and that we should lock you up – speaking to me. Vet: so you think not every American should have health care? AF: Avoid. Vet: ask two more time.

AF: I don't want to pay for your bad habits. Vet starts but AM cuts in I'm really offended you betted into our conversation. Please leave this conversation. 6-20-630 1/30/17.

I later tell corporate about said thing demanding she apologies and write it to me. I later while filing the Hawaii Civil Rights Commission case find out that HR believes that she did apologize to me and was shocked to hear that I never got one from that fat sack of shit.

A month after leaving this location my step dad tells me how much weight she put on. That holy shit he thought she was fat to begin with but she put on another hundred pounds in at least one month.

The Store Manger tells me to keep my nose down, that money fixes everything.

The Vet later tells me "I hope you never need obummer care. I really do. You can hate me. You can have distrain for me."

End January and begin February.

I entertain the thought of seeking asylum or becoming a refugee in Norway and write it out. A honest look of how these words are written is clear. Are you waiting for the next bell to ring for the next round?

After a two day weekend I go into the break room to find it smelling like a skunk. The fucking idiot who's about to snap is smoking cheese weed. I'm disgusted.

I look at the posters about morals and ethic that the company promotes and start to see a conflict of interests. It's either ME or all of my co-workers. I start to see everything around me as a pitfall IE the 1-800 hotline. Does the stories of past co-workers getting workers comp after their arm getting torn off not send up a red flag? Does the monthly meetings where the managers take turn talking about how they KNOW they've done a good job since they can barely get into their car at the end of the work shift (before the hard part of the day comes) send up a red flag? A red flag? More like a LONG path. Do you have a gut feeling that something is wrong and you keep trying to rationalize how to be the first person to stop this? The flood gates have been opened on us. Trying to stop it by waving and shouting is certain death.

These notebooks served as a point of No Going Back. I would kept writing in them, keep radically changing how I wrote until something worked. Kept doing weird homework assignments trying to link stuff together.

I decide to write a pager, not about events and interactions, with said co-workers but to profile each one out. The first page wasn't the hardest. The hardest was to finish the last page for the last co-worker. When you can identify what these people actually stand for, what guides their daily actions and words, what motivates them, what they are fundamentally are about – you get sick just thinking that you have to profile another one of these FUBAR bastards. Could this be one reason?

BB doesn't know he's replaceable BB wants to see 800 on a bi-weekly check AF talks about side business BB breaks back for a 25 cent raise AF starts to think of a blog – to raise the stacks of his writings.

BB loses phone before big football game

BB walks in circles

Do you want to see $800 on a bi-weekly paycheck? The first weekly paycheck I got from after starting as a contractor was bigger than my biggest bi-weekly paycheck. I went from moving 50lbs bags of feed to sitting in a super cab truck for a few hours getting paid to read. One job constant lifting while the other lifting heavy once a week for only 30 minutes.

The first week in Feb is when people start calling out sick.

BB: can we switch today – speaking to Jew female cashier. I'll cashier and you'll do cat food.

AF: that's not how the world works

Jew: I would get exhausted after five bags.

BB: not the 40lbs but the medium 10 to 16lbs bags.

Jew: No, I am going to dust.

BB: complain about money

AF: knows he's just a number

BB can't put two and two together

BB can't look around and notice

BB & W think alike

BB says hard work pays off

BB2 who taught you that lie

BB the other is on good deed goes unpunished.

My step dad tells me HR and cooperate sole purpose is to support the managers and the managers sole purpose is to make money. When I look at the hotline please report number and the stories I heard how this is all "please mark yourself to HR so the manager can be notified to find a reason to fire you, to crush you via work load, etc."

I have six blog posts and I see the definition of liberal on google changed so that it excludes lifting but still claims to be a complete world view.

What is a world view? Something that everything you see can be ran through this filter to make sense of things, to judge things before they destroy you. Many people seem to operate in a downward line of thinking. They segregate things inside their head. They have different rules for thinking or talking about this or that. They cannot define things.

The Vet has a heart attack/ stroke on the job. I just got back from lunch and who'd of known there was a huge load out waiting that a customer waiting, who called it in, is expecting it ready. I start on the 60 item pallet that is to be made. The vet looks at me and says "take your time man, I can't feel anything in my left arm." The lead exits the room we're in with his loadout. The unloader who's been there for a decade looks at him. I tell him this is serious and we should call 911. He tells me no it's fine. I tell him two more times this is serious and we should call 911. Just like how he pinned me down a couple weeks ago three times to get a final answer out of me, I do the same to him. I recall news stories of people in Washington that call 911 for people who had heart attacks and strokes and how since the person didn't consent to said call the person who called had to foot he ambiance and hospital bill and treatment care. The rest of the day the managers and leads are watching the veteran closely as if they are standing next to one and another passing judgement like how they treat their back care. One by one the managers go home and it's just the team members and the leads. That night while driving home on the freeway I see an ambiance speeding back into town from the direction to where the Vet lived. If you can call living in a tent with a pallet table living. The next day I am standing by the phone and see the caller ID: Liberality Dialysis and the race mixing blonde ex-army vet manager says "Damn, I thought he be okay."

The first person I logged was the race mixing blonde ex-army vet manager. The second was the exnavy team member.

Two days later the Vet is back. The manger said in a stern probably army manager type way "are you ready to work today?" The vet says "yes, but I won't be nice." The manager tells him "you better go home and think about that attitude and come back good tomorrow." The vet leaves and comes back. He's finally warry of what (((they))) say and talk about and takes a liking to me.

A few days after the fat pear shaped vet gets back to moving 50lbs bags of feed 40 hours a week so his wife can buy premium horse feed I file a workers comp claim for back just a couple days before my three moth planned in advanced vacation.

After seeing what happened to the vet and living with a mother who had back surgery and writing about all my co-workers with their back pain – It wasn't just Will to survive. What is it to survive to only get happiness, release, an escape from the living hell one has created for their own body by jew produced pain meds: survive? Will to Power.

Do you think filing a report to some urgent care about the Dr you saw makes a difference? Do you think talking to the manager will make a difference to your care either?

It is glaring in my face – there's NO heart Dr on the Big Island and the Vet was told to be more healthy, to try some stretching and to eat healthier. Seemingly no medication besides cycling his blood maybe once a week for a month. I needed to see a DR that was TRAINED to touch someone's back. Someone who was vested, in their ability to bill the worker comp insurance companies.

This ends February.

I start March by having the AM shift since I have DR appointments at 430 so I get off at 4 and start at 7. It worked great for a week until the store manager came back and said my Dr had to fit my work schedule. Hearing a Jew, who hasn't said he's a Jew, and a Indian Dr talk on the phone is hairilopus it's like they are both holding back their trump card: one being I'm a mud the state loves me! And the other being well I'm actually a Jew!

The Dr tells me in 8 weeks I'll have a new back and not to worry long as I listen to him. By listen to him you wont believe the amount of pitfalls placed in front of me to fuck up and ruin my case. IE stuff scattered through this work.

A few weeks pass as I get some music gear: mics and such. I write some lyrics.

Hood rats trying to make a career out of goodwill – IE trying to make a career in Jew controlled multicultural America.

Get out of the relationship when it turns to shit.

Get out of your current mindset when it turns to shit. Keeping a journal you can be reborn. Too often do I find myself driving about aimlessly, no plans, no direction, just "I think this well help me survive a Nuclear war" is a hell of a lot better than "I think this well help me start a business because this is more productive than masturbating or video games."

My step dad a few months before the journal began tells me "if you put half your mind to anything else besides video games, you would succeed at it."

Here I am now a Radical Fascist. Do I want to call myself a Nazi? Yes, but I have a lot of respect for the SS. I only started, end of 2018, to read Nietzsche for more than five minutes after "unsealing" a world view IE what's good for the White Race.

My Dr tells me at one point that I need to swim and lift when he tells me to for my treatment. It seemed bizarre to me to lift and swim during back treatment and he said that if I wanted to lift after I would have to lift under his directions and that swimming was good for my back.

I finally get a claims number weeks after filing said case and it turns out to be wrong. The post wall bitch that you might cringe at when walking into a professional Dr's office? That toothless old hag is having a lot of fun playing cat and mice with the insurance companies for you. Whereas perhaps in her youth she might have been the pretty one at the "respectable" office.

Some network markets at this point start trying to work with me. Telling me to read the go-giver. Some story about some dude who just gives and gives and gives and how seemingly magically ends up rich. The life long Christian co-worker who said "It took me a couple weeks but I see what you're talking about." To me got took up by these net-work marketers. Seemingly they hope to build a boat to survive the flood IE develop a business where they don't have to do anything years down the road and pay a 90% tax while giving away what they do earn to those in need. I can't help but think this is some kinda of neo-Jew-twisted version of Christianity.

They say mentorship/system is more important than products. And that products can be swapped out. Someone who isn't a racist might think this is true – Pure White Genes are the best products and they cannot be swapped out.

The cashier quits telling the Jew manager "I'm going to be making 3 million a month in five years." She later tries to mentor me. She doesn't or cannot understand that I once tried to mentor her about lifting and saw her post on zog book about soul crushing lower back pain that makes it impossible to get out of bed some mornings. She literally moved maybe 30 30lbs bags of dog food twice a week at said job. She tried to come off all high and mighty saying "someday you will figure it out and know I was right." I should of responded with something like being the one who already tried to prevent her body from becoming a living hell.

I try to write down what I should spend my daily time on but as the weeks pass I find out that these things I was trained to say didn't motivate me.

The three managers seem to be t here to try to attack your psych for three different points.

I fill three more journals for 2017. I finish workers comp, work at the same job after workers comp just long enough to see Kyle walk off the day before a sale and the Jew manager fuck up his back before I switch jobs, I finish the Hawaii Civil Rights Commission Case, I finish paying off $7000 worth of debt and move out of my parents house the next month. I then find myself in a different place but fundamentally the same situation, the same fundamentally characters, the same shitty unwitting end plan.

I never found a way to "wake up" White men in Hawaii. I profile new people at new jobs. I hope that Insurrance companies read these words and find a way to make those shitty Whites work conditions and workers care diminish to the point that they do the world a favor – let the strong get stronger by letting them take themselves out – being unworthy of their White Genes.

I start working with Runes. Runes represent forces of nature. Just like how these profiles I drew had common themes or forces I then start to unseal more and more.

I learn the 14 words.

I learn about Tesla. Do you plan to be the next Tesla and invite something like AC energy? LCD screens, TVS, power outlets, etc. Why wasn't Tesla allowed and funded to invent more? Do you not think the System knows how to deal with someone like him? Do you think that you're going to start an acceptable ray or light and grow it into a beautiful future? Do you still put things above genes?

I start drawing and writing like Tesla- never going too much detail to some things.

LARPER MINDSET

Utility

While working at a farm and feed supply store that was three times busier than the average location in the US I learned about Utility.

I originally wrote this legally and due process in Mind Craft. Meh – If I get sued then my Workers Comp Story (how everyone can LARP to get $10k worth of care will be promoted) and my Civil Rights Case will be promoted. I expect to continue to receive the silent treatment, so I revisited this work to clean it up a bit.

While some that is out there paying /taking on debt of $30k from a (((college))) to get drunk and fall of a balcony after getting AIDS from niggers or growing out her bush to cover the herps, there's so many free books that the writer / publisher just drop the copy right and let anyone do audio books and share freely. No copy right here – Hell I even sent a copy to Antifa hoping those weak faggots would help stress out the system and solve their back pain.

What's the point of having a job if you're going to break your back? Some will call for a total drop out from normal wageslave employment. I intend to add to that: you can only go through workman comp so many times until you are un-hireable and if you talk/post about the JQ or say nuke Africa you are also un-hireable. Time to class up goy.

In less than five pages of this text I will shit all over obummers legacy of obummer care. Imagine if you can only go through workman comp five times until you're unhireable.... 40 massages and 30 adjustments or $10k of benefits x five.

Hail the Nordic Bloodlines!

US society is not only filled with colored hoards ranging from useful idiots to greedy Chiropractors but the work load is a blessing if you know how to spin it. The seeds of destruction planted in the US were planted around 1855: Workman comp. Instead of getting pain meds from Jews, listen to this mindset pdf on how to get a new back.

This players guide for the game in my head is dedicated to Charles Manson.

For with Manson I can walk up to any half way decent looking Light female and ask if they've read any good books lately. Then tell them I'm looking for a good one on Manson. I haven't came up with a better way to distribute propaganda to females of Light in Hawaii.

Guts

I don't know how many hundreds of years ago Tesla lived but he was a person of Light. People of Light invent IE he was saying he would find a way to invent free energy and deliver it through the air. The person of Light thinking is first you get the ideal then invent the means. In 2018 diversified NASA is saying going to Mars is impossible. Leave the mundane sciences to the future White children in a White world.

As long as you're talking to a nigger, you're getting dumber. Boomers have so many proxy terms for Niggers it's almost like they have a mouth full of kibble.

As long as you're explaining something, you're probably losing. If there was a question, reason, logic or story that could be explained that could save the Light races then let the Jew and Nigger ask it.

Has workman comp been over looked for almost two hundred years? Seemingly the workman comp system is set up to feed the NPC pain meds. The pain meds induce a false feeling of security, main stream media becomes their best friend, the NPC back is ruined and then not only 99% of time a life long democrat is born but some walking reminder that goes about in the big city acting as a reinforcer of why public programs are needed. I care not to link everything to the JQ. If facts would of won, it would of done so long ago. If well written papers would do the job, it would of done it long ago so enjoy the diversity of how different minds work – the first health care manual for radicals.

Despite my mother breaking her back at some retirement home dead end job to put food on the table decades ago, despite hearing stories on FPH (Fat person hate) threads about the medical field and back pain, despite knowing so many people with back pain, despite my oneitis telling me she had scoliosis, despite I might have been told once I had scoliosis I thought workman comp would work for me despite hearing countless stories about people finding themselves in living hell. I thought my manager cared about me.

Workman comp does not care for the workers. Managers do not care about their workers. They aren't vested in your personal care. It's cheaper to throw pain meds at a NPC, induce trust, then replace the NPC after their will snaps usually about the same time the battery on their back is out for good.

I used to have a testimony of how I could search and find anything I needed online. I found nothing on the internet related to workman comp besides horror stories.

What a red flag. Sometimes you can feel something, a force, a (((downward pull)), and not have the vocabulary, terms or history to explain it. Psychosis is sensing the JQ and the brown bio-mass, Gog and Magog, and having a mind that has either flat lined or like a garden that would grow into a beautiful garden if only there wasn't a turd-worlder shitting out baby seeds.

I later learn that reporting to a manager and saying "I was lifting ____ and now I have a pain going from my hip, back, neck, shoulders and spine. The pain is a 10. I need to file workman comp." will do all the same as a full page report.

Why do they encourage you to fill out pages to see if you have back pain and not just get an x-ray or better yet see a professional? Computers can detect the smallest detail yet can't tell when some ones back or his are messed up? Oh right g-d chosen people and nigger welfare.

We could have been in the stars by now expect we're being forced into an abyss by niggers and jews.

I was asked about the conditions and about the loot. Weird questions. Like are some conditions unsafe? Are some items more dangerous than others? Why is being thrown in a prison cell with whites not as bad as niggers? Jail is a very scary place for liberal White male. I recently talked to men of Light that were in prison. They are still haunted by the colored 56% faces. To them I tell them take a page out of De Sade and fantasize and write about the artistic rap song of your choice. Can someone claim workman comp for moving a 90lbs object and not a 5lbs object? What about a box of tissue? I personally have seen a lot in this video game. One NPC was on the side of the road working and had another NPC back it's car into the other NPC's back. The NPC went flying five feet while the other one drove off – Cat shit brown skin people. The NPC calls the other NPC an ass hole and tells me that it's going to buy a six pack on the way home – as if I haven't seen this NPC kick back $50 worth of drinks at a bar in five minutes. This liberal NPC is unwittingly a cuck-serative then spouts some christ-lie stuff about karma. Later at a new job I hear out rages from a dozen NPCs that a NPC group leader got workman comp for back after lifting a box of tissues! The box weighs less than two pounds and that NPC group leader got care and we NPCs who move 90lbs objects don't?

Words must lead to deeds.

These cat-shit-brown muds words don't even lead to frame, they just echo each other at best with empty words. First lesson it's not "my back hurts" its "There's a pain from my hips, back, spine, shoulder and neck. The pain is a ten. I need to file a workers comp case." Then repeat the same thing again and again – people will try to act as you're weird for not having a deviation or how the pain hasn't at least gone down to a nine.

A lot of this is frame – Workers comp hasn't gotten better over the last couple hundred years. The system depends on your good will. You will either receive a baptism by fire or fuck up your back. The managers, lead, insurance companies, phone calls, customers, co-workers, paper work, tons of paper work will all try to get you to cuck – to play into their frame. My lead some 35 meth head Irish cuck with six kids not of his own making $12 an hour, doing plumbing jobs off craigslist (In Hawaii it is common for non-licensed contractors to show up with a gun and rob you), who constantly ran out of food, who had hideous back pain and chest pain, who would solo lift full bale of hay (140lbs) with veins on his legs, arms, neck that looked like about to pop punched a metal ladder that I was sitting on for a five minute break since my back was sore after lifting some 10lbs objects.

Believe me the managers have just enough physical pain or feel the same way. They wish they could punch me. They wish they could of fired me for getting injured on the job.

When I finished workers comp they sat back and watched me work saying I wasn't working hard enough. I figured they would write me up, so I talked shit to all of their faced. I foreshadowed their back pain, knee pain, chest pain, hip pain growing bearing new fruit like they've found the tree of life. Imagine calling your Jewish boss a faggot to his face and him keeping you on because you're the only one who does physical work without flinch. The spare work left over from me fucked them up one by one. Ever so often there would be me and some sorry son of a bitch for a three hour haul till the store closed. If I got a huge load out I would milk it, making sure I saw them die in side. I wouldn't hold back my tongue – "Hey faggot, what do you think God Is telling you when your back hurts?" He's hobbling away say "Don't you fucking dare of else!" I follow him "He's telling you to shut the fuck, you pathetic excuse for a man. What man lets himself become like you? God hates you and he reminds you 24/7 of what's to come after you let out your last wimper like the weak faggot you are." He screams while going to take a long smoke break.

With nonstop interactions with a dozen coworkers, leads and managers like this I've became quite a sadist. I guarantee they haven't changed and one can get a job easily their and do the likes. They will write you up, not to fire you, but to deny you a raise at the end of the year – that precious 25 cent raise that I've seen so many "adult men" break their back over.

A Dr will not touch your back unless they are trained too IE chiropractor. Workman comp is a series of shit test. The first filter is being able to write, it must be for niggers. This is obvious racist to ask employees to write a statement since niggers and spits can barely read and write English, so I guess that makes every merchant racist. I wonder what the data has on niggers filing workman comp, are they unable to write anything that makes sense or do they write a story as long as the bible and screw themselves straight in the back?

Keep it simple stupid. K.I.S.S

Next the NPC is baited on the phone interview with the nurse on the end of 1-800-the-bitch-isn't-vested-in your-personal-well-being. Why are females flooding medical field? Obviously so the NPC flirts, has trust, or falls into an empathy trap. The sex pill is hard to swallow. Unless the female is serving the Light races as her master, it's going to be ugly.

I would rule with an iron first and take away NPC's rights to break their back. What would one of the roles of White Shira be? I would train men to go about society and spot people with bad backs, bad lifting and take them to a cramp to train them how to maintain a healthy back for a life time. A lot of time when I read the news or see a headline, I think the opposite is true after factoring in niggers and jews. I use proxy terms or subjects and get a lot of positive feed back from sheep I talk too.

So the NPC should relay the same quoted line above to the bitch on the phone. The real reason the (((system))) want's women in the medical field? It's a shit test. If you're not sexist, you're going to trust the bitch and find out what it means to screw yourself over. Keep it simple stupid. The bitch might talk about non sense for ten minutes or seem to care for ten minutes or wants to hear you some bull shit... Why does she talk non sense for ten minutes? Some one else is probably pulling your psychoanalyzed profile from israel and trying to find one question to prevent the company that they work for from having to pay for your medical care.

K.I.S.S

Then some other bitch is going to come on the phone and try to small chat it up. She's going to tell you where the preferred or recommended location is. Don't argue with her. She's going to tell you all your info and billing info will be at said place ready when you get there. It's a preferred location, not yet required.

If a NPC has a physical aspect of their job, they better do their homework with who's who in Chiropractors in less than an hour drive – ideally enough time to visit during a lunch hour. NPCs are told to have a plan encase of a fire, encase of a flood. The government should just ban people from breaking their back like they did making rape illegal because that worked out so well. If a niggers break in pray that it doesn't clean the lube off your wifes NPC ass before it rapes and murders your wife you cuck NPC. Non-player-computer might replace normies as non-player-cucks or cuck-non-player-computers. Have fun internet, I owe you much.

Some chiropractors take workman comp, some don't. I would visit my DR and ask for a list of Dr's who take workers comp just in case. Some have NPCS waiting for hours in the office, some don't. Some have NPCS who love to talk to others, some don't. Some have huge lines, some don't. Some have the post wall version of the bitch on the phone working for the Dr vested in your care, and some have some intern they wish they could screw. Drs aren't in every day of the week yet alone weekends. Weekends, holidays and not a full schedule, something very unfamiliar to most. Do your homework.

As soon as the NPC files workman comp, the hunt is on to find a reason to fire the NPC. Some managers might wait a couple weeks after you finish Workers comp so that they can see you fuck up your back. Make no mistake these people, co-workers and managers, were HURTING while you went through workers comp and some, if not all, tried to get workers comp too and got denied. They want to see you join the pain family.

I claimed workman comp within about thirty minutes of the start of work. One NPC later chuckles "long as the NPC can clock in, it happened on the clock" – note contactors are different. I recall a NPC once saying that this expensive yoga pant retailer had his video game warehouse job that it was trying over holiday season had the NPCs do some insane training program before they could clock in: Seemingly if the NPC couldn't complete the training video the NPC could not clock in. A lot of NPCs just left mid way through. NPCs that stayed but didn't progress got the boot for not taking this serious enough or some other reason. Drinking booze fucks up muscle growth like Ibuprofen.

People say getting a job over 50 is almost impossible. The default path in the world is WRECKED.

1700 pages in the bible and not one joke. Why? If you laugh at someone who's actively working to break their back, after you telling them in detail why that way is wrong, you come off evil. Any person with some wits will probably crack a joke at these useful idiots. Fired for rude behavior! You should just let people drink five energy drinks a day while taking 20 Ibuprofen while doping up on any and everything and balancing out the high with alcohol at night. Why? Because that fucking idiot gets off on out preforming the health person by just a little bit for a small part of the day. Plus it's good for profits and fuels the economy and black economy. Or at least lets niggers sell more drugs. If we don't let niggers into our communities who will sell the drugs to ease our pain from such awful work conditions? Then the dude gets doped up, his wife's brain FUBAR and their redhead daughter doesn't drink anything for the first half of the day due to being scared of going to the bathroom in a nigger filled school. Nigger filled school makes no sense hence why schools are turned into rape, drug and racial mixing facilities.

If you can't do your job without back pain it's not a career. The whole point of that career or position existing in the first place is to force people into mind alternating drugs. Escape, escape and log out of the chat room!

Not only how fucking worthless it is when a women talks about workers comp, who has a broken back, like her experience is as equal to the young man who GOT CARE and didn't take the blue pill the main med pill. People aren't WORTHLESS by default they are an active force dragging society into an endless abyss. It has shit colored eyes and shit colored skin for a reason. You don't talk to shit, you just flush it down. And is that not how White nations have treated the turd-world for thousands of years? Never moving there while expecting someone to flush it down to who knows where?

The preferred location had about six colored land whales behind the check in. There was a few plate lunches, some cell phones, a fan, a radio and some tits showing. Obviously this is a trap for the local poly-Asian men. It was a long wait, then a drug test, then an butch dyke x-ray check came and took x-rays. This tie dye witch was hobbling. How much faith can you have in a medical location for neck back and spin when the stupid bitch you're following has obviously a fucked up back. The only white person was a DR. I told him what I was feeling and he told me I wasn't feeling what I said I was—it was a clash of frame. Mine was strong, I knew I had back pain and I wasn't taking a surface symptom treatment for an answer, he however, had power and authority. I racked my brain and thought "this location is too small to treat back stuff, maybe the hospital since it's bigger will." The red flag was that I had to sign something saying I wouldn't return to said location for future care.... Such wow how people accept this as medical care.... Oh right Gog and Magog. These locations would do better to inject pain meds to NPC five minutes after checking in to get that feeling of trust going. After all... their pain is a nine and must be so awful so it's humane to fix that ASAP. Was the saying take two a day and kill yourself because of pain meds or a reference to niggers and jews?

So many won't finish this or even study it. I hope one day that NPC has their group leader assign secondary duties to their class due to the usually primary NPC having lifting restrictions. Perhaps it's to move a 80lbs object here and there. Good luck faggot. My favorite gay joke is statistics on aids. Or was that a nigger joke?

I then went the nearest poke-e-diversity-center and was treated with a more professional looking crew. It begs the question who is the most oppressed the hamplanet dyke or the clean cut soy nigger? Neither of them can get the female they want without rape. I don't think I saw a single straight white male. Talk about 100% POZ. So this trick was to give me some extra super strength pain pill or tylon, I forget. How deep rooted in your distrust? And after a while, obviously so the pill would take affect, the short blue hair dyke DR saw me. Told me to take these muscle relaxers and to try doing some stretches. I had like 10% body fat. I was shredded. I've done so many late night TV workout programs and have a decade of sports behind me and this bitch tells me to do some stretches. Surely this is a blanket mass strategy works on most. Honestly Israel psychoanalyzed profiling really fails or isn't up to speed yet. I wonder if they psychoanalyzed niggers? Don't they know even thinking about yet alone talking to a nigger makes one stupider? To think 3,000 years of the JQ tactics useless and 100% POZ due to them treating niggers as goy. I think either both locations had the drugs on site or within a five minute walk... They want you doped up ASAP. At least when you have a full mental break down on the street and get hauled off to a psyco ward they inject you with some strange liquid. Obviously the next phase is that any worker who claims to have back pain is mentally ill and must be injected with pain meds or katiamine.

The next day I'm to start work around 9:30. My Jewish boss is trying to cut back hours. To think I might not of got the care I needed if not for my Jewish boss wasn't so greedy trying to cut 30 minutes off my schedule from weeks ago. Employees are scared shitless of showing up to work late yet alone asking anything from their boss. Every time a manager diverts coast they probably get a bigger bonus at the end of each year. It's important to relay the same god damn fucking message "I was lifting ___ and now I have a pain in my back, neck, spine and shoulder that is a 10." I show up to said Chiropractor location and have a lapse of memory due to stress and forget the previous x-rays. The x-ray place hands me to the bill. I hand it to the front lady, she says I hate when they bill you and not us but don't you worry. I told her I had no paper work and she told me she had to number to call to get my info so they could bill. The first location didn't have my paper work after three hours. It took this location almost ten weeks to get the info. It took them over a year to get paid.

The first location is a shit test. It has a drug test and some strong pain meds. A Dr wont touch any part of your body that isn't part of the workman comp file. Despite what the NPC thinks back =/= hip, neck, back, spine and shoulders. If you go to multiple locations, you might just be so stressed and have so much anxiety that you forgot you got x-rays done.

Any NPC that reads this may get more value out of taking on $30k worth of student loans / debt / payment in less than three months than that bull shit system. I learned what LARPING was while going through workman comp. I learned from the best in the (((system))). Why do you think there's a couple companies that handle the whole nations insurance claims and stuff? Don't you just love centralized things?

After 20 massages and 15 chiropractors my pain goes down to a 5/6. The Dr writes me a script for another 20/15. and I get a clean bill of health and it ends at a three. Around the end the insurance company called up and said what the DR thinks about if I might need more care. If I was to need more care or it be permanent i'd have to see a state DR. Must suck being white and trying to get life long disability with all this POZ and diversity training.

Does the (((system))) not do a complete brain wash? Men are scared shit-less to tell their boss they have back pain. They don't even know where to start. In a (((capitalist))) society you are meant to be replaced like an anonymous clog in a machine. I see so many NPCs wrecking their backs just pushing carts. I see IG pictures of heirs of Tobacco companies with 100 paid whores on birth control on cocaine on leashes and being hit with riding crops being stretched out beyond repair for like six figures a year from 18 to 25. Then there's local thots who pretty much do the same expect for shitter low quality drugs on the weekends getting POZed up from Niggers.

I hate cuck-seratives, liberals, chrit-lie, jq and niggers and that distrust saved my back.

Two of my pillars Hatred and Paranoid. Embrace these.

So the J-left NPC group leader is going to do everything it can to throw you off. It might just happen to know what one button to push that'll steer you into a ditch. This is a pressure project. Whereas I'm seemingly the only person of Light that wasn't beat down from a job in Hawaii or at least my city that I used workman comp to pressure me. Did that hook noose jew boss want to not only see me personally injured but to mess up and commit fraud and have to foot the bill after getting fired from that shitty video game.

True I later filed a civil rights case. It was more pressure. So many deadlines plus so much first hand LARPing lessons. Unlike in school where you might get a blow on your grades. One wrong lift and my back was done. Being knocked off balance and being influnced by a jew would lead to a messed up back for life and $10k worth of debt. One wrong line and my civil rights case would fall apart. Then there's tons of a deadlines that if you missed one it all fell apart. When I went through all this they seemingly had blanket statements that didn't even phase me, unlike the masses. There's lots of pit falls. I'm a lot sharper than I was. Am I a diamond? Men pressure each other to diamonds. I was pressured against the system. Since I didn't have any men to pressure my self against, I invited one. That any normie NPC can do and so many need.

This obviously isn't legal advice or any kind of advice. It's a players hand book for a game I made up in my head. My head the one place jews and niggers wish they could get into. Some will say if a nigger or jew can get a person of Light to work for them then half the work is done. If talking to niggers or jews always make one more stupid then its like some math equation of approaching the limit of zero or some shit while people of Light are evolving getting more racial ID than ever and approaching infinity – hence why our knowledge of the past is so limited. While one gets infinity closer to zero the other gets infinity bigger, balance. Balance is a loaded term. How many people do you know pull shit out of the toilet and put it on an alter: Just turn on TV.

What will NPCs do when half of the crew are going through workman comp and have lifting restrictions? Back to back for two years. Will the system find a new reason to hire people? Better be on your best behavior. What will the world record be for the person who's had the most workman comp injuries that consisted of 40 massages 30 adjustments.? What company will get the world record for not hiring more people? If you can only go through workman comp so m any times until you're un hireable... how long can someone stay at a job while claiming workman comp one month after each time it ends? What a hobby. What men. Talk about having a huge pain to just laugh maliciously at a system that depends on your good will.

The Dr / chiropractor work isn't reviewed unless the NPC opts for a life long injury. The NPC just happens to have a new totally unrelated injury a month after getting a clean bill of health. Maybe it's the job and not the person? Maybe it's capitalism? Maybe it's cuck-seratives? Maybe it's civic nationalism? All this is jew shit. Make it into a contest who can claim to most massages from a job via workman comp because this is clown world. Some of us know the reality but for normies clown world can due for now as a gate way.

How fast would our message spread if men started doing this. Stories spread around towns about normal fag shit. Imagine the rage people would have, for we know how this system works and we laugh at it while it breaks the normal fags back. Outrage much? Imagine all the books on health, healthy living, back pain, treating back pain, how to lift, how to workout, and this PDF is out there for free.

It's all a question of balls. Will said unwitting christ-lie have the balls to be baptized by fire or are they only counter fits? Will said human stand their ground at said job and repeat claiming workman comp until the end of the system? Does anyone have enough guts to pave the way for the next wave? Dudes sacrifice themselves all the time for nothing, for vice, for niggers, for jews. Then they get scared shitless at someone waving a finger at them.

The real reason why no religion has ever explained why one shouldn't do this or that is because then it would have to rational explain g-d. READ SIEGE FAGGOT. (I later read his later books to see he DID rational explain the Bible)

Note: LARPING MINDSET was written and then cleaned up a year later. I set myself a deadline to get the fundamentals out.

Maybe the NPC has a side construction or whatever side gig and they use the system for free massages. Maybe you do deadlifts and just happen to get your hips out of align. The point being no workman comp Dr seems to have their work checked, only if it's life long. So clean bill of health and one month later it's more free massages. The NPC is going to get shamed just try not to chuckle anything stupid.

Imagine how I feel seeing the box stores on my map having men get the care they need and the work load being passed to cashiers and cashiers fucking up their back daily. The company isn't able to provide support besides replace the women like clock work. Unlike the NPCs who will drop like fies who don't have this text you do. Will the media cover it? I give you the paladin bubble skill. Just stand immune. Enjoy the new soap opera 40 hours a week.

Side questing.

It's always good to ask lots of question to fellow NPCs while on the clock about how the company works. After all you're looking to get more skilled because you're ambitious and want to be a group leader some day.

Like I learned that a NPC can only return stuff so many times without a recite. There's seemingly a dollar limit before they need a group leader approval.

Some group leaders only make thirty cents of every dollar their group sells since so much of it walks out of the store.

There's usually fliers and other sheets tapped to the counter. Obviously a pocket pen camera or some device could capture.

Search engine the place. What are the busy times? Holiday sale? Why are some departments always have an off count on a product that should be in? Maybe some scouts it out big holiday sale after big holiday sale and no one gets arrested. Maybe it's some states that care more than others. Maybe it's some cities that care. Maybe the security has been so POZed up that the only thing the company can do is arrest it's employees for stealing. How useful is white security that hates racism. It focuses on Whites who don't steal.

Hanging around a home improvement store in the kitchen and bath area and talking to women customers. Maybe she needs a handy man. When I was clean cut with normal jeans and a polo I would get NPCS asking me to do their project and they would pay. Later I hear NPCS installing $1750 worth of bathroom stuff for $5k, renting the truck and doing it in a weekend with their dad.

Another NPC tells that some NPC hired a NPC duo to do a total remodel. The NPC did the outside of the house and a fifth of the inside and that's when the other NPC paid the NPC duo in full. Seemingly the NPC duo built trust over a week and the NPC paid $100k cash to finish the inside of the job. Two weeks $100k in cash. Not bad.

Word of mouth or control the communication or just be somewhat well presented White with the ability to speak about construction?

Seemingly there's a lot of NPCs in Hawaii that want to flip beach lot houses and not do the work themselves. Hawaii is kind of fuck off when it comes to code long as you pay the state. Just watch out for the neighborhood you move into because someones going to steal your gate. How ironic white NPCS moving to Hawaii to get away from spits and niggers, refusing to change how they think or vote or act, and Hawaiians steal their gates before stealing everything inside their house during the night or while the NPC is at work and the house is empty because the wife's brain is 100% POZED.

These men probably welcome my presence because despite the police force only being a handful, probably to keep diversity quotes out of the question the JQ pressure them into watching me. This allows the local muds to go about business as usual at a faster pace.

Paint and other weird chemicals come out all the time. Like there's some paint in a spray can that make a cast iron bath tub look and feel new. It comes in multiple colors. I bet you could clean up a water heater and exchange if not return it for a new one. Water heaters... $400-$900. Imagine doing plumbing jobs and charging to remove the water heater. Then using that paint on the water heater. Then having another NPC go swap it out for a new one and install it in the next job. That's like an extra $500 per job. It would really get women involved. Finally an excuse for women to have some wine and go out with the friends and exchange a dolled up new water heater. These NPC mods are so busy dealing with a POZed group that a dollar amount me and many others would find very attractive don't even merit more than a 5 second inspection. Does it look rusty?

Toilets get returned all the time and are almost never inspected fully. It would seem a quarter of the toilets returned are broken and sometimes out right used. All that bathroom fiber wall shit during the bathroom remodel you pulled up? just say paint it up with that $20 can of spray paint and get that $300 back or better yet exchange it for the stuff for the next job. There's seemingly an amount of times one can return something but the times one can exchange something without paperwork? These companies can only write off so much each week. So things wont change for a while until everyone's doing this and since niggers don't read.

Plus cashier returns if often 100% POZ. Unless you get a ham planet with fierce makeup with a neck that makes a stack of pancakes look pathetic, you're probably going to get a good return. Sometimes you get a tard and you just LARP a little bit of being mad and the sperg gets all sperged up for the rest of the day while you get that $200 back.

Installing toilets is easy. It's returning them or exchanging them that makes pressure. How much does a DUI cost? How much does college education cost? How much does flipping out you change return a damaged product and walking out cost? How much will it cost to write the book on how to do this? A company may write a new set of policy in response when a threshold of money is passed. So what? Are you part of the scenery or do you react?

There's online primer classes part one of two that give some bull shit printable paper that looks great with a resume for $200. There's only two gigs in the whole nation when it comes to water safety. Catchment, pools, pumps, pool chemicals, plumbing, flow, head all this stuff you can learn about for $200. Then take it to get a job some place plumbing related. In my group I only raided a few days a week, just enough not to get food stamps. So seemingly I could land weekend jobs installing bathrooms and remodels.

$5k a weekend for $1750 worth of parts. Most of them you can return after fixing up with paint products via a third party group member.

Planting seeds.

One day my phone broke and I was unable to play some kids game. So I bought a e-reader thinking it could play the kids game. Plus it was on sale! I get it to find out it's just an e-reader. I thought wtf am going to do with this? Read? My whole life I hated reading. At my parents house in Hawaii the internet is so slow that only text loads past 5pm. So I didn't prepare a head of time, it was reading time. I browsed the store. First I started by reading the blurb about the book. Fuck that. If it didn't have a cover that spoke to me or a title, whatever. Sheep say don't judge a book by it's cover and that's just an excuse to read 1700 pages of the bible with zero jokes and all kinds of irrational thought. Hell I never knew what the word rational was until I browsed book titles.

So the one book I was drawn too from the cover? The title? It had a skull and had the word men in it: Gender studies. Is gender studies POZ or are all colleges POZ? The best selling male gender studies book were from a man who got well known over decades of high quality blog post in the man-o-sphere and collected them to into a book as per request of other users. Then there's a man who decided to study history on his own and write a book to serve as a beacon for other men. Whereas POZ gender studies comes out of POZ colleges. The Gender studies you hate so much also produce the managers you hate so much.

I was giving out See appendix 3 to local whites and the next one to local Hawaiians.

I gave out an It's okay to be White pepe the frog meme with some links on it. There was this no-neck hambeast with a Zelda shirt on. I knew this was going to be good. I talked, he talked back, I handed him it. He looked at it for a second, handed it back and said you might as well be handing out Nazi Arm Bands. He started crossing the street while shouting "I can't believe you would do such a thing" and so such things people saw who don't read say. You don't arguer with these people. I talked shit back to the weak no neck ham. This later made me thing... What if he kept said paper and posted to social media in an outrage at what he found and unwittingly promoted it to thousands of people – Later I use this for my political campaign. Slam dunk I got thousands of people in Hawaii to read the first ten leaf lets of my campaign.

So I look up the recommended reading list with these books and find sub cultures. I do a lot of reading and get tired of post then start finding books. I see some memes listing books so I buy the books. I later find archive.org I later find that some narrators have websites that they do audio books themselves. I have like a hundred of hours of books in front of me.

So I'm looking to down size. Maybe move. And I'm looking at all these books... What to do. I could sell them for dirt cheap. So I think of something I'll give them away. I live in a vacation state. I bike around the city seeing people on vacation. So I have this leg pouch. See appendix 4. I keep a couple books in it at all time to give out to preferable young Lights on vacation with a couple dank memes inside.

This whole started when I got some though sticky notes and wrote some edgy irony bro podcast website on. I'd write murdoch murdoch at cheekyvideos or dailystormer.name on tor and post them around time. Then I was reading a daily stormer about steam not allowing low quality troll games. Seemingly they allow Nazi games long as it's not low quality. The sticky note was low quality. So I opened photo shop and spliced a a few memes together and promote Mr Bonds 4th mixtape See Appendix 5. Every time I bike around town and see them I'm just laughing wildly.

The first one I stapled to the post some tie dye witch came up and asked about it before inspecting it as a I rode off. It seems the troll quality passed. She shrugged and walked away. I later double back for a route and saw someone inspecting another. It feels great biking around town and seeing people read that high level troll. I can't help but grin and laugh wildly seeing these type of fliers around town. It's like waiting in a check out line and nigs be nigging and I start laughing. I must look mad being the only one laughing with no headphones in, no phone. I wonder how many of them listened to the free mix tape? I put like 30 around my town. So many people looking for something new, some new concert, a free mixtape, some edgy graphics.

Many of these stayed up until the ink faded. A few boards were competently whipped clean of all fliers a couple days later. I was biking around town collecting signatures to get my name on the ballot. It took 300 to get 30 good ones. I was putting up /pol/ fliers in my spare time, to start the day or to end the day.

Then I thought If I was going to give out these books I'd give a post card from Hawaii and write some content in it. Giving kids a piece of paper just seemed too weird. So I thought to give them a book, to write and direct them to content and to give them a post card I printed. See appendix 6.

Despite this being war I hold back some resources and groups.

So normies don't lie about not having time to look at anything until the weekend. So I was biking around town putting up these fliers See appendix 7 for like three hours a day for two and a half weeks. I take a three day weekend to recover at the same time my mexicans colored half white kids get sick and start summer. On the third day I bike to the store to buy some bread and lone behold the two Light men I gave that frog meme too were on the clock and walked up to shake my hand. Once at the start and once at the end of the conversation. I suppose I lead them now. To what ends? To spread memes?

Having some people that live in vacation states and areas that are handing out memes might be worth it.

Campaign plan

You might want to consider running for office. In my current state I can pay myself a salary equivalent to the position I'm running for from the start to the general. If I can raise it I can pay myself $5k a month. This video game is confusing since one comma might mean that said thing just said is not true. Why aren't there FAQs for non-shit heads? Plus it's just a load lets just say that.

I wrote up a campaign plan but whatever. Internet Blood Sports was life at that time. My campaign goal is to get my opponents to VS me in Internet Blood Sports. See appendix fliers for (((political)))

My plan isn't to spend a shit load on signs but betting on being able to vs them via five hours. To just insult and rip them apart on IBS live for five hours a week until the election. Can't some lawyers figure out how to make political internet blood sports a thing to replace neighborhood boards?

I saw some Hawaiian young men outside on lunch break. I biked up and introduced myself and said I wanted to make policy to take money from the jews and give it to the Hawaiians. The ring leader instantly shook my hand. The older men ears perked up when I told them about my $10k benefit story. I handed them the first ten pages and I owned zogbook that night from 4pm Hawaiian time till like 11pm. I had like 600 page views.

Zero donations still. Hawaiians and these poly-asians will NOT give up plate lunch, will NOT give up their new SUV payments, will NOT give up their alcohol or cigs, will NOT give up their video/tv subscriptions, will NOT ever give instead of having their hand extended out empty with their mouth only saying they want the gibs!

Thank g-d that my printer cartage hasn't ran out of oil... I mean ink. It's a miracle that this ink has lasted so long when it should of lasted only one night. Praise Kek!

For $100 in my campaign, buying a printer, paper and ink. I seemingly got 3000 people to read ten pages of straight fire.

Some of the life long christ-lies I now see in the stores look at me with horror. Dudes a preacher, dudes like in a biker gang and shakes in fear in public when he sees me.

$40 printer. $10 paper $30 ink or about $100 worth of stuff. Literally just campaign fliers

So far about three people in psychosis.

Psychosis

Honestly I've been through psychosis like eight times. I lost count. The last time I went through it it only lasted like five minutes. I fully knew I was in it. It was rather interesting to feel my feelings like that. I miss the feeling. I've been locked up in mental awards three maybe four times. And Homeless three times. How many politicians want to talk about homeless or mental health but never walked the walk themselves? I bet homeless people would be very useful to society if they were broken down into groups by race. Obviously this is racist since some races would actually do something while others infected everything around them.... like a black hole.

I love fucking with network marketing NPCs when they say something about the energy I give off and how something told them to talk to me. After learning about the JQ and niggers it sure is easy to read people. It shocks people and probably freaks them out that someone on vacation in Hawaii on some coffee shop I can walk up, talk about books, guess their state, guess what Light race they belong to and give them the It's Okay to be White paper. How'd I know you were from Cali, no white guilt.

I don't fantasize about ass, pussy, money, or tits. Who would of known nigger and jew women have the worst phenotypes and only ass, tits and pussy put them on a level playing field as whites. I fantasize about Light phenotypes. I later see White females checking me out and I can't help buy compare my head to their head. Many of them seem to have very small heads. While the ones with big heads are post wall at age 23 who identify as a mermaid. The path for me is clear: upward struggle.

You enemies will never let you down. Some of the best fliers I wrote after seeing an interracial german thot with a nigger at a coffee shop. That made my brain light up and go to work on the fliers. Obviously someones watching Hawaii on jewbook for more fliers to be posted. I just need to keep inventing ways.

Once one reprogrammed ones brain they tap into a well of seemingly infinite energy and will.

I can't stand porn now. I feel sick seeing the interracial thumb nails. When you see interracial thumb nails do you think about how disgusting that is? Do you stop and flip the fuck out screaming in rage at your screen? Or do you just scroll pasting it thinking you're too good to see that stuff? From age 8 until like six months ago I was hooked. Hours and hours on end just searching. Ever since some alt-hype youtube video about interracial couples lighting up the brain with disgust I thought to myself every time I saw a nigger in a thumb nail how sick it was. Within minutes of thinking this I broke the spell that plagued me for decades. After two decades of being hooked I now get disgusted, gag and want to throw up seeing just thumb nails. Some people are conditioned to watch porn being in front of their computers, me I linked porn with interracial scenes and now find all them like an extreme turn off.

I later fall back onto porn. I then pick up Taha's book on Nietzsche, the Nazi's and the SS: working my way to the inner circle.

Thinking this was disgusting was not enough. Sure reprogramming your brain is great and all but you still have to undo the damage. So one night while in bed I thought about that thot, the thumb nails, the videos obviously meant, the system pigs, race traitors... hard core violent rap lyrics taking place in the nail aisle with a flayed man banner for the store logo. There was some youtuber that showed the intro to a scene. He black pilled me. I now have the white pill. Fantasizes about the flayed man banner or nails or whatever soothes your soul. If I had a huge amount of money I'd get studio gear /time and make a song about this as to be the new counter culture... in expression of art.

I assume all my emails are censored and about every social media is. Why wouldn't it be? Even outside Hawaii? Do you spend time on dating and meeting websites? These Light females I handed the frog meme out to better come around in a week so I have anew place to move too. As much as I want to move out of Hawaii, I created a new way to recruit but also new groups to recruit. Maybe it's too romantic to think I can give out books without linking myself in the extra content in hopes they find who I found and through one of them find me. One thing is for certain, keep planting seeds and inventing.

It feels great thinking that every time I invent a new way, it'll get censored or shut down. That I just need to keep inventing. No more searching. No more looking for tactics developed and used from long since rotton corpses. I'm a person of Light. 75%, Norwegian blood, and 25% pan-European from the May Flower ship. Mothers last name Smith, a Mormon family with records dating back to the 1400's.

(((They))) are never going to allow me campaign fliers to spread like wild fire on jewbook again.

Invent.

Sure some look at me weird, some are straight scared and literally shaking (christ-lies), some are shocked, and others shake my hand like their life depends on it. What do I see? I see some going thought psychosis now. Lovely, I wish my enemies were put through the same tests as me, and seeing them going through psychosis is... well just say I know how to play into how I choose.

What do I see? It's a lot like going through workman comp for neck back and spine and getting the care, and talking to the DR about your personal care. The Dr told me I was the idea patient. I learned much. About how to maintain good back health. I hope to write at greater detail with pictures of how catch norimes up to speed. The normie sees a NPC walking. I see a NPC hobbling. Limping, gimps, etc. (((the most advanced society))) but it can't spot people before their rupture a disk and pinch a nerve at some wage slave job?

I like fanning the flames. Especially for things that I pick up on that NPCs are unconscious about. Say they are all bright and happy and loud and all about POZ messages and I'll see them hobbling around and respond in that upbeat reply about how their back is doing. The soul crushed look: cuck-seratives. The cuck-seratives wish that their jewish masters cared about them like the way I could spot their personal ills both mentally and physically. I need not soul spy.

As a person of light, it's gut feeling, invent, and instincts.

The NPC probably thinks I'm speaking to their soul, when in my head I'm ridiculing them how easy it is to pull them in different directions: this way, then that, then this again. Three different emotions I get out of them in less than two spoken sentences. If you're on the clock at some dead end job, play with the way you speak stuff. Make it a game to pull NPCs in weird selling point directions. Being above ground is lot like Virgil in Dante's Inferno expect it's my mind taking my body through a brisk walk in hell viewing all the other NPCs in it's own level of hell. From personal experience, I fear nothing more than my own body. What values were instilled in me? Why did my genes, blood, body react the way it did? When I first started to learn how to rap it became a quest not to sound like a degenerate. Politics became a quest not to work for the jews. And now it's anything I do not to be used against me.

NPC's often betray their body, their mind, their race. It's my job to give the NP-Cuck subconscious mind a reason to turn against them. I could do good but if doing good would save the Light races from being raped and genocidesd in their own homelands then it would of done so long ago. Why do I say niggers because they still act like niggers. If not calling them niggers made the Light homelands safe and secure the Light children's future then I might consider not using the word nigger but that might start the whole cycle over again. We are living runes. Just make sure your rune isn't flipped the wrong direction.

How much damage can you do in one short sentence? Can you plant the seed for psychosis in one sentence casually at some box store then fan the flames through the months?

How much damage can you do with a political flier?

How much of an affect can you have with a 3x8 inch piece of paper? Can you get anti-Whites to promote you to thousands that you couldn't buy or that you couldn't do in your current censor bubble?

Mind fuck

90% of the time the person you're arguing with online is an Israel paid citizen following a script. That means a lot of memes are compromised. So many books, pdfs, videos, documentaries, etc are compromised too. A PDF can easily be changed. I search for audio books from established voices posted on established forms. Is this 100% proof? Is Mein Kampf book on major sellers 100% Hitler and not modified to weaken or water down or straight remove or paint things the wrong way?

One thing is for certain. Learn to see patterns. Try to place them together. One of the reason why I liked the book of Mormon is because so much of the pro nouns I can swap out for nouns or other things. Weird, it was like crossing water in my mind. I still rather have someone giving me the Turner Diaries, SIEGE or White Power than the book of Mormon.

Building a professional studio and producing a song to compete against studio that cost 1 million a day to rent? I could probably do it now since I'm in the mindset to invent rather than look for shiny objects. Blood speaks to blood. The sound cloud rappers rapping about fucking bitches on cocaine seem to be a hit despite awful quality. It would seem this is a meme. Lo-fi hiphop is a meme. These people have been using their equipment for years yet some how never actually learned or cared about learning how the equipment works: if loi-fi hip hop producers weren't a meme they would eventually become just another hip hop producer. Maybe it's the nigger effect of always become dumber. Niggers heads being a black hole that only make you dumber isn't a meme, it's the reality in this video game.

The quality of the mix tape does need to pass a threshold of quality. The new mindset of inventing ways over looking comes in hand. There's no blue print to how to treat my room only tools for someone can test and invent an acoustic sound room. A room often has dead spots or spots twice as loud perhaps a lot like the mind. Where will my audience listen to my music or a (((youtube))) video? Many people listen to music with head phones but how many listen to (((youtube))) videos with headphones? I saw some youtuber video of someone covering interracial porn it was a very giggly looking white female and two niggers. I was black pilled. I hadn't reprogrammed my brain at that point but I felt horrified. After reprogramming my brain by thinking how sick and disgusting every interracial thumb nail was some of these clips still haunted me. Seemingly the same night I thought about the flayed man scenes like De Sade I fantasized about it for hours. Problem solved. I thought out those nails that have a fat ring an inch down from the head. De sade would fantasize for hours before masturbating on and off all day in jail. There's lots of young men of Light who's been psychoanalyzed, it's time to give them some tools to turn the tables in their heads.

I undid decades of countless hours of being conditioned to and for browsing porn in less than minutes. Brains seem to require some input. What else can I link to this? Synergy? Cuck-seratives, nigger lovers (liberals), christ-lie, the JQ, niggers, etc. There's so much to list.

Not only has porn done decades of programing to people but so too has social media feeding you and pushing people in directions.

I was originally thinking that my political fliers only spread to 18-26 year olds around Hilo. To think about it that christ-lie biker cuck-serative saw me shopping and froze in spot, eyes wide, literally shaking in front of like ten people. How many people really saw my first ten fliers? How many read them? Are people still sharing them? Did ZOG shut down some of their zogbook? Did those who get their accounts banned now have a motivation to keep spreading my fliers via other means? I think about a senate candidate in CA in 2018 who said making policy about taking money from the jews and giving it to the niggers. What did the niggers do for him? Niggers are fucking worthless is an understatement because it's more like a negative. I told one Hawaiian man I was going to make policy to take money from the jews and give it to the Hawaiians. This young man instantly shook my hand and thanked me as a brother but also seemingly got my ten fliers to thousands of people maybe more and not just in Hilo.

One can seemingly reprogram one self by first fantasying the stuff they want out of their head out. Do you hate interracial porn? Are you willing to link that to smell and taste of dead squid? Many White people I know either "White Flight" away from that type of porn and never undo the damage it's done to their brain.

In one track I could turn the tables insides millions of young men of Light mind. Passage of manhood has never been so easy.

It really turns the table on the meaning hammer time and a dancing nigger.

Anytime you're talking to a nigger you're getting more dumb. Anytime you're listening to nigger music, you're getting more dumb. Same with jew shit. I listened to the same oxxymiron song for a week straight. I practically learned Russian and sometimes now speak with his ascent. I event started speaking Russian words like a professional Russian rapper in a week. Manson said you have to read the books backwards to get all that other stuff out. I had to get all those nigger beats and jew produced rhythms out of my head. I've never had a better work flow in my digital audio workstation. I never had an unlimited well of energy, will, and invention for everything. Are you waiting for the next bell to ring to start the next round? Are you waiting to see a interracial couple at the super market? Or will you load some interracial porn and work your blood up to a psychotic rage – something that your ancestors would be proud of.

The energy probably comes from how I rewired my brain. Some Klan leader and many many other people of Light said they will merely suffer just from the presence of Niggers. Every time I see a nigger my brain lights up and seems to work in new ways. You just have to program it. Program it for fatties, self hating whites, and every unwitting enemy. Instead of thinking that the nigger smells and you need to get 6' away program your brain. The more you talk about nigger behavior the less justice you do to it inside your head. Without knowing about the JQ or niggers any extreme emotion in your head probably doesn't connect with anyone else.

I was thinking red pill stuff before I knew about the red pill. If people of Light aren't the prize, then why are almost all Light homelands being invaded and young girls of Light being raped? How big do you think? Antfia says all white peope are Nazis, and Nazies don't have rights and raping and abusing them is justice. Net work markets will say that have or developing a 100 year plan. 100 years and still putting money above genes? Sounds like neo-christ-lies meth head death cult. I sometimes tell them about the low income housing market of how the government had these low income developers fill out their taxes with 100% accuracy and how one day the government said these people were making too much money too easily and changed the rules for the low income developers and not for the government. Adam Weishaupt and his illuminism or the order of the Illuminati was seemingly all about soul spying, IRS, taxes, etc are great ways to see into businesses and shut them down.

There's been values instilled in you. Learn to flip the tables inside your mind. People of Light can sense what each other are thinking. That's why the jerk off Whites fantasizing about Asian meat has never gotten a good vibe back from a female of Light. Charles Manson in the video I saw he went through about a dozen different facial expressions. Seems crazy or do you only identify with Jew produced movie and TV chracters? Without saying anything he communicated.

There's always talk about finding your roots, finding yourself, finding your spirit animal, or whatever. Never any talk about finding a racial home land yet alone worrying about your children's roots. There's almost no talk about connecting with your subconscious mind. There's just tons of drugs. The Hawaiian that paid $1 a year for the house I rent a room in passed away. The living room got cleaned up. Someone put a TV high up on the wall. Next thing you know the POZ and cuck-serative who always wants conflict are glued to it smoking pot. Seemingly the mexican sells them the pot. Put a TV up and the majority of the working class will be glued to it. Unless you know about the JQ or niggers than your subconscious mind probably scares to hell out of you hence the massive amounts of drugs, alcohol, public programming. When I first went though psychosis the meanings in the songs on the radio flipped in a very dark eternal way.

It is disgusting to see "people" flock to the TV and be glued to it.

First you get the idea then your methods. The Order of the Illuminati plan was world domination through controlling people wither or not they were conscious they were being controlled or not. Know to throw people off balance, fan the flames, show them a glimpse of madness that'll reflects in them. I like to agitate people pushing carts. Saying I too once had back pain. I straight up assume they have back pain from how they walk. I care not if they acknowledge their pain.

Diversity training events like at j-left cuck-bucks is a great time to harvest memes. Instead of harvesting memes you harvest the actions of others. I'll go visit these soy boy locations and fan the flames. Asking them how the training was and if they now understand white guilt. I like to fan them a few times before handing them the pepe frog meme in the appendix. I really send these people into a craze. Sometimes I get to talk to the young Light females longer but I don't. I ask them if they've read any good books lately, they usually respond they are so busy, I respond with an upbeat what you have eight kids, they reply feels like it and then there's an awkward silence for a minute. There's probably a line of colored people with five kids in line. She's making them drinks feeling life is to busy to read while the colored people have five kids and have time to sit at cuck-bucks. Fan those flames and remind them their default path that they are traveling is a fuck doll or better put a cum dumpster.

Amazing how I used to think I needed millions to be happy and whereas I didn't need a million dollar purpose but to focus on the genes. Un-fucking up that twisted frame. It's not what you can learn it's can you uncover the values instilled in you and how you can turn the tables inside your mind then go around turning tables inside other peoples minds. You have been programmed for your whole life, turn the tables in your mind and harvest the benefits.

You are originally programmed to think the only way to work yourself to the inner circle is by buying your way there – and not reading.

People are often like cattle. Instead of reinforcing the lie fan the flames. Understand most everyone on the job or in society can and will only talk about food and sports.

A lot of departments fought for me. Two managers tried to put me in the parking lot to help load stuff. My group leader fought like hell to keep me. I was great at moving water heaters and could solve peoples problems and double for two other departments. This christ-lie NPC had back surgery five times. The first back surgery Drs thought the NPC could never work again. Anti-white is nothing new.

I'm assuming the NPC went to apply for SSI or whatever and was denied. It was a mercurial she could work again. Four back surgeries later this NPC is shaking uncontrollable when it's 30 minutes late taking it's meds. It has a TENS unit built into it's spine. Frankenstein.

Boomers have so many proxy terms for niggers it's like they have a mouth full of kibble. Just bounce between them. If you're going for the word record for most massages out of workman comp it's better to leave all the jokes aside and speak with your actions.

LARPing will help with customers. One of my favorite thing to do is talk about how the black pipe is for waste and the white pipe is for supply. The black pipe can't handle pressure. The black pipe when burned gives off toxic gases and is banned in CA. The white pipe I sell this all the time for random projects, people just like the aesthetics of it more than the black pipe.

So the lot team needed me. During my six months period at this place I saw three teams of six to eight men replaced every two month due to back pain. Wave after wave I tried to talk to them. Each wave I got more... unrestrained. By the third wave I straight told one. He was about to call me when his auntie had some kind of medical emergency. He was too busy dealing with that to call me. His back is now fucked up beyond all repair. One of the second wave guys actually built up the courage to yell at his lead. Finally someone with some balls, however, he barked up the wrong tree. The cashier group leader NPC was the proxy for these men. NPCS who can't lift 20lbs bags over seeing NPCs moving 90lbs bags. One night all eight of the men called out or were off and unable to come in. The cashier NPC lead had to help load some ham planet. One 50 lbs bag of concrete and the NPC messed up her back. She got pregnant from her boyfriend the next week and since she was prego she could use that as an excuse not to lift. None of the other cashier NPCS would do the job, they stood by talking to each other while paging for a man to come. The NPC cashier group leader didn't get workman comp for whatever reason. Yet I picked up and saw enough to see that she got permanent disability. Maybe she was bad to keep around for the moral? One of the lot NPC yelled at her that she had no right to say how fast things should get don, not being able to do them her self. Maybe she played a dumb bitch too far. Maybe to get permanent disability you need to grind 24 men's spine into nothing. Maybe it's because she hobbled around crying and weeping. It's probably a question of that she was bad moral for the team. I applied to the position 100% held by women and was passed on it. My sells line was no one would get injured under me. Some post wall 40 year old NPC got the position. This NPC didn't even try to lift. She'd page every thirty seconds. She'd go find people and tell them to go lift while she did whatever for them.

Flier the town with variations of my fliers. Imagine if every home improvement store, every farm store, every store with items above 50lbs essentially became a pitty struggle fest vs those who have the guts to claim workman comp. Hell even offices that have staplers could claim workman comp. Those who refuse to opt for workman comp will get wrecked in a mighty short order. While those going through workman comp will only get one solid physical labor month of work out of them every 15 weeks.

So the christ-lie is passed out on the couch. Dude took six 5mg pain meds. His mother was coming over today to pick up the left over squid. She came around six am to go to the market. I have no clue how this dude got back on the couch but she left him. That squid shit is boiling and just making the non-30mg oxy doped up people gag. So the cuck-serative throws it out side about 50' away from the house where the pigs usually come and get stuff at night. The christ-lies mother comes back around 2pm. She's a tie dye witch liberal type. I'm trying to get some fresh air since I've been working in my room all day. On the way out I say ay anon I got your butt plug. The bitch seemingly left a huge goard or whatever it's called on the table. It was surrounded by some beads and some other stupid shit. I see the shit-lib sitting out side in her tie dye shirt waiting outside thinking that she can will her son to wake up from his 50mg oxy nap on the couch watching ty. Anon goes that's hawaiian dog. I say hell no that's some nigger shit and go back to my room. I go back out twenty minutes later to find the nigger shit butt plug off the table. Anon and I are laughing outside in the back. I tell him we need to get a shovel and put some dirt on that squid cause I can still get a smell of it from here. We walk around to house to see the bitch still in the car who probably heard us laughing like wild hounds in the back yard while she tries to text her 50mg oxy napping son to wake up. Anon grabs a snow shovel – in hawaii because that makes sense. We start to head towards that pile of squid outside and I think hell no i'm not going near this but it was too late. I got enough of a gust of wind it that I went running off gagging. I made it to the bathroom and dry heaved for a minute. I threw up a little bit. I brushed my teeth and thought it was over. Then I thought... Think about those interracial porn scenes and how disgusting they were. I gagged and threw up more than just the dead squid smell.

Link that disgust together. I thought I reprogrammed my brain and was in the clear. I type this as I dry heave knowing I have nothing else to throw up.

How do you undo a life time of being told and having interracial porn placed in front of you is a legit choice? Buy some squid from the asian man market that's on discount, boil it for a few hours with red sauce and lots of peppers. Then leave it out all night. Then reeeeeeeeee-heat it in the morning until the smell makes everyone gag. Then throw it outside in the blazing heat and let it sit for a few hours. Then go role around in it licking it thinking about all those interracial scenes you used to think were so hot when you were scrapping the bottom of the barrel your ZOG poisoned brain.

How does a White man do his White Genes and White brain Justice after once fapping to interracial porn? By washing his hands and saying he's too good for that stuff? Or linking it to rotting squid smell and taste? By working up THE WORST headache he's ever had in his life and linking that disgust to every and ALL scenes he's ever seen. Possibly a monthly or yearly ritual.

I just got a sniff of that rotten squid and thought about that checker board thot or race traitors cunt of what it'll smell like the next morning after being with a nigger. Has you're Oneitis dated a nigger? Into the pot she goes with all those heart tugging memories.

More people of Light should reprogram their brain like this. Imagine a "ice bucket challenge" that White men do each month to link interracial couples and porn together. Imagine the shit social media would give them.

Are you willing to be Radically pro-White? Or do you only get off on Jew approved methods?

My head hurts in the areas that that alt-hype interracial videos showed. Many areas that scientist say that Porn disables this part of the brain now hurt like LIVING HELL. Every time I calm down, the headache goes away slightly, I stop gagging I think about the smell and interracial porn and start dry heaving again trying to usher in new levels.

- 1. political fliers see red folder
- 2. ??? I have the worst headache in my life and I want to get these mailed tomorrow. While printing these I needed more supplies. I went a few places. The first place I saw a white women with a nigger kid. I ducked into an aisle before I got sick. I then thought but wheres the nigger father and started laughing. I found myself drying heaving between laughing uncontrollable in a cold sweet. My brain seems to be doing work linking the 56% ham planets in too. I then was leaving another store when I saw a decent looking white girl surrounded by two two 56% faces. It took me months to program myself to smile at decent females showing my nice teeth but it took less than an hour to program my brain to be disgusted at the sight of whites mixed with non-whites. Within seconds my smile went almost throwing up. The red pill community taught me how to tacitly nuke females by telling them you have no sexual attraction for them what so ever. I now see white females next to non-whites females and I almost throw up. While biking home I thought how bad I could make this head ache thinking about so many scenes and people from my life. The front right lobe of my brain feels like it's been ripped in two. The middle left area of my brain sometimes feels the same. Five hours after smelling that squid and thinking about that smell and interracial scenes, couples turned into me almost throwing up just seeing white females next to non white females. Just thinking about any of thing makes me dry heave. Two weeks ago I made a political flier saying I'm never so happy violently up rooting every jewish lie. Today I linked a life time of disgusting porn and people i've seen together and have the worst head ache ever. Hopefully by the end of the day I can link any image I have by the end and wake up with a new brain. I hope next time I see an interracial couple I vomit on the spot. Luckily for me body cams are legal in Hawaii.

To MENS RIGHT CENTER

I was hired by Tractor Supply Company at Del's location in Hilo, HI on 5-28-16 to a full time position.

I was written up on 10-15-2016 for failing to work at a pace of other team members in completing task, for failing to stop, drop and engage with customers or responded to calls for customer load outs (failing in deliver legendary customer service), failed to communicate effectively with the team resulting in poor team work and animosity creating a poor work environment, failed to understand simple instructions from a supervisor, failed in establishing good team work in and understanding how a team works together.

Before I was written up, they found out was pro-Trump. The only Pro-trump persona at this location.

Only men do warehouse work and the only time men cashier is when the cashiers need help. However, the cashiers do not help with loading out orders, ever. Despite us having the same title "team member," only women cashiers and only men do warehouse work. Currently all the cashiers are female and the last four hired are female. Currently all the warehouse members are male and the last 7 hired are male.

Today, 5-5-17, all my of male coworkers are experiencing back pains that cannot be cured by eight ibuprofens, weed or other drugs. They have been lifting 50lbs bags of feed incorrectly and carrying them on their back.

The warehouse lead will talk to the assistant manger of the warehouse for about 50 minutes about either food or old tv shows while skipping his main job duties. He does this in 20 minute intervals throughout the day and another 30 minutes at the end of the shift. After the managers above him are gone (around 4pm or 3pm) he'll take six 10 minute breaks when it's busy or he'll take an hour long break smoking. I believe he is smoking crack or something with other coworkers because often his emotions are dead and he is super focused and not doing anything that makes sense. His hands are shaking uncontrollably too. He has complained about heart pains a few months back. His back pains cannot seem to be cured and he is always doing bull shit projects and knocking things down. He took the fence out a few months ago.

One older warehouse member, hired around November, had a stroke on the job, said he was fine, and went home. He is constantly not responding to loadout calls for hours on end, he is walking past customers trying to hand him a loadout, he now has x5+ 20-30minute bathroom breaks when he's on the clock. He'll talk to customers for 30 minutes after loading out a $20 bag of feed and talk to them about politics or whatever. He constantly calls out sick and has reduced his hours to 1-2 days a week.

My two coworkers on about the same level of me are hamstring or psychotic. The psychotic one has said "I can't wait for niggers to kill white people" to my face, "I'm racist against white people" to my face, or "you don't get it because you're a trump supporter" to my face in front of customers. After the manager leaves he's yelling to himself that he's going to be the biggest asshole possible. He takes 8+ ibuprofen a day, 5 energy drinks, 2 pots of coffee, smokes a ton of weed to reduce the pain, drinks a bottle of Nyquil a night and is constantly taking smoke breaks with or without writing them down. He has refused to help me in front of customers.

The other coworker complains daily about anything he can find. It seems to make him feel better or think it improves his situation. He's constantly complaining about people "everyone takes bath room breaks to often" "some peoples bathroom breaks are too long." He's not drinking 3-4 energy drinks a day, back pain cannot be cured from any drug and drinks like 8 shots of alcohol a night and constantly coming into work with a hangover.

The assistant manager of the warehouse says he does not have back pain but walks out most days looking like a mummy, unable to walk properly, stand properly, or move his arms properly. He has threatened to make my life hell at this location twice. He does what I call bull shit story time, where he ignores work to talk to other coworkers about food or tv for 20-30minute breaks at a time.

The cashier lead is a feminist, she times me when exchanging a 150 t-post order and acts like I'm fucking up for not rushing to get it done despite other co-workers refusing to help me in front of the customer upon the customer's request. She draws all the time on the clock. She reads all the time on the clock. She plays on her phone all the time on the clock. She does not leave the cashier stand to do anything around the counter. She has been talked to the main manager that she cannot draw but she does it anyways and thanked him for letting her do it despite others complaining.

The other cashiers (women) follow suit. It's often a competition who can do the least or look the most pathetic. They all seem to call out 1-2 times a week and are usually always late. They all never miss a break. They all play on their phone or do crossword puzzles in front of the distract manager.

The cashier assistant manager has discriminated against me saying "you're schizophrenic, trump thinks we should lock up schizophrenics, we should lock you up" on 1-30-17. I have written a letter expressing I want her to apologies to me in front of the other coworkers she said that in front of. And no action yet. Report # 125284020 from some random number on the company wall. I have contacted the EEO on 5-5-17 inquiring about this. She'll do cross word puzzles or take long smoke breaks.

The main manager is swearing it up. He's complained to me not to complain about other people so I've stopped complaining about others actions months ago. I believe he's letting these other peoples micro aggressions add up to a case against me, but whatever. I may not work as fast as the other men breaking their back, but I work without break.

- 1. I want to "piggy back" on the assistant managers pay. She gets paid $17 after complaining about Starbucks managers making that much. I, and the other men, do cashier, do have product knowledge and do answer phones. The only thing we don't do is take smoke breaks, show up late, do crossword puzzles or play on our phones all day. We help with cashiering, but they do not help with warehouse despite mostly all of us having the same job title. The duties are divided based on gender and men are paid less than cashiers in general.
- 2. The cashiers get set hours because what they do does not depend on when a truck is coming in, despite once again being team members as a job title. Women take breaks, but men cannot without being yelled at. Women clock in late all the time, and it's fine whereas men get told to find a new job.
- 3. Positive discrimination. Manager, Assistant manager, Team lead, Team member. Somehow, all the women have the job duty as cashiering and all the men have the back breaking duty for less pay. 100% men warehouse, 100% women cashier. The last six cashiers hired are all female. The last eight warehouse hired are all men. The company training video programing tells it's employees that this is sexist to have all men or all women do a specific duty OR have all the - same job title. Coprate does not care about sexism against men because this location makes so much and the men (besides me) are feminist and go against their own best interest.

- 4. When I asked why I haven't had much time cashier I was told by the manager that the girls would not like a man to be up there, especially a conservative man and especially me since I have a speech independently from my schizophrenia. Despite no customer complaining about my speech, I am never called to assist with cashier when one or two of the women are either called out or on break.
- 5. discrimination for marital status. The male lead has a wife and kids, so he gets Friday/Saturday off to be with the wife and kids. Whereas all the other men (besides the receiver and managers) are pushed around. I want Tuesday off for my social life and Wednesday off because I need time for my body to recover from lifting 5 days straight. I lift on top of my job and need ideal circumstances to recover (two days off in a row) but we men rarely get two days off in a row. The other training is taking a toll on men and it is devastating.
- 6. About four men load out the majority of the 8 million dollars' worth of product over the year. We are not offered chiropractic care in any insurance plan offered. We do not get two days off to recover. We only get a slight change in duties if we have a Workmens comp note from a doctor. We do not get paid time off to recovery for small injuries that slip through the daily routine. We do not get a swap or new duties despite men having crushing chest pain or crushing back pain. We are not written up for lifting incorrectly and it has taken a year and two months for four men to destroy their back, and seeing and interacting with them daily is ugly.

I feel I have the same skill as the cashiers expect I also have warehouse skills, and not being paid more is discrimination.

I feel the sheer amount of effort of loading out 5k+lbs by hand a day merits more than $11.50 an hour. We get paid less than cashiers. We talk to more customers, we build more sales, we push more products but are paid less.

Working conditions for men are harder. We are out in 80-100 degree weather with steel toe boots, vests, and work pants. I was told I cannot wear sun glasses. We men constantly have to push a hand truck across a busy street to complete load outs. We men are constantly or have been hit by cars either in our extremely small lot or on the street. No cameras, the cars just drive off. Across the street major events are hosted and being hit by a car is real. The fork lifts are often not kept in the best condition: no back up sounds, old breaks and wheels that are missing major chunks so every couple of feet the 20k lbs beast jerks extremely hard. I was told I cannot cashier because the women would not want it.

What am I thinking about doing?

- 1. I've been keeping a log for the last 8 months of everything.
- 2. My manager, EEOC and our cooperation doesn't care about men's complaints, so I'll whistle blow on youtube.
- 3. I may settle out of court for a large settlement, but I do not want to present any information to this company.
- 4. Finishing my workmens comp. I am the only man that has went to Workmens comp and has returned to work at this location. I can talk about the experience of what it was like to met by feminist doctors that said pretty much said "take two a day, overdose and kill yourself" and still find a way through the mess to get the care I need.

Do I need income from this job? Not really, I've developed a body and can pull just about any female I want in my community. The status is great, I plan to write about how I developed status with nothing. I live with my parents and my step dad is reasonable. I may be some scum bag boyfriend and move in with one of these females rent free and keep doing my music. Before Del's, I was employed and the manager has said she'll take me back if I never need a part time job. This means, I am ok losing my job over this.

It just sucks because everyone that I tried to share a little bit of info about this (besides my parents) think that I'm wrong and sexism against men isn't a thing. Even the men at this job that are breaking their back, having strokes or heart attacks on the job still side with feminist. I will literally be the last man standing at this location in a few months.

This is my starting point and I look forward to having an very toughly conversation with you later. I am so happy a place like this exist. I type MRA or men's right, men's right activist into google and it's mostly all man hating results.

My cell is -----. I usually have Tuesday and Thursdays off. I have work comp appointments at 10 or 11am Hawaiian time that last an hour on those days. You could imagine I don't always function best in the morning. I will set up an appoint to call on a Tuesday after a WC appointment (like 11:45am) Hawaiian time at -----.

Thank you so much for talking to me on 5-5-2017.

Mel,

I forget the way you worded it. I was on lunch and should have taken notes, for I feel it was worded better that way.

Also, I gave and talked to Bob about this other letter I gave him, dated 7-25. I am concerned that the "I walk away painless" and the "too physically demanding at this time" part conflict, however, I might say something along the lines of "management has failed to take care of a full time team member preforming warehouse duties on 8-25, and I am doing what I can to avoid what he said, 'my back hurts so bad that it's like someone is taking a screw driver and grinding it into this part of my spine' because I do not feel comfortable."

or something like that.

The screw diver part might not be choice to include. It's hear say. I mean I am on good terms with someone who heard it but the heard it too, so it might be manager vs team member. The dude who said it I do not want to count on him since he has said to my against white people and said other things about Trump supporters not getting "it".

I never believed in karma until I worked at a farm store... This is some extra flavor text for you, the end men meet while working in the dungeon is what we call the warehouse at this farm and feed store location...

Good news, The dude who heard the screw driver bit seems to have bent to knee to me. Go figure, he's doing what he can to avoid the fucking idiot who's about to snap. I will collect his phone number and refer him to you soon. Perhaps he will write for you. be will apply for a cashier position in the near future under you guidance.

The main point of this second email is Bill. I wrote about him when I first wrote you. Retired Navy 45 year old. He's on good terms really interested in what I'm up too. He likes me and I will soon refer him to you, for I feel he will want to write for you about what i stroke on the job and the treatment and care that followed while working at this location.

How you worded that was choice, and it's driving me nuts trying to remember.

The origin of dick jokes

7:26 PM (22 hours ago)

to menscenter

So that fucking idiot who's about to snap?

About an hour after lunch he's in the warehouse with the assistant manager and a team member. He says something like "I have this pain in my leg that keeps shooting up and down my leg. Why are you all working so slow? I pulled something getting out of bed this morning in my back and I'm still working faster than all of you." The team member goes, "ya, well I was getting into bed last night and pulled my groin trying to get into bed. I tried to get back in my bed and pulled it again. Then this morning getting out of bed I pulled it again." The manager goes off about pulling his groin when he tries to get in bed when his wife is gone." I forget all the examples but it was a solid two minutes of dick jokes.

Sounds like this racist prick is no more. I mean he's half white but doesnt look it, I forget the youtube channel that said "these white people who are racist against white people are extreme an masochist."

They might put me on dog food but I might consider it retaliation since I haven't done it in six months.

I have a lot logged in my journal and will have to pay you to arrange this info to reach the public an approved way. Or something like that.

Bob,

We spoke briefly in the store room and you mentioned you see me having a future with this company, and today I am writing you regarding that future. When I was a kid my dream job was to be a personal trainer. I thought people would be all about personal health and it would be a booming industry, but the world I observed up to this point tells a different story: The expansion of Krispy Kreme. I have been employed here for over a year now. We have another store meeting coming up, and from studying glassdoor.com I have concluded that the problems that this store face are not unique, however, I am offering you today a few of my unique skills.

The main problem this company faces is health. I solely intend to focus on warehouse work. I now have a decade of competitive sports behind me. Imagine if I could replicate myself: not just another worker who does choke loadouts without complaint but a worker who can do these loadouts for years to come for every store location. I see a lot of potential in this company. I can tap into my online communities to promote and even write a short PDF / manual on how to achieve what I've done: To turn back the clock eight years in less than one year while making a buck. Being able to tell compelling stories to motivate and give the skills needed to young men to find Tractor Supply Co as a choice career is a unique skill I offer.

I am going to solve this problem by breaking down boundaries. I have successfully turned painful loadouts into painless loadouts and a bro-fist. After Brian and I did a loadout on Sunday he said something along the lines of, "well that was painless." I was like, "That's why I'm here brah, safety brah, and team work brah." Pat has told me to listen to Kyle and Brian on how to do things around here about ten months ago, but I do not see good fruit. In fact, I see another health-related problem that I can solve.

You can always trust a man to act in his best interest and that is why some people avoid loadouts when they are in so much pain. You are only as loyal as your incentives. Self-control is over rated. We need a stick and carrot. There should be accountability; we cannot bet but perhaps the winner of each week gets a bonus, and this would create an incentive to work safer aka long term health. Maybe it is time to create a safety team, and I would lead that safety team.

Times here are getting though and grim. It seems like some people feel they are spent for the workday not even half way in their shift. This is a problem because it stresses out the warehouse team. Seemly multiple times a week someone is hiding from loadouts. There's little to no emphasis on lifting in the green zone. From my experience, I have been meet with hostility for working safely. Co-workers have mocked me for lifting a 16lbs bag of cat food or a 10lbs box, yet I have taken the high road.

I am no neurosurgeon, but I have read a book by a neurosurgeon. I have communicated with a famous neurosurgeon and modified my lifestyle. Reliability is another thing this local need but is not as large as a problem as health. A healthy sustainable life style is a marathon, not a race. I do not know how to fix said back complications, but I can provide on the spot training on lifting correctly. Maybe the next generation of workers will be persuaded to focus on reliable lifting techniques. Lifting is truly an art and must be mastered. It may take up to six months for the fruits to show.

Over the six months I will help men and women develop lifting techniques that can withstand the test of time. Back is one the strongest muscle groups in the body but NOT as strong as legs. I will straight up give diet advice and life style advice but let them figure it out through trial and error; there's a reason why my diet is mostly the same thing again and again. Over six months anyone I mentor will have what is called a base. They will have the muscle memory down. They will only drink green tea and water, and they will be a work horse who doesn't flinch at loadouts.

Creating a culture that promotes health is choice for this business. I believe you and I can create a wave of workers that will get the attention of corporate. I would like to document it if you decide to take this intelligent risk with the intent we can implement it to stores nationwide.

I am not a nutritionist, yet over my year plus working here I have come a long way. I was a fixer-upper. I had some biceps, a smile, interested in music and not much else going for me. I can provide before and after photos to prove what I'm about to say: I have reversed aging and look like my 22-year-old self again. Over the last eight months I have cut out alcohol, my mind is blossoming and I took an actual interest in books for the first time in my life. I believe cutting these unhealthy habits out has made me so much more of a cheer to work with despite the constant untasteful conditions thrown at me, and people not being friendly brings me to my next point.

I believe being unfriendly is evil, and an unfriendly person cannot provide legendary customer service. Another one of my unique strengths is building bridges. I build relationships with customers fast. I build sells fast. I get the customer confident and ready to checkout fast. I know my ABC's: Always be closing. I have gained status with the men in our community, and a bi-product is women respecting me. This plays into trust. Seemly a good amount of people who come into this store turn down others but opens to my request to assist them. I literally have people waiting eagerly to be helped while I'm assisting another customer. Customers promote the hell out of me, and I'm all about making that two thousand dollar sale in 30 seconds and believe I can teach everyone here the same tactics along with many other tactics applicable to the challenges this business faces.

Good health means some of this other stuff isn't that serious. Not to say reliability isn't serious but when lack of reliability doesn't end in a painful workday, then I walk away painless. Not to say selling fast isn't a priority, but having a crew of elite sells men focusing on ABC instead of avoiding loadouts while talking about dog food for 45 minutes. I believe people experiencing these back complications creates a hostile and painful work environment where the littlest problem gets blown out of proportion.

All these symptoms have a common root: health. I hope that we can work together to get to a point where the current major issues this store face evaporate and we have the luxury of worry about the small things like the feelings we have about each other. Perhaps there wouldn't be so much tension and hate if people weren't walking around with so much physical pain.

There is a masculinity war between me and some other men here hence the hate, however, this problem will fix itself soon because of the three guarantees of life I offer: Lifting incorrectly always leads to complications, smoking and exercise always leads to death and mixing without knowing what you're listening too is always a waste of time (lol for the last one). It is 2017 and this company needs to acknowledge as much information as possible to create an environment, another unique skill I offer of deciphering the bull shit, were men are not thinking highly of themselves for being a martyrdom for an 8-5. The future of this company should not depend of a man pity struggle fest competition that replaces men like clockwork.

Health and the future of this company is why I'm writing you today. The training videos are dated and do not work since they do not cover every type of loadouts. The training videos are general and unspecific and have seen them fail many people. I feel this is the exact forward thinking this company needs. I feel I have taken an intellectual risk, submitted myself to unchecked verbal abuse and physical threats by going with my decade of competitive sport knowledge. I feel I can influence multiple online communities to create a choice worker begging for this job. I feel since my step dad was able to create a training program that got national attention and implementation with the intent and did save lives in Iraq I too can save the lives, backs and the quality of lives for men and women employed by this company. Choose what you want to talk about and let me know.

Truly an intellectual risk that will greatly benefit all from the shareholders of this company down to the bottom of the totem pole.

TSC's to be personal trainer,

To whom it may concern,

Bob really didn't want Kyle fired because Kyle works hard. No one at this location works smart expect for me: correctly lifting. Perhaps you should visit this location to see the pain in the men's, warehouse, faces as they work or as they walk; truly it is appalling and made me emotionally disconnect from my team members because all the men here are extreme masochist because that seems to be the culture the managers and leads promote: sacrifice yourself, don't dare try established lifting techniques or you'll be constantly harassed, and don't dare let a woman lift. Customers tell me multiple times a week something along the lines of "wow, you're the only one that lifts correctly, and that's insane."

On 9-1-2017 I saw the look on Bob's face as he lay backwards on a pallet of dog food with his arms above his head. "Ugh, my back" Bob says as Higgins responds while walking by with a loadout saying, "get back to doing loadouts, we need you Bob." Bob has always hobbled with his hips way off and spine way to the right. It would seem something happened, Bob's incorrect alignment of his back being thrown off, and now is hobbling in a new way on 9-2-2017. Perhaps the fall of Babylon is about a curve in a man's spine that should have never been: Once set the muscles do what they can to keep it that way but a slip can result in a grim fate for all to see with each step.

On 9-2-2017 we had a brief meeting in the warehouse that started with how we lost one the other day ad we all need to respond to loadout calls asap and take the initiative on dog food. It's untasteful that Bob, Kris, Scott, and the 5pm guy are too busy doing whatever else to follow these words. Perhaps when the managers give a pep talk to warehouse and use the world we they should note that if they are sweeping or unable to follow their own words it's because it's very important business. Rome collapsed because of shit like this: Men scared as all hell taking a dose of their own medicine. Thank God for the internet and the sharing of information freely. You should see the notes and letters on the white board in the warehouse, for it is sexist to assume woman cannot lift without hurting themselves. It is rich that the day Bob initials next a note that says customer service is the #1 priority, not safety, is the same day he is staring at the ceiling trying to stretch out his back on a pallet of dog food for all of us, and customers, to see.

On 9-2-2017 Scott assigned dog food to Shane and I was to support him. Dog food, I haven't done this in like half a year or more, and this task has broken every man's back who's done it. This location is either dated or the managers have it set up to a way that the bending/twisting mixed with lifting required to do the dog food task grinds spines in ways that ruins lives: IE see Kyle... this is retaliation. They say they use the space they have in the warehouse intelligible, but the facts are that some tasks break backs. I've seen what it's done to my co-workers. I can have people speak on things like the quality of life they live now after doing dog food under these conditions. These new job duties are forcing me to quit: bending and lifting always ends bad. The managers don't do dog food, they avoid it like the plague: has Ducky who's been here for like 5+ years, the same last name as Bob, ever done Dog food for a week to see what it's like? No, but she yells at men for working slow or in my experience working safe. I feel the current person assigned to dog food is grinding disk on disk in his back. The expression on his face, and seemingly all the other men, throughout the workday is disturbing and forcing me to pick up personality traits that no normal or reasonable person would endure. No reasonable person would want to see these expressions on their team members face while working a job.

The dark triad is a blessing and a curse, for it helped me dodge one of the grimmest fates of all and this job is imbedding some concerning personality traits that society does not openly condone, however, I am not a traitor and betrayal to my own kind, or anyone who is nice to me or willing to work with me, like the managers and leads & Angel at this location. I have found another job that pays about the same, and that job has actual opportunities to advance. This new location they use safety equipment religiously and have plenty for everyone ranging from gloves, lifting belts, safety goggles, to all kinds of machines to eliminate stress on the body.

I live with a parent who's worked a physically demanding job in the past and has had back surgery. I'm fully aware of the warning signs and the fate of those signs. I work at a location were people shop at seemingly because they are unable to lift the bags of feed themselves. I could help prevent the fate of lifting incorrectly for so many people, the authoritarian side of me, but the libertarian side of me says, "If someone wants to try to redefine masculinity after thousands of years let them because it's all fun and games until someone gets hurt, then it's hilarious." One-day Kyle is expressing something like "it feels like a screwdriver is being dug into this part of my spine" to Scotty in the warehouse and the next day Kyle said something like "I think I pulled something in my back getting out of bed this morning. There's this shooting pain in my leg right now," and his concerns were meet with jokes from a Team Member about pulling his groin each night trying to get into bed and Scotty escalating it to something like "I pulled it each night when my wife was out of town" and how awful it was because no one was there to rub it out for him. I was a few aisle's down watching a customer crack up by the dog food in response to hearing this. This culture of hate the managers promote is so unbearable, and me, being a compassionate human, cannot bear this any longer.

If you are really interested in talking to me, perhaps we discuss something that'll make me feel comfortable because if I can prevent and save the quality of lives from being ruined, I will do what I can for the greater good. Perhaps TSC will become a leader in business and become a living embodiment of the saying "Make America Great Again." We can work together to build bridges to make a lot of things great again, or we can just Make work at TSC Great Again. I digress.

Truly, this must be one of the most hostile work environments and expressing my concerns to management has laid on deaf ears. I contacted HR and the response I get are job duties that have broken every man, and woman, like clockwork who's take them on at this location.

I, Bryan Feste, am forced to quit in response to new job duties assigned by management on 9-2-2017.

I am writing this letter for two reasons.

zan Beste

- 1. I would like to supplement and add more information to my case before my interview. I have included six pages.
- 2. I am requesting a man be put in charge of my case, for I am citing my religion.

Have a good day,

I am writing this letter for three reasons.

- In 2017, I have dealt with a different public program. Shortly after submitting my paper work to that program, they contacted me via phone and one of the things they asked me was if I held any preferences based on my Religion. The only contact with this office, besides the initial paperwork, I have had was made by my efforts with the sole intent to communicate that I have a Religious preference for having a man on my case. I am requesting of you the same respect / reasonable accommodation that was offered to me before: I want a man on my case, for I am citing my Religion.
- 2. I have included the contents of the letter I sent to Robie.
- I would like to supplement and add more information to my case before my interview. The new document is the page with Shirene's date of hire.

Have a good day,

I am writing you today to submit the additional information you have requested after talking to you on the phone today.

Cathy, my nurse case manager with Bunch CareSolutions, dropped me at one point after failing to return a call in a timely matter. Then after a complaint on my behalf about the amount of time it took her to return a phone call, potentially damaging my relationship with my boss, she left a disgruntled voice mail and dropped my case. The take away message from that is Cathy failed to assign a new nurse case manager to my case after dropping me, and it seems that my work comp Doctor, Dr Maysonet, was solely managing my care at one point.

I will pass along said paper work that we discussed on the phone today to Dr. Maysonet when it arrives.

Aloha,

7-6-2017

I, Bryan Feste, have applied before to a cashier position at store location 4604 and you said no. I see you're running a new ad and would like to apply for the full-time cashier position.

6-20-2017

I will accept to transfer from full time warehouse duties to part time cashier duties. I can start immediately.

Christal,

I am writing you today in response to the package I received today, 7-31-2017. I called you and left a couple of messages and am attempting to get my point across via this letter. I do not have a permanent disability. I was given a clean bill of health and discharged from care. I was to not lift more than 100lbs while under my DR's care. My employer does not expect us to lift more than 100lbs. I want to focus solely on being discriminated against for being a man.

Here are my comments regarding the letter you sent me on July 28th, 2017.

- 1. My date of birth is February 12th 1989.
- 2. P.O Box 2087 is my mailing address and my street address is 15-2075 10th ave Keaau, HI 96749.
- I work at a "Del's Feed And Farm Supply" location, and the parent company is "Tractor Supply Company."
- 4. Cause of discrimination based on sex NOT disability.
- 5. Date of discrimination 5-19-2017

OK now into the bulk of the paper work

- On or about May 19th, 2017, I noticed my store location was hiring and was not selected for a transfer of job duties to cashier duties under my current job title, Team Member.
- 2. I believe that I was not selected for cashier duties due to my sex (male).
 - I suffered a work-related injury as a team Member while preforming warehouse duties.
 - b. On or about May 19, 2017, I saw that the store was hiring for cashier duties. Employees are hired as Team Members with the intent for either warehouse or cashier duties. All the cashier duties are filled by women and all the warehouse duties are filled by men.
 - c. On May 19, 2017, I wrote a letter to the Store Manager Bob Ogilvie requesting a transfer of my job duties to cashier duties under the same job title, Team Member. I put my request in writing because I had only seen females hired for cashier duties and I thought there might be a problem. Mr. Ogilvie denied my request because he said it would cause havoc.
 - d. I applied for cashier position two more times in response to new ads. The store hired a new female employee for cashier duties on June 23rd, 2017.
 - e. I believe that I was denied a transfer because of my sex.

I also received Eric's letter dated July 7th. It detailed I had to call someone within 20 days. However, I just received the letter today on July 31st. I have the paper work filled out by my DR saying I was given a clean bill of health and feel this could have been solved with a simple phone call. I called today regarding that issue. Is my phone call stating that I do not have a permanentdisability good enough to resolve his letter dated on the 7th? Please let me know

I, Bryan Feste, have been employed at this store location for one year now. I am specifically requesting to be reassigned to casher responsibilities currently performed by other people with my job title, "team member." I appreciate the opportunity this company has given me and the positive evaluations, but the new job responsibilities will better suit my physical capabilities. I would like to avoid a repeat of my physical injury.

Bob,

We spoke briefly in the store room and you mentioned you see me having a future with this company, and today I am writing you regarding that future. When I was a kid my dream job was to be a personal trainer. I thought people would be all about personal health and it would be a booming industry, but the world I observed up to this point tells a different story: The expansion of Krispy Kreme. I have been employed here for over a year now. We have another store meeting coming up, and from studying glassdoor.com I have concluded that the problems that this store face are not unique, however, I am offering you today a few of my unique skills.

The main problem this company faces is health. I solely intend to focus on warehouse work. I now have a decade of competitive sports behind me. Imagine if I could replicate myself: not just another worker who does choke loadouts without complaint but a worker who can do these loadouts for years to come for every store location. I see a lot of potential in this company. I can tap into my online communities to promote and even write a short PDF / manual on how to achieve what I've done: To turn back the clock eight years in less than one year while making a buck. Being able to tell compelling stories to motivate and give the skills needed to young men to find Tractor Supply Co as a choice career is a unique skill I offer.

I am going to solve this problem by breaking down boundaries. I have successfully turned painful loadouts into painless loadouts and a bro-fist. After Brian and I did a loadout on Sunday he said something along the lines of, "well that was painless." I was like, "That's why I'm here brah, safety brah, and team work brah." Pat has told me to listen to Kyle and Brian on how to do things around here about ten months ago, but I do not see good fruit. In fact, I see another health-related problem that I can solve.

You can always trust a man to act in his best interest and that is why some people avoid loadouts when they are in so much pain. You are only as loyal as your incentives. Self-control is over rated. We need a stick and carrot. There should be accountability; we cannot bet but perhaps the winner of each week gets a bonus, and this would create an incentive to work safer aka long term health. Maybe it is time to create a safety team, and I would lead that safety team.

Times here are getting though and grim. It seems like some people feel they are spent for the workday not even half way in their shift. This is a problem because it stresses out the warehouse team. Seemly multiple times a week someone is hiding from loadouts. There's little to no emphasis on lifting in the green zone. From my experience, I have been meet with hostility for working safely. Co-workers have mocked me for lifting a 16lbs bag of cat food or a 10lbs box, yet I have taken the high road.

I am no neurosurgeon, but I have read a book by a neurosurgeon. I have communicated with a famous neurosurgeon and modified my lifestyle. Reliability is another thing this local need but is not as large as a problem as health. A healthy sustainable life style is a marathon, not a race. I do not know how to fix said back complications, but I can provide on the spot training on lifting correctly. Maybe the next generation of workers will be persuaded to focus on reliable lifting techniques. Lifting is truly an art and must be mastered. It may take up to six months for the fruits to show.

Over the six months I will help men and women develop lifting techniques that can withstand the test of time. Back is one the strongest muscle groups in the body but NOT as strong as legs. I will straight up give diet advice and life style advice but let them figure it out through trial and error; there's a reason why my diet is mostly the same thing again and again. Over six months anyone I mentor will have what is called a base. They will have the muscle memory down. They will only drink green tea and water, and they will be a work horse who doesn't flinch at loadouts.

Creating a culture that promotes health is choice for this business. I believe you and I can create a wave of workers that will get the attention of corporate. I would like to document it if you decide to take this intelligent risk with the intent we can implement it to stores nationwide.

I am not a nutritionist, yet over my year plus working here I have come a long way. I was a fixer-upper. I had some biceps, a smile, interested in music and not much else going for me. I can provide before and after photos to prove what I'm about to say: I have reversed aging and look like my 22-year-old self again. Over the last eight months I have cut out alcohol, my mind is blossoming and I took an actual interest in books for the first time in my life. I believe cutting these unhealthy habits out has made me so much more of a cheer to work with despite the constant untasteful conditions thrown at me, and people not being friendly brings me to my next point.

I believe being unfriendly is evil, and an unfriendly person cannot provide legendary customer service. Another one of my unique strengths is building bridges. I build relationships with customers fast. I build sells fast. I get the customer confident and ready to checkout fast. I know my ABC's: Always be closing. I have gained status with the men in our community, and a bi-product is women respecting me. This plays into trust. Seemly a good amount of people who come into this store turn down others but opens to my request to assist them. I literally have people waiting eagerly to be helped while I'm assisting another customer. Customers promote the hell out of me, and I'm all about making that two thousand dollar sale in 30 seconds and believe I can teach everyone here the same tactics along with many other tactics applicable to the challenges this business faces.

Good health means some of this other stuff isn't that serious. Not to say reliability isn't serious but when lack of reliability doesn't end in a painful workday, then I walk away painless. Not to say selling fast isn't a priority, but having a crew of elite sells men focusing on ABC instead of avoiding loadouts while talking about dog food for 45 minutes. I believe people experiencing these back complications creates a hostile and painful work environment where the littlest problem gets blown out of proportion.

All these symptoms have a common root: health. I hope that we can work together to get to a point where the current major issues this store face evaporate and we have the luxury of worry about the small things like the feelings we have about each other. Perhaps there wouldn't be so much tension and hate if people weren't walking around with so much physical pain.

There is a masculinity war between me and some other men here hence the hate, however, this problem will fix itself soon because of the three guarantees of life I offer: Lifting incorrectly always leads to complications, smoking and exercise always leads to death and mixing without knowing what you're listening too is always a waste of time (lol for the last one). It is 2017 and this company needs to acknowledge as much information as possible to create an environment, another unique skill I offer of deciphering the bull shit, were men are not thinking highly of themselves for being a martyrdom for an

8-5. The future of this company should not depend of a man pity struggle fest competition that replaces men like clockwork.

Health and the future of this company is why I'm writing you today. The training videos are dated and do not work since they do not cover every type of loadouts. The training videos are general and unspecific and have seen them fail many people. I feel this is the exact forward thinking this company needs. I feel I have taken an intellectual risk, submitted myself to unchecked verbal abuse and physical threats by going with my decade of competitive sport knowledge. I feel I can influence multiple online communities to create a choice worker begging for this job. I feel since my step dad was able to create a training program that got national attention and implementation with the intent and did save lives in Iraq I too can save the lives, backs and the quality of lives for men and women employed by this company. Choose what you want to talk about and let me know.

Truly an intellectual risk that will greatly benefit all from the shareholders of this company down to the bottom of the totem pole.

I am writing this letter for three reasons.

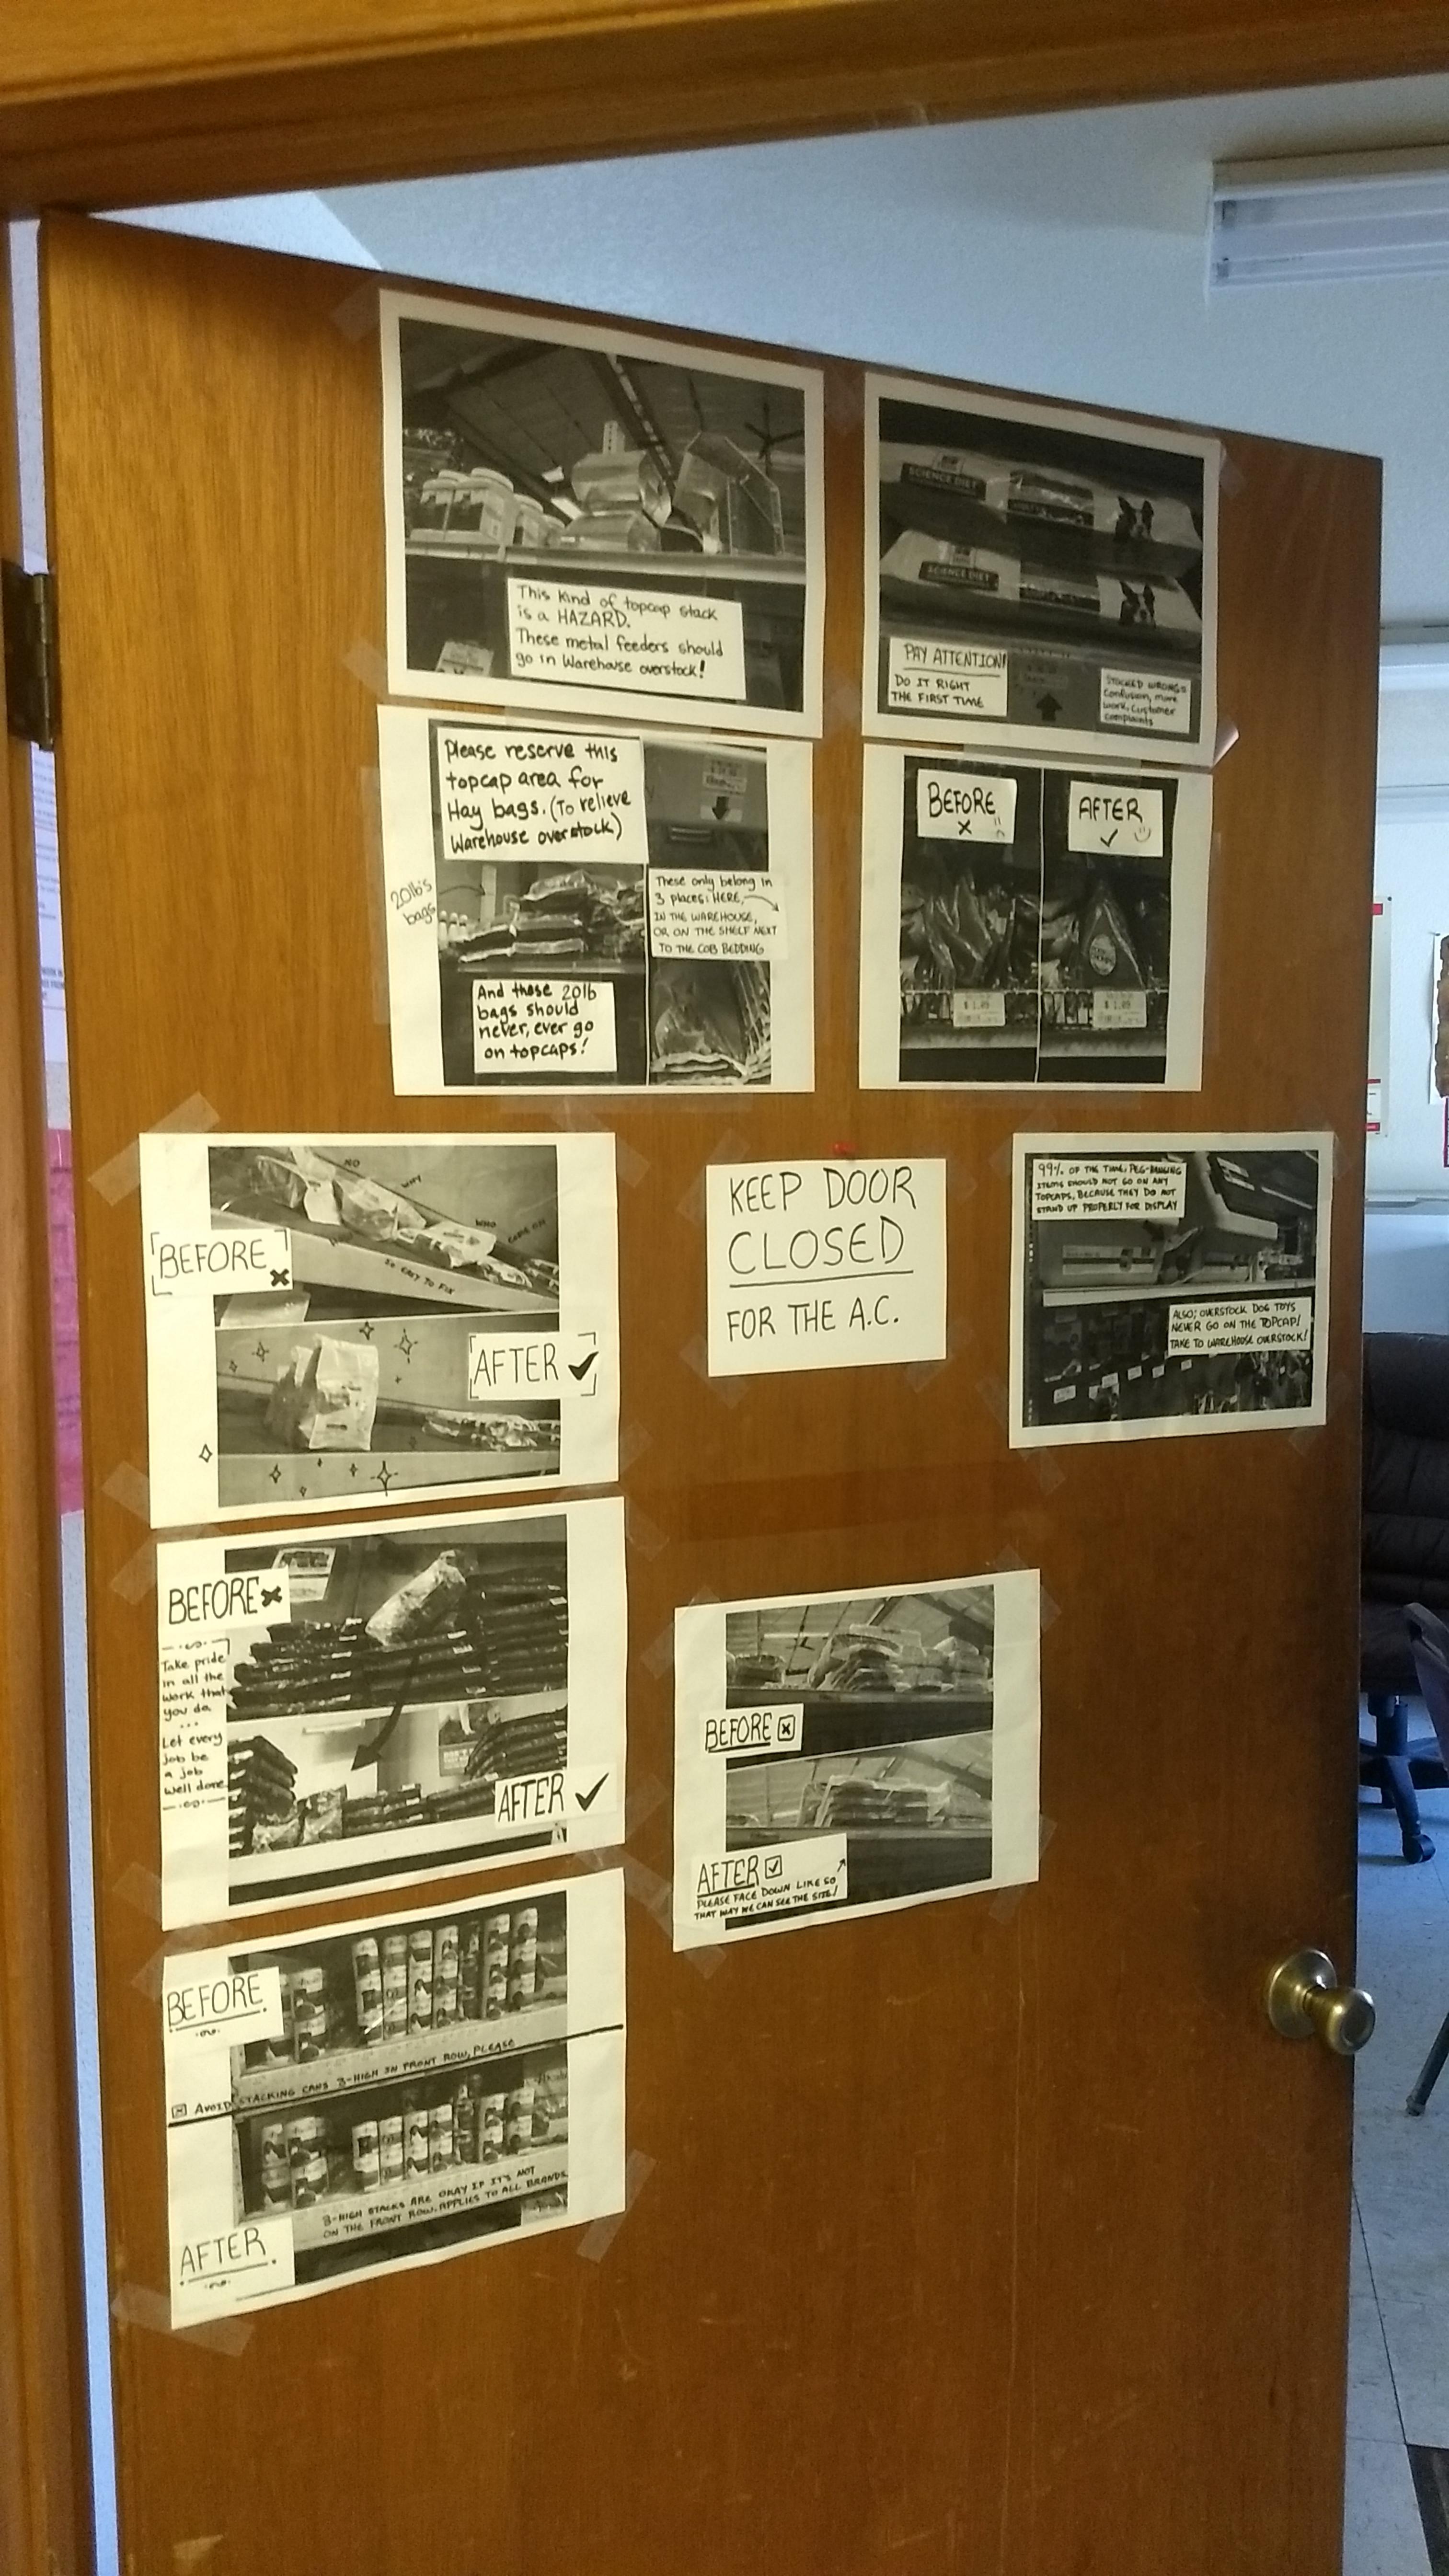

- 1. In 2017, I have dealt with a different public program. Shortly after submitting my paper work to that program, they contacted me via phone and one of the things they asked me was if I held any preferences based on my Religion. The only contact with this office, besides the initial paperwork, I have had was made by my efforts with the sole intent to communicate that I have a Religious preference for having a man on my case. I am requesting of you the same respect / reasonable accommodation that was offered to me before: I want a man on my case, for I am citing my Religion.
- 2. I have included the contents of the letter I sent to Robie.
- I would like to supplement and add more information to my case before my interview. The new document is the page with Shirene's date of hire.

Have a good day,

Shortly after 5:00pm large warehouse and loading dock 8-30-2017: Feste is working on a loadout of two full Tim's with a hand truck and Shane is on the loading dock working on a pallet of 25 cubes with the small forklift.

I check look out the large warehouse loading door to see if one of my team members can assist me and find Kyle entering the small warehouse looking around. I shout for Kyle's assistant noting that I'll only take a second. Kyle takes over Shane's loadout telling him to go home. Shane was only scheduled to 5:00pm that night. I call out to Shane asking for assistant. Shane starts to motion towards me. Kyle barks at him to go home. Shane walks away.

I try to reason with Kyle for assistant. Kyle calls me lazy, that I need to work harder and to shut the fuck up. After a few more attempts of my reasoning being met with him calling me lazy and that I need to shut the fuck up, I walk through the small warehouse to the loading dock to fetch a pallet to roll the two Tim's onto.

Kyle is on the forklift without backup warning sounds. I recall the safety poster at the top of the stairs that tells us something along the lines of "don't stand in a small space between a wall and the back of a fork lift." There's only a few feet of space between the wall and the fork lift's back. I freeze in an open spot for a second and Kyle gestors and is shouting at me to go. I say, "Man you don't value your own personal safety, you don't even have a seat belt on right now, why would I trust you with my personal safety." Kyle is practically screaming to me about how lazy he feels I am and that I need to shut the fuck up and do my job because he is safe. I respond that safety is my number one priority and express my concerns about his leg and back pains noting that he should listen to Jeremy, our new district manager, about customers having no right to complain about how fast we work long as they can see us working. He tells me to shut the fuck up again after calling me lazy. I tell him that Bob doesn't expect us to lift these full bales by ourselves.

Kyle expresses that whatever I say never makes sense. I ask him if he's been smoking dope again while on the clock. He says I smoke dope and everything I say is fuzzy and it escalates from there up to him hobbling out in a rush. Kyle walked out of his scheduled shift.

Bill, a former employee, has expressed to me that he quit because he couldn't stand it any longer how disrespectful Kyle is to him.

Mr. Bryan M. Feste 661A Railroad Hilo, HI 96720

Bryan M. Feste vs. Del's Farm Supply, LLC FEPA No. H-19821; EEOC No. 37B-2017-00296

The investigator assigned to handle the discrimination complaint which you filed with the Hawaii Civil Rights Commission (HCRC) has recommended that the case be closed on the basis of no cause. The case has been reviewed by the Executive Director who concurs with this recommendation. This does not necessarily mean that the problems you alleged did not occur, but that the investigation could not confirm those allegations to the standard of proof level required by the statute for the Commission to further pursue

Please be advised that this recommendation has been accepted, the processing of the case by this Commission has been closed effective January 3, 2018 and your complaint is being dismissed pursuant to Hawaii Administrative Rules (H.A.R.), Section 12-46-11. You now have the right to file a private lawsuit against Respondent in the State Circuit Court within ninety (90) days after receipt of this notice pursuant to Hawaii Revised Statutes Section 368-12 and H.A.R. Section 12-46-20, should you wish to do so. You are further advised that you should consult an attorney immediately if you wish to pursue this matter further. If you feel your case is strong, an attorney may well be willing to take your case forward because they are not limited, as this Commission is, by the requirement that the matter meet the required standard of proof level before proceeding.

Also be advised that a complainant may request reconsideration of this dismissal of the complaint only within thirty (30) days after the date of receipt of this Notice of Dismissal. (H.A.R. Section 12-46-11). The request for reconsideration must be in writing, must fully set forth the new evidence or specific reasons for disputing this dismissal and should be addressed to the Executive Director at the above address. However, please be advised that filing for reconsideration does not extend your 90-day deadline to file a private lawsuit.

Christal,

I worked at this location for over a year, and never seen a man hired for cashier duties. I have plenty of evidence to support this, and plenty people who I can call to support this. Maybe a decade ago they had men hired for cashier duties, but my entire time at Del's - Feed and Farm Hilo, Hi 100% of the cashier duties were held by women and 100% of the warehouse duties were held by men. They did hire a trans women for cashiering while I was their, but it's rude to assume her gender as male despite her claiming and identifying as a women. Garry Nelson -808-276-5447 has already been submitted to be interviewed on this, perhaps he can also speak about the daunting workload.

Giddeon 808-494-7684 can speak about what he's seen at Del's. Giddeon asked for my number one day after chatting with him about farm supplies. Giddeon has never seen a man cashier or a women do warehouse work during any of his visits to Del's since he moved to this island. Giddeon also saw Kyle unable to stand because of daunting work.

Mike 626-736-6101 can speak about what he's seen at Del's. He works for a farmer and visits Del's often. He's never seen a man cashier or a women move 50lbs bags of feed.

"§12-46-102 Bona fide occupational qualification (BFOQ). (a) The burden of proving that sex is a bona fide occupational qualification (BFOQ) rests upon the employer or other covered entity seeking the exception.... (3) The refusal to hire, refer, recommend, or consider for a position, or promote an individual because of preferences or sense of propriety of co-workers, the employer, client, or customer; or..." This is clear that they are discriminating on me for being part of the male sex because I have submitted evidence that shows 100% of the cashier positions are held by women.

The management did not try their best to accommodate me during my injury. Dr. David Maysonet 808-969-3139 can speak on this. Dr. David Maysonet did his best to accommodate me, not the management at Del's. He may also speak about what he sees regarding daunting work at Del's.

I have submitted the evidence suitable for the realm of The Hawaii Civil Rights Commision. With this letter sent on 12-22-2017 it is clear from 12-46-102 (3) that they have violated Hawaii State Law. The rest of my evidence is reserved for the court and social justice. I will take that right to sue letter.

Bryan M. Feste

Dear Mr. Feste:

Re: HCRC No. H-19821, Bryan M. Feste vs. Del's Farm Supply

This is to advise you that a preliminary finding of no cause has been recommended regarding your allegation that you not hired for a cashier position because you are a male. The investigation included interviewing witnesses and reviewing documentary evidence. The complainant, have the burden of proving that an intentional violation of the law you, the complainant, have the burden of proving that an intentional violation of the law occurred before the Commission can find cause. The review of all the evidence in this case failed to satisfy this required burden of proof.

The statements listed below may not represent all of the information that has been considered. They are a summary of the major points on which the closure recommendation is based. Any new relevant information must be submitted within seven (7) days from the date of this letter and should be in writing. Your response shall be carefully reviewed and further investigation done if necessary. If the new evidence does not change the recommendation, or you do not respond, then your case will be submitted to the Executive Director for formal closure.

BASIS FOR CLOSURE RECOMMENDATION

You alleged that you applied for a part-time cashier position by giving a letter expressing your wishes to transfer to Store Manager Bob Ogilvie. You put your request in writing because you had only seen females hired for cashier duties and males hired for warehouse duties. You said that Mr. Ogilvie denied your request because it would "cause warehouse duties. You said that you applied for a cashier position two more times in response havoc". You also claim that you applied for a cashier position two more times in response to new job ads. The store hired a new female employee for cashier duties.

There is insufficient evidence to prove that you were denied the cashier position because of discriminatory reasons related to your sex. Interviews with former Team Members and a Store Manager have proven that there have been men hired to the cashier position and women hired in the warehouse in the past. All of the Team Members interviewed had said that Team Members are responsible for a variety of duties, and women have worked the forklift and would stock freight even if they worked up front at the cashier.

The Respondent had a legitimate non-discriminatory reason for not offering you the cashier position. One being that there has only been one woman who has recently been hired to work the cashier, and she is a part-time employee. There have not been any recent full-time hired to work the cash register. Another reason is that the Respondent has provided enough evidence and testimony showing that you had performance issues when it came to customer service and interacting with other Team Members, and that it would not have been in management's best interest to assign you at the cash register at that time. It has been noted that management did their best to train you and accommodate you during your injury.

Lastly, the Hilo store serves a rural population and processes approximately three times as much animal feed and forage as the average Tractor Supply store. Due to the high demand for freed and forage, Team Members at the Hilo store are assigned to focus either on serving customers in the warehouse with load-outs of animal feed and forage and related customer service, or working the cash registers and providing related customer service in the front of the store. However, all Team Members are trained in all customer service in the front of the store. However, all Team Members are expected in both areas of the store as necessary to areas of responsibility and routinely work in both areas of the store as necessary to meet the store's demands at different times of the day. When help is needed in the warehouse, Team Members are expected to perform physical labor by picking up feed bags on a daily basis. This was not out of the ordinary for a feed store. Team Members bags on a daily basis. This was not out of the ordinary for a feed store. Team Members interviewed did not express that the physical labor was particularly daunting, and did not have issues with doing the work that was expected of them at a Tractor Supply store.

I understand your disappointment in the outcome of this investigation. However, the evidence I have at this time does not establish a violation of the statutes. Unless you are able to provide sufficient new evidence, the next step will be to complete Commission action and provide a right to sue letter to you. This will allow you to proceed on your own with an attorney in court. This does not mean that your case is not meritorious, but that this Commission cannot further process it and must provide you with the right to sue letter.

Sincerely,

Christal Phillips

To whom it may concern,

Bob really didn't want Kyle fired because Kyle works hard. No one at this location works smart expect for me: correctly lifting. Perhaps you should visit this location to see the pain in the men's, warehouse, faces as they work or as they walk; truly it is appalling and made me emotionally disconnect from my team members because all the men here are extreme masochist because that seems to be the culture the managers and leads promote: sacrifice yourself, don't dare try established lifting techniques or you'll be constantly harassed, and don't dare let a woman lift. Customers tell me multiple times a week something along the lines of "wow, you're the only one that lifts correctly, and that's insane."

On 9-1-2017 I saw the look on Bob's face as he lay backwards on a pallet of dog food with his arms above his head. "Ugh, my back" Bob says as Higgins responds while walking by with a loadout saying, "get back to doing loadouts, we need you Bob." Bob has always hobbled with his hips way off and spine way to the right. It would seem something happened, Bob's incorrect alignment of his back being thrown off, and now is hobbling in a new way on 9-2-2017. Perhaps the fall of Babylon is about a curve in a man's spine that should have never been: Once set the muscles do what they can to keep it that way but a slip can result in a grim fate for all to see with each step.

On 9-2-2017 we had a brief meeting in the warehouse that started with how we lost one the other day ad we all need to respond to loadout calls asap and take the initiative on dog food. It's untasteful that Bob, Kris, Scott, and the 5pm guy are too busy doing whatever else to follow these words. Perhaps when the managers give a pep talk to warehouse and use the world we they should note that if they are sweeping or unable to follow their own words it's because it's very important business. Rome collapsed because of shit like this: Men scared as all hell taking a dose of their own medicine. Thank God for the internet and the sharing of information freely. You should see the notes and letters on the white board in the warehouse, for it is sexist to assume woman cannot lift without hurting themselves. It is rich that the day Bob initials next a note that says customer service is the #1 priority, not safety, is the same day he is staring at the ceiling trying to stretch out his back on a pallet of dog food for all of us, and customers, to see.

On 9-2-2017 Scott assigned dog food to Shane and I was to support him. Dog food, I haven't done this in like half a year or more, and this task has broken every man's back who's done it. This location is either dated or the managers have it set up to a way that the bending/twisting mixed with lifting required to do the dog food task grinds spines in ways that ruins lives: IE see Kyle... this is retaliation. They say they use the space they have in the warehouse intelligible, but the facts are that some tasks break backs. I've seen what it's done to my co-workers. I can have people speak on things like the quality of life they live now after doing dog food under these conditions. These new job duties are forcing me to quit: bending and lifting always ends bad. The managers don't do dog food, they avoid it like the plague: has Ducky who's been here for like 5+ years, the same last name as Bob, ever done Dog food for a week to see what it's like? No, but she yells at men for working slow or in my experience working safe. I feel the current person assigned to dog food is grinding disk on disk in his back. The expression on his face, and seemingly all the other men, throughout the workday is disturbing and forcing me to pick up personality traits that no normal or reasonable person would endure. No reasonable person would want to see these expressions on their team members face while working a job.

The dark triad is a blessing and a curse, for it helped me dodge one of the grimmest fates of all and this job is imbedding some concerning personality traits that society does not openly condone, however, I am not a traitor and betrayal to my own kind, or anyone who is nice to me or willing to work with me, like the managers and leads & Angel at this location. I have found another job that pays about the same, and that job has actual opportunities to advance. This new location they use safety equipment religiously and have plenty for everyone ranging from gloves, lifting belts, safety goggles, to all kinds of machines to eliminate stress on the body.

I live with a parent who's worked a physically demanding job in the past and has had back surgery. I'm fully aware of the warning signs and the fate of those signs. I work at a location were people shop at seemingly because they are unable to lift the bags of feed themselves. I could help prevent the fate of lifting incorrectly for so many people, the authoritarian side of me, but the libertarian side of me says, "If someone wants to try to redefine masculinity after thousands of years let them because it's all fun and games until someone gets hurt, then it's hilarious." One-day Kyle is expressing something like "it feels like a screwdriver is being dug into this part of my spine" to Scotty in the warehouse and the next day Kyle said something like "I think I pulled something in my back getting out of bed this morning. There's this shooting pain in my leg right now," and his concerns were meet with jokes from a Team Member about pulling his groin each night trying to get into bed and Scotty escalating it to something like "I pulled it each night when my wife was out of town" and how awful it was because no one was there to rub it out for him. I was a few aisle's down watching a customer crack up by the dog food in response to hearing this. This culture of hate the managers promote is so unbearable, and me, being a compassionate human, cannot bear this any longer.

If you are really interested in talking to me, perhaps we discuss something that'll make me feel comfortable because if I can prevent and save the quality of lives from being ruined, I will do what I can for the greater good. Perhaps TSC will become a leader in business and become a living embodiment of the saying "Make America Great Again." We can work together to build bridges to make a lot of things great again, or we can just Make work at TSC Great Again. I digress.

Truly, this must be one of the most hostile work environments and expressing my concerns to management has laid on deaf ears. I contacted HR and the response I get are job duties that have broken every man, and woman, like clockwork who's take them on at this location.

I, Bryan Feste, am forced to quit in response to new job duties assigned by management on 9-2-2017.

I, Bryan Feste, have been employed at this store location for one year now. I am specifically requesting to be reassigned to casher responsibilities currently performed by other people with my job title, "team member." I appreciate the opportunity this company has given me and the positive evaluations, but the new job responsibilities will better suit my physical capabilities. I would like to avoid a repeat of my physical injury.

Bob,

We spoke briefly in the store room and you mentioned you see me having a future with this company, and today I am writing you regarding that future. When I was a kid my dream job was to be a personal trainer. I thought people would be all about personal health and it would be a booming industry, but the world I observed up to this point tells a different story: The expansion of Krispy Kreme. I have been employed here for over a year now. We have another store meeting coming up, and from studying glassdoor.com I have concluded that the problems that this store face are not unique, however, I am offering you today a few of my unique skills.

The main problem this company faces is health. I solely intend to focus on warehouse work. I now have a decade of competitive sports behind me. Imagine if I could replicate myself: not just another worker who does choke loadouts without complaint but a worker who can do these loadouts for years to come for every store location. I see a lot of potential in this company. I can tap into my online communities to promote and even write a short PDF / manual on how to achieve what I've done: To turn back the clock eight years in less than one year while making a buck. Being able to tell compelling stories to motivate and give the skills needed to young men to find Tractor Supply Co as a choice career is a unique skill I offer.

I am going to solve this problem by breaking down boundaries. I have successfully turned painful loadouts into painless loadouts and a bro-fist. After Brian and I did a loadout on Sunday he said something along the lines of, "well that was painless." I was like, "That's why I'm here brah, safety brah, and team work brah." Pat has told me to listen to Kyle and Brian on how to do things around here about ten months ago, but I do not see good fruit. In fact, I see another health-related problem that I can solve.

You can always trust a man to act in his best interest and that is why some people avoid loadouts when they are in so much pain. You are only as loyal as your incentives. Self-control is over rated. We need a stick and carrot. There should be accountability; we cannot bet but perhaps the winner of each week gets a bonus, and this would create an incentive to work safer aka long term health. Maybe it is time to create a safety team, and I would lead that safety team.

Times here are getting though and grim. It seems like some people feel they are spent for the workday not even half way in their shift. This is a problem because it stresses out the warehouse team. Seemly multiple times a week someone is hiding from loadouts. There's little to no emphasis on lifting in the green zone. From my experience, I have been meet with hostility for working safely. Co-workers have mocked me for lifting a 16lbs bag of cat food or a 10lbs box, yet I have taken the high road.

I am no neurosurgeon, but I have read a book by a neurosurgeon. I have communicated with a famous neurosurgeon and modified my lifestyle. Reliability is another thing this local need but is not as large as a problem as health. A healthy sustainable life style is a marathon, not a race. I do not know how to fix said back complications, but I can provide on the spot training on lifting correctly. Maybe the next generation of workers will be persuaded to focus on reliable lifting techniques. Lifting is truly an art and must be mastered. It may take up to six months for the fruits to show.

Over the six months I will help men and women develop lifting techniques that can withstand the test of time. Back is one the strongest muscle groups in the body but NOT as strong as legs. I will straight up give diet advice and life style advice but let them figure it out through trial and error; there's a reason why my diet is mostly the same thing again and again. Over six months anyone I mentor will have what is called a base. They will have the muscle memory down. They will only drink green tea and water, and they will be a work horse who doesn't flinch at loadouts.

Creating a culture that promotes health is choice for this business. I believe you and I can create a wave of workers that will get the attention of corporate. I would like to document it if you decide to take this intelligent risk with the intent we can implement it to stores nationwide.

I am not a nutritionist, yet over my year plus working here I have come a long way. I was a fixer-upper. I had some biceps, a smile, interested in music and not much else going for me. I can provide before and after photos to prove what I'm about to say: I have reversed aging and look like my 22-year-old self again. Over the last eight months I have cut out alcohol, my mind is blossoming and I took an actual interest in books for the first time in my life. I believe cutting these unhealthy habits out has made me so much more of a cheer to work with despite the constant untasteful conditions thrown at me, and people not being friendly brings me to my next point.

I believe being unfriendly is evil, and an unfriendly person cannot provide legendary customer service. Another one of my unique strengths is building bridges. I build relationships with customers fast. I build sells fast. I get the customer confident and ready to checkout fast. I know my ABC's: Always be closing. I have gained status with the men in our community, and a bi-product is women respecting me. This plays into trust. Seemly a good amount of people who come into this store turn down others but opens to my request to assist them. I literally have people waiting eagerly to be helped while I'm assisting another customer. Customers promote the hell out of me, and I'm all about making that two thousand dollar sale in 30 seconds and believe I can teach everyone here the same tactics along with many other tactics applicable to the challenges this business faces.

Good health means some of this other stuff isn't that serious. Not to say reliability isn't serious but when lack of reliability doesn't end in a painful workday, then I walk away painless. Not to say selling fast isn't a priority, but having a crew of elite sells men focusing on ABC instead of avoiding loadouts while talking about dog food for 45 minutes. I believe people experiencing these back complications creates a hostile and painful work environment where the littlest problem gets blown out of proportion.

All these symptoms have a common root: health. I hope that we can work together to get to a point where the current major issues this store face evaporate and we have the luxury of worry about the small things like the feelings we have about each other. Perhaps there wouldn't be so much tension and hate if people weren't walking around with so much physical pain.

There is a masculinity war between me and some other men here hence the hate, however, this problem will fix itself soon because of the three guarantees of life I offer: Lifting incorrectly always leads to complications, smoking and exercise always leads to death and mixing without knowing what you're listening too is always a waste of time (lol for the last one). It is 2017 and this company needs to acknowledge as much information as possible to create an environment, another unique skill I offer of deciphering the bull shit, were men are not thinking highly of themselves for being a martyrdom for an

8-5. The future of this company should not depend of a man pity struggle fest competition that replaces men like clockwork.

Health and the future of this company is why I'm writing you today. The training videos are dated and do not work since they do not cover every type of loadouts. The training videos are general and unspecific and have seen them fail many people. I feel this is the exact forward thinking this company needs. I feel I have taken an intellectual risk, submitted myself to unchecked verbal abuse and physical threats by going with my decade of competitive sport knowledge. I feel I can influence multiple online communities to create a choice worker begging for this job. I feel since my step dad was able to create a training program that got national attention and implementation with the intent and did save lives in Iraq I too can save the lives, backs and the quality of lives for men and women employed by this company. Choose what you want to talk about and let me know.

Truly an intellectual risk that will greatly benefit all from the shareholders of this company down to the bottom of the totem pole.

To day, 2-13-10a+ 8:15-8:22-AM I, BRYAN FESTE, popped my back while picking up a 10' 3"4" wood post that was wet. I pulled it tome w/ my left arm, proted & brought it UP w/ both a mas while extending out to throw it in the loading Container I must not of picked it up evenally beacouse while extending up of out I lagged on the left Side so I would not smash the wood on the metal pull. POP. I continued to do more wood post until a client handed me a load out. The during the loadout I squated up the half bale of Aflfa & felt pressure in my neck and pain followed on the other side. White pushing out the Cart my shoulders crightside has pain while on the Phone 8:33 -9:33 I noticed other spots as well. My knee from neck to hip & sore, pain in my shooter & pressure pain in neck by end of call. I've developed a head a che. My speech has declined. _ 10010 The connected dots are main areas of Soreness. 3+/10 Ret + 2 quim 4 TSC 1702239753

I am writing this letter for three reasons.

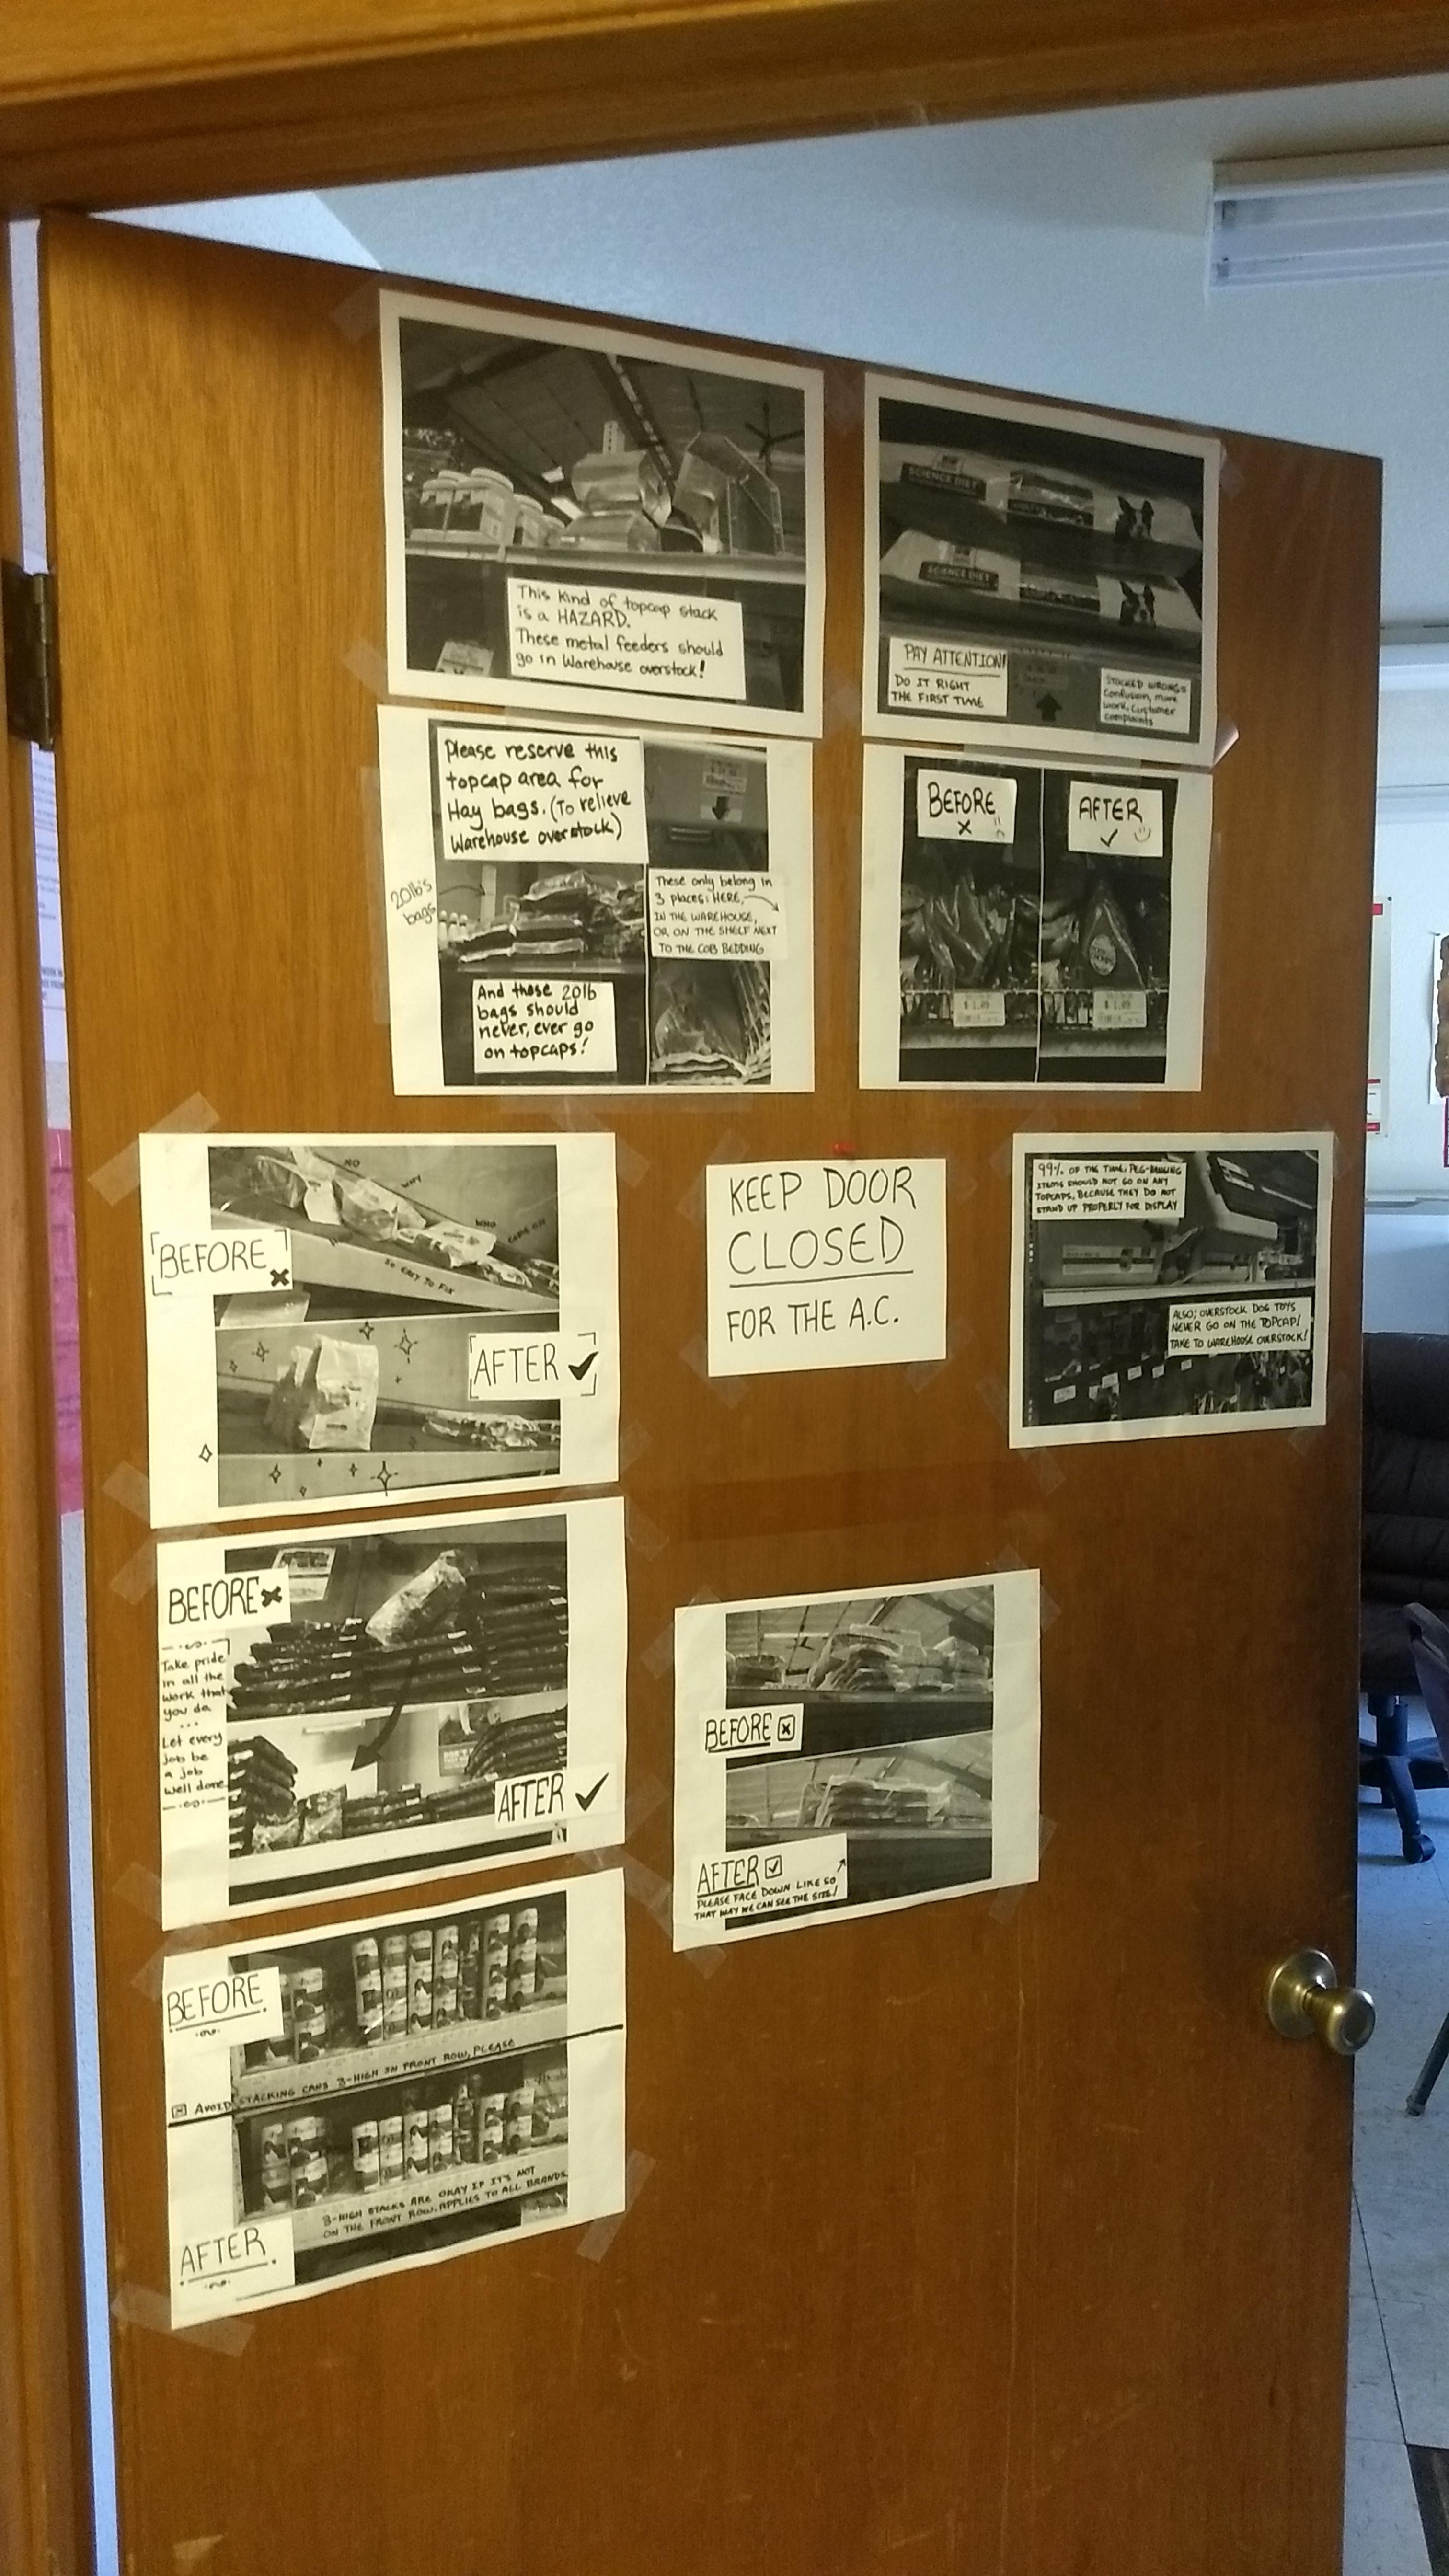

- 1. In 2017, I have dealt with a different public program. Shortly after submitting my paper work to that program, they contacted me via phone and one of the things they asked me was if I held any preferences based on my Religion. The only contact with this office, besides the initial paperwork, I have had was made by my efforts with the sole intent to communicate that I have a Religious preference for having a man on my case. I am requesting of you the same respect / reasonable accommodation that was offered to me before: I want a man on my case, for I am citing my Religion.
- 2. I have included the contents of the letter I sent to Robie.
- I would like to supplement and add more information to my case before my interview. The new document is the page with Shirene's date of hire.

Have a good day,

Signi Genson

Shortly after 5:00pm large warehouse and loading dock 8-30-2017: Feste is working on a loadout of two full Tim's with a hand truck and Shane is on the loading dock working on a pallet of 25 cubes with the small forklift.

I check look out the large warehouse loading door to see if one of my team members can assist me and find Kyle entering the small warehouse looking around. I shout for Kyle's assistant noting that I'll only take a second. Kyle takes over Shane's loadout telling him to go home. Shane was only scheduled to 5:00pm that night. I call out to Shane asking for assistant. Shane starts to motion towards me. Kyle barks at him to go home. Shane walks away.

I try to reason with Kyle for assistant. Kyle calls me lazy, that I need to work harder and to shut the fuck up. After a few more attempts of my reasoning being met with him calling me lazy and that I need to shut the fuck up, I walk through the small warehouse to the loading dock to fetch a pallet to roll the two Tim's onto.

Kyle is on the forklift without backup warning sounds. I recall the safety poster at the top of the stairs that tells us something along the lines of "don't stand in a small space between a wall and the back of a fork lift." There's only a few feet of space between the wall and the fork lift's back. I freeze in an open spot for a second and Kyle gestors and is shouting at me to go. I say, "Man you don't value your own personal safety, you don't even have a seat belt on right now, why would I trust you with my personal safety." Kyle is practically screaming to me about how lazy he feels I am and that I need to shut the fuck up and do my job because he is safe. I respond that safety is my number one priority and express my concerns about his leg and back pains noting that he should listen to Jeremy, our new district manager, about customers having no right to complain about how fast we work long as they can see us working. He tells me to shut the fuck up again after calling me lazy. I tell him that Bob doesn't expect us to lift these full bales by ourselves.

Kyle expresses that whatever I say never makes sense. I ask him if he's been smoking dope again while on the clock. He says I smoke dope and everything I say is fuzzy and it escalates from there up to him hobbling out in a rush. Kyle walked out of his scheduled shift.

Bill, a former employee, has expressed to me that he quit because he couldn't stand it any longer how disrespectful Kyle is to him.

Mr. Bryan M. Feste 661A Railroad Hilo, HI 96720

Bryan M. Feste vs. Del's Farm Supply, LLC FEPA No. H-19821; EEOC No. 37B-2017-00296

The investigator assigned to handle the discrimination complaint which you filed with the Hawaii Civil Rights Commission (HCRC) has recommended that the case be closed on the basis of no cause. The case has been reviewed by the Executive Director who concurs with this recommendation. This does not necessarily mean that the problems you alleged did not occur, but that the investigation could not confirm those allegations to the standard of proof level required by the statute for the Commission to further pursue

Please be advised that this recommendation has been accepted, the processing of the case by this Commission has been closed effective January 3, 2018 and your complaint is being dismissed pursuant to Hawaii Administrative Rules (H.A.R.), Section 12-46-11. You now have the right to file a private lawsuit against Respondent in the State Circuit Court within ninety (90) days after receipt of this notice pursuant to Hawaii Revised Statutes Section 368-12 and H.A.R. Section 12-46-20, should you wish to do so. You are further advised that you should consult an attorney immediately if you wish to pursue this matter further. If you feel your case is strong, an attorney may well be willing to take your case forward because they are not limited, as this Commission is, by the requirement that the matter meet the required standard of proof level before proceeding.

Also be advised that a complainant may request reconsideration of this dismissal of the complaint only within thirty (30) days after the date of receipt of this Notice of Dismissal. (H.A.R. Section 12-46-11). The request for reconsideration must be in writing, must fully set forth the new evidence or specific reasons for disputing this dismissal and should be addressed to the Executive Director at the above address. However, please be advised that filing for reconsideration does not extend your 90-day deadline to file a private lawsuit.

Christal,

I worked at this location for over a year, and never seen a man hired for cashier duties. I have plenty of evidence to support this, and plenty people who I can call to support this. Maybe a decade ago they had men hired for cashier duties, but my entire time at Del's - Feed and Farm Hilo, Hi 100% of the cashier duties were held by women and 100% of the warehouse duties were held by men. They did hire a trans women for cashiering while I was their, but it's rude to assume her gender as male despite her claiming and identifying as a women. Garry Nelson -808-276-5447 has already been submitted to be interviewed on this, perhaps he can also speak about the daunting workload.

Giddeon 808-494-7684 can speak about what he's seen at Del's. Giddeon asked for my number one day after chatting with him about farm supplies. Giddeon has never seen a man cashier or a women do warehouse work during any of his visits to Del's since he moved to this island. Giddeon also saw Kyle unable to stand because of daunting work.

Mike 626-736-6101 can speak about what he's seen at Del's. He works for a farmer and visits Del's often. He's never seen a man cashier or a women move 50lbs bags of feed.

"§12-46-102 Bona fide occupational qualification (BFOQ). (a) The burden of proving that sex is a bona fide occupational qualification (BFOQ) rests upon the employer or other covered entity seeking the exception.... (3) The refusal to hire, refer, recommend, or consider for a position, or promote an individual because of preferences or sense of propriety of co-workers, the employer, client, or customer; or..." This is clear that they are discriminating on me for being part of the male sex because I have submitted evidence that shows 100% of the cashier positions are held by women.

The management did not try their best to accommodate me during my injury. Dr. David Maysonet 808-969-3139 can speak on this. Dr. David Maysonet did his best to accommodate me, not the management at Del's. He may also speak about what he sees regarding daunting work at Del's.

I have submitted the evidence suitable for the realm of The Hawaii Civil Rights Commision. With this letter sent on 12-22-2017 it is clear from 12-46-102 (3) that they have violated Hawaii State Law. The rest of my evidence is reserved for the court and social justice. I will take that right to sue letter.

Bryan M. Feste

Dear Mr. Feste:

Re: HCRC No. H-19821, Bryan M. Feste vs. Del's Farm Supply

This is to advise you that a preliminary finding of no cause has been recommended regarding your allegation that you not hired for a cashier position because you are a male. The investigation included interviewing witnesses and reviewing documentary evidence. The complainant, have the burden of proving that an intentional violation of the law you, the complainant, have the burden of proving that an intentional violation of the law occurred before the Commission can find cause. The review of all the evidence in this case failed to satisfy this required burden of proof.

The statements listed below may not represent all of the information that has been considered. They are a summary of the major points on which the closure recommendation is based. Any new relevant information must be submitted within seven (7) days from the date of this letter and should be in writing. Your response shall be carefully reviewed and further investigation done if necessary. If the new evidence does not change the recommendation, or you do not respond, then your case will be submitted to the Executive Director for formal closure.

BASIS FOR CLOSURE RECOMMENDATION

You alleged that you applied for a part-time cashier position by giving a letter expressing your wishes to transfer to Store Manager Bob Ogilvie. You put your request in writing because you had only seen females hired for cashier duties and males hired for warehouse duties. You said that Mr. Ogilvie denied your request because it would "cause warehouse duties. You said that you applied for a cashier position two more times in response havoc". You also claim that you applied for a cashier position two more times in response to new job ads. The store hired a new female employee for cashier duties.

There is insufficient evidence to prove that you were denied the cashier position because of discriminatory reasons related to your sex. Interviews with former Team Members and a Store Manager have proven that there have been men hired to the cashier position and women hired in the warehouse in the past. All of the Team Members interviewed had said that Team Members are responsible for a variety of duties, and women have worked the forklift and would stock freight even if they worked up front at the cashier.

The Respondent had a legitimate non-discriminatory reason for not offering you the cashier position. One being that there has only been one woman who has recently been hired to work the cashier, and she is a part-time employee. There have not been any recent full-time hired to work the cash register. Another reason is that the Respondent has provided enough evidence and testimony showing that you had performance issues when it came to customer service and interacting with other Team Members, and that it would not have been in management's best interest to assign you at the cash register at that time. It has been noted that management did their best to train you and accommodate you during your injury.

Lastly, the Hilo store serves a rural population and processes approximately three times as much animal feed and forage as the average Tractor Supply store. Due to the high demand for freed and forage, Team Members at the Hilo store are assigned to focus either on serving customers in the warehouse with load-outs of animal feed and forage and related customer service, or working the cash registers and providing related customer service in the front of the store. However, all Team Members are trained in all customer service in the front of the store. However, all Team Members are expected in both areas of the store as necessary to areas of responsibility and routinely work in both areas of the store as necessary to meet the store's demands at different times of the day. When help is needed in the warehouse, Team Members are expected to perform physical labor by picking up feed bags on a daily basis. This was not out of the ordinary for a feed store. Team Members bags on a daily basis. This was not out of the ordinary for a feed store. Team Members interviewed did not express that the physical labor was particularly daunting, and did not have issues with doing the work that was expected of them at a Tractor Supply store.

I understand your disappointment in the outcome of this investigation. However, the evidence I have at this time does not establish a violation of the statutes. Unless you are able to provide sufficient new evidence, the next step will be to complete Commission action and provide a right to sue letter to you. This will allow you to proceed on your own with an attorney in court. This does not mean that your case is not meritorious, but that this Commission cannot further process it and must provide you with the right to sue letter.

Sincerely,

Christal Phillips

To whom it may concern,

Bob really didn't want Kyle fired because Kyle works hard. No one at this location works smart expect for me: correctly lifting. Perhaps you should visit this location to see the pain in the men's, warehouse, faces as they work or as they walk; truly it is appalling and made me emotionally disconnect from my team members because all the men here are extreme masochist because that seems to be the culture the managers and leads promote: sacrifice yourself, don't dare try established lifting techniques or you'll be constantly harassed, and don't dare let a woman lift. Customers tell me multiple times a week something along the lines of "wow, you're the only one that lifts correctly, and that's insane."

On 9-1-2017 I saw the look on Bob's face as he lay backwards on a pallet of dog food with his arms above his head. "Ugh, my back" Bob says as Higgins responds while walking by with a loadout saying, "get back to doing loadouts, we need you Bob." Bob has always hobbled with his hips way off and spine way to the right. It would seem something happened, Bob's incorrect alignment of his back being thrown off, and now is hobbling in a new way on 9-2-2017. Perhaps the fall of Babylon is about a curve in a man's spine that should have never been: Once set the muscles do what they can to keep it that way but a slip can result in a grim fate for all to see with each step.

On 9-2-2017 we had a brief meeting in the warehouse that started with how we lost one the other day ad we all need to respond to loadout calls asap and take the initiative on dog food. It's untasteful that Bob, Kris, Scott, and the 5pm guy are too busy doing whatever else to follow these words. Perhaps when the managers give a pep talk to warehouse and use the world we they should note that if they are sweeping or unable to follow their own words it's because it's very important business. Rome collapsed because of shit like this: Men scared as all hell taking a dose of their own medicine. Thank God for the internet and the sharing of information freely. You should see the notes and letters on the white board in the warehouse, for it is sexist to assume woman cannot lift without hurting themselves. It is rich that the day Bob initials next a note that says customer service is the #1 priority, not safety, is the same day he is staring at the ceiling trying to stretch out his back on a pallet of dog food for all of us, and customers, to see.

On 9-2-2017 Scott assigned dog food to Shane and I was to support him. Dog food, I haven't done this in like half a year or more, and this task has broken every man's back who's done it. This location is either dated or the managers have it set up to a way that the bending/twisting mixed with lifting required to do the dog food task grinds spines in ways that ruins lives: IE see Kyle... this is retaliation. They say they use the space they have in the warehouse intelligible, but the facts are that some tasks break backs. I've seen what it's done to my co-workers. I can have people speak on things like the quality of life they live now after doing dog food under these conditions. These new job duties are forcing me to quit: bending and lifting always ends bad. The managers don't do dog food, they avoid it like the plague: has Ducky who's been here for like 5+ years, the same last name as Bob, ever done Dog food for a week to see what it's like? No, but she yells at men for working slow or in my experience working safe. I feel the current person assigned to dog food is grinding disk on disk in his back. The expression on his face, and seemingly all the other men, throughout the workday is disturbing and forcing me to pick up personality traits that no normal or reasonable person would endure. No reasonable person would want to see these expressions on their team members face while working a job.

The dark triad is a blessing and a curse, for it helped me dodge one of the grimmest fates of all and this job is imbedding some concerning personality traits that society does not openly condone, however, I am not a traitor and betrayal to my own kind, or anyone who is nice to me or willing to work with me, like the managers and leads & Angel at this location. I have found another job that pays about the same, and that job has actual opportunities to advance. This new location they use safety equipment religiously and have plenty for everyone ranging from gloves, lifting belts, safety goggles, to all kinds of machines to eliminate stress on the body.

I live with a parent who's worked a physically demanding job in the past and has had back surgery. I'm fully aware of the warning signs and the fate of those signs. I work at a location were people shop at seemingly because they are unable to lift the bags of feed themselves. I could help prevent the fate of lifting incorrectly for so many people, the authoritarian side of me, but the libertarian side of me says, "If someone wants to try to redefine masculinity after thousands of years let them because it's all fun and games until someone gets hurt, then it's hilarious." One-day Kyle is expressing something like "it feels like a screwdriver is being dug into this part of my spine" to Scotty in the warehouse and the next day Kyle said something like "I think I pulled something in my back getting out of bed this morning. There's this shooting pain in my leg right now," and his concerns were meet with jokes from a Team Member about pulling his groin each night trying to get into bed and Scotty escalating it to something like "I pulled it each night when my wife was out of town" and how awful it was because no one was there to rub it out for him. I was a few aisle's down watching a customer crack up by the dog food in response to hearing this. This culture of hate the managers promote is so unbearable, and me, being a compassionate human, cannot bear this any longer.

If you are really interested in talking to me, perhaps we discuss something that'll make me feel comfortable because if I can prevent and save the quality of lives from being ruined, I will do what I can for the greater good. Perhaps TSC will become a leader in business and become a living embodiment of the saying "Make America Great Again." We can work together to build bridges to make a lot of things great again, or we can just Make work at TSC Great Again. I digress.

Truly, this must be one of the most hostile work environments and expressing my concerns to management has laid on deaf ears. I contacted HR and the response I get are job duties that have broken every man, and woman, like clockwork who's take them on at this location.

I, Bryan Feste, am forced to quit in response to new job duties assigned by management on 9-2-2017.

Christal,

I worked at this location for over a year, and never seen a man hired for cashier duties. I have plenty of evidence to support this, and plenty people who I can call to support this. (3) The refusal to hire, refer, recommend, or consider for a position, or promote an individual because of preferences or sense of propriety of co-workers, the employer, client, or customer; or..." This is clear that they are discriminating on me for being part of the male sex because I have submitted evidence that shows 100% of the cashier positions are held by women.

The management did not try their best to accommodate me during my injury. Dr. David Maysonet 808-969-3139 can speak on this. Dr. David Maysonet did his best to accommodate me, not the management at Del's. He may also speak about what he sees regarding daunting work at Del's.

I have submitted enough evidence within the realm of The Hawaii Civil Rights Commision reach. With this letter sent on 12-22-2017 it is clear from 12-46-102 (3) that they have violated Hawaii State Law. The rest of my evidence is reserved for the court and social justice. I will take that right to sue letter.

8-27-2017 character update email to Mens Center

On or about 7-25-17 I handed said memo to my store manager, Bob. Seemingly up till or about 8-14 he hasn't taken any action in response to my memo. Around 8-14-17 he received my Hawaii Civil Rights Commission discrimination case against him: I was refused transfer to cashier duties under the same job title, team member, because I was male and it would cause havoc; all cashiers are women and all warehouse are men; then he hired a new woman to fill the cashier role.

These are the events that stand out after him receiving said letter from the HCRC.

The assistant manager, the one who manages the cashiers and oddly enough has the same last name as Bob, was on the phone with corporate prior to me clocking in. She was spreading rumors that I was snooping outside the office listening in to the phone call with corporate. I arrived around 9:20 am with headphones in. As I was going up the stairs I heard someone coming down. I thought it was her, so I took a step back and turned again. I turned away because the day before she just started showing signs of ring worm ranging from her forehead, ear, leg and other places. The day she found them, she said it wouldn't spread but it did on her. She put horse hoof dewormer on her face and it had an allergic reaction causing a big red spot. I did not want to start the day/set the mood by looking horrified by what may still be ugly as hell to look at. I also turned my back since a couple weeks ago I was saying excuse me while reaching for a key to open a lock case and she sneezed/coughed in my mouth. She was turning around to sneeze/cough away from the customer; later in that day she threw up on her way to the bath room a couple times. I've been fighting some sore/whatever in my mouth since.

She was expecting a long call that would take all morning. It only took like 20 minutes. When I first applied to cashier position in writing, Bob the Store Manager, Talked to her for like two hours in his office. Bob later refused my transfer to cashier duties because it would cause havoc.

On 8-25 a team member said something like " my back hurts so bad that it feels like someone is grinding a screw driver into this part of my spine" the assistant manager didn't do anything besides tell the store manager. Hours later the managers both clock off and the team member completes his shift because he needs the money. while another assistant manager goes home early due to ring worm and feeling bad everyone is cleaning around them.

8-26 the team member said "there's this shooting pain in my leg going up and down. It hurts so bad. I think I pulled something in my back getting out of bed this morning." Another team member goes "ya, I pulled my groin getting out of bed this morning. Then i tried to get up again and I pulled it again. In fact I pulled it last night getting into bed while watching tv." The assistant manager, the warehouse one, joins in with groin pulling jokes. They made dick jokes in response to a team member describing a pinched sciatic never. The team member took many smoke breaks that day. and seemingly completed his shift again.

Said team member has said to my face he is racist against white people (he's half white) and that Trump supporters don't get it. He's said a lot more.

As I wrote before on 5-5-17 about the characters and events, I write again with how these characters have progressed down their path.

Store meetings. Bob has made it clear "Men stay healthy." Despite the men having the same job title of the female cashiers, this location needs men to do the work since the women stay at their pedestal "the cashier stand" like 90% of the day. Bob tells everyone that lifting 50lbs bags of feed on your shoulder is bad and not to do it or else. I was hired in May 2016 and men still do it.

The warehouse lead and assistant manager don't talk as often, however, he's taken an interest in taking smoke breaks across the street in a parking lot to take smoke breaks with one of the cashiers. He doesn't sign off on breaks and has taken breaks for up to 40 minutes smoking with one of the cashiers. The cashier lead will call for me him 40 minutes and act like she doesn't understand: She's a feminist and he's married to a feminist so he gets a pass. This dude embodies the saying "rat baster who's about to croke." I believe he's something else since he went from a full sized teeth to little tiny teeth. Also a team member has said "I think you're smoking too much of that stuff man." It's weird how some days him and the cashier can talk for hours on end after smoking while ignoring work while on the clock. His hands are still shaking uncontrollably. He constantly leaves a diarrhea mess in the bathroom; maybe he does double flush, maybe it's just bad. He calls out sick once a week and the manager lets him use one of his vacation days. During store meetings he said it's all about team work, then precedes to hide for 20-40 minute periods with another team member to smoke.

The older warehouse member, hired around November, put his two weeks in after being refused accommodations. I don't know the whole store, but him and I are on good terms. I will soon call him. Oh, and he wasn't as old as I thought, he's 45. Chewing Tabaco really ages people...

The hamster stopped running to the store manager with every little piece of shit he finds, since Bob doesn't care about the rules. He went from complaining about people taking bathroom breaks to having an ulcer in his intestine. He doesn't seem to be leaving blood in the bathroom any more, and this is nice. He's still drinking heavy and can't understand why it flairs up. His roommate responded to one of my CL ads about looking for a room. He didn't know it was me but I knew it was him: I'm not really stoked about the $550 a month because I'm tying to paint myself not as a ticking time bomb/ energy leach / annoying little bitch. I do value good people and a decent setup, so I'll check it out." He's got a set schedule so he can focus on starting a construction company. I guess hammers falling in people's face is normal for construction. He's showed up drunk on Sunday morning (day with no manager) and was blasted till about 2pm.

The psychotic extreme masochist regressive leftie who's racist against white people, despite being half white, is well. There's a lot I could say but the dates given prior sum things up enough: karma. Oh and he loves fucking his fugly girlfriend and throws it in my face that he gets laid and I don't. I'm MGTOW.

The assistant manager of the warehouse has said in two different store meetings something like "I know I did good somedays at work because I can barely get into my car my body is so stiff." He's made it into a full-time job to skip loadouts as often as possible. With his three years at this location, you can imagine he's pretty good at being a worthless to his team but talking like he's in the right. He's talking about selling his house. He's been married since like 16 or something. She manages all the money. He likes to buy organic food yet eats out for fast food or brings ham/cheese sandwiches with soda. It would seem somethings that seem to be "virtuous" are just talking points, not values. He has expressed a pain in his knee a month ago and that he's gonna take it easy for a day or two. It's been one month and you can see he's in real pain somedays. Did he too, like the fucking idiot who's about to snap, pinch a sciatica nerve? Workmen comp covers damaged muscles (up to 180 days) whereas joint/ligament takes like 270 days to heal. Really makes me wonder what all the workmen comp cases against this location include... how many were filed too late or failed to file correctly or were filed vs the next company that hired them.

A lot of workers here are looking for new work yet are so toxic they can't even get part time employment elsewhere. Something about the bible saying "it's better to live in a desert alone than with a nagging wife."

The cashier lead is a feminist but doesn't wear as much pink. She was talked to by the store manager about drawing again and came at me thinking it was me. To sum it up she said if we have a problem with each other, we should talk to one and another and not go to management. The dumb fucking slut bitch snitched on me the next week. She doesn't seem to understand sweet equity. Weird how the person who can't lift more than two 30lbs bags of feed without getting exhausted can't understand that. She did go on walk breaks for pokemon go for a few months. She's back to drawing more than ever. She now draws fat drawings to get praise from her assistant manager. She stopped reading after being turned off by some pro-feminist super hero power book. She talked to the new district manager about people taking too long during loadouts and he said "if the customer can see people are working they have no right to complain. In fact tell them they can get a refund and go someplace else." The cracks are beginning to show, around age 25, blue veins are popping up below her eye, legs, arms. Obviously she doesn't have to follow the rules about showing up on time or how to properly take breaks since she's putting on makeup.

The pathetic competition continues and the new cashiers are being met with hostility by the more tenor ones because they are often doing work related stuff opposed to doing each other's hair.

The cashier assistant manager has her own catchment and lives in a bus. Now she has ring worm, will she ever get rid of it? She calls out sick all the time. She has ear infections each week and she just started having double ear infections. Attendance is not a priority for women, despite having the same job title as men. It's a shame they, women, opt for a career only in checking people out because it will soon be automated. But no worries, I feel no woman should be allowed to be on public assistance due to "no employment" if there is a farm supply store close by. I believe this location is extreme but is a clear example: 100% of men do warehouse duties and 100% of women do cashier duties. It is time to close that gap. She gets paid almost $20/hr and cannot afford her medication on time. She has like 10 animals (farm store so think outside cats and dogs). She's really defined what a red flag is.

The store manager is a slip away from maybe never walking again. It must feel good living in a bubble. Hawaii is like 3000 miles away so he does what he wants long as it makes money because "money fixes everything." He probably wanted to fire me at one point or thought about it, but I literally do so many loadouts reducing the load for everyone else aka making the managers life easier.

The nick name of the warehouse part of the building is the dungeon, where men work and find whatever fate waits for them. This store acts as an amp. It amplifies habits to an extreme hence why no woman does warehouse work. Women live in the house, the cashier pedestal, and complain about a glass ceiling. "I can't believe our store manager didn't get the promotion to district manager" = translation "I wanted to be store manager." And the cashiers below her complain about her.

We got a couple new men working in the warehouse. After my workmen comp thing, I can look at how a man walks and place a bet how long till he's fucked for life. Workmen comp currently acts as a filter: filter out the betas and give care the alphas; cause Obamacare needs its money by any means: destroy people lives who just wanted to work for a living aka creating people to vote for more handouts.

I will crush my enemies totally. Perhaps men will protest outside this location and force the men to walk down the street with hand trucks of feed because parking is so limited at this location. I bet if we did this Wednesday the fucking idiot with rage out/collapse, the managers would hide/be unable to walk at one point, and the men left might die/collapse due to their unhealthy habits. Even on extremely slow days, these men look so awful. I mean, they went to workmen comp for back, knee and heart pain but the feminist Dr they met probably said try stretching, you look better than the average American.

I will write later about the doctors I met while going through Workmen comp... Her name is burned into my mind because of what she said to me.

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

Texas is to turn blue by 2024 due to demographics changes, and if that happens the US will never have another Republican President due to current demographic trends: The whites in Texas aren't getting more liberal, Mexicans and other minorities are changing the demographics. In the 2018 mid terms the Candidate is to pioneer new social technology and make it into a political tool to use nation wide: the mixing two extincting things together Internet BloodSports and Neighborhood Boards.

There's new phenomenon called voting my mail. 60% of Hawaii District 2 vote by mail. Liberals are really excited about this. What can Republicans do against this? Just like how people are voting by mail people will get their political news from Political Internet Bloodsports (Internet Bloodsports + Neighborhood boards). I cannot be seen to break my own rules (Republican rules), but I do need someone on my side who can break them for me when necessary. Political Internet bloodsports will host up to six people via google air streaming on youtube – ideally one left and one right candidate, a co-host, and three guest be it other elected officials, other candidates, guest from the district or youtubers.

This campaign is based upon a three point strategy: 1. Using Morton C. Blackwell public policy law # 9 as using a new popular youtube live streaming formats as political technology. 2. Focusing on engagement of youth with the intent of elevating their victim hood status and then to have them express moral outrage at the left. 3. Communicate candidates victim hood from recent Hawaii Civil Rights Commission case to elevate status to then use said status to express moral outrage and make a businesses for laws against being anti-white.

The campaign will focus on three primary issues: Attacking the rail project in the sense "they" want "us" to pay for their failed and grossly over budget luxury lifestyle of leisure transportation while "we" aren't even allowed to grow our on food, Agrarian social ideas to get "them" to pay for "our" gardens in response to this absurd claim to even ask "us" to pay for "their" luxury lifestyle of political failure. Talk about education of planting the seed of merging STEM and Agrarian social ideas ie having a smart phone in each garden in a decade to fix education in Hawaii. Secondary anti-civilian dis-armament, pro-religion of choice.

After 50 years of liberal politics in Hawaii, make it clear The Big Island imports 90% of the food. Make it clear that we need some millennial blood. My opponent Chris Todd and I are the same age yet I look a decade younger. Feste is the voice of the white working class, and he navigated workmen comp to get a new neck back and spine, worked with 14 hostile liberal coworkers and filed a Hawaii Civil Rights Commission case solely based on sex.

The Simple and conclusive answer is another question. If the Left have an unemployment policy, environmental policy, crime policy, education policy, tax policy, food production policy, etc then why haven't they been able to do anything in the last half century of liberal controlled politics in Hawaii besides fight with cities for highest coast of living that sell multi-million dollar condos to Amazon employees.

These liberals have everything to prove in Hawaii. Facts don't change peoples mind, this is a meme contest. This is a power play. In 2018 my youtube channel may only be my personal business, however, I hope Lawyers figure out a way to make this into a political tool to force elected officials speaking live in this format. About six months ago this format came up, about two months after it started the SPLC said shut it down, a liberal didn't show up for two months and now Internet Bloodsports is waiting for liberals to show up and argue their points live. This campaign plan will plant the seeds to force elected liberals speaking live.

Alinsky said every social movement must become a business and then become a ruckus.

There's a lot of thoughts in this campaign plan of they will discriminate to shut down making that social moment into a political tool / business: Current room, next room up and actual business location while planning to implement it in other states like CA, WA, FL, NY and prevent against things that would shut it down aka BLM, Antifa, zoning and code. This aims to be one big tool box.

If I get funding and lawyers to buy and build infrastructure great, I hope we can write the book on how to implement this in states like CA, WA, FL Texas, NY etc.

About two years ago NPR banned any person from speaking live who held a center right view. Even after heavy editing the talks might not air at all on NPR. A french Canadian who say his race become a minority in his own races nation emailed a popular youtuber and started hosting what is called Internet Blood Sports (IBS). There's no grand goal. It was a flaming shit show with people on the left and people on the right arguing with no guidelines with no intent besides having a live audience an opening statement and a closing statement and a host to keep them on track and often going above the four hour mark.

Rise from the ruins. Candidate was indoctrinated by a hard core violent cultural Marxist, Eminem. About four years ago Candidate started to learn how to produce music to produce his own rap music. Seemingly as soon as the candidate read more than two books in his life he rejected cultural Marxist without knowing what that was. As candidate watches the UN speaker talk about Syria he learns it's not about presenting facts, it's not about history, it's a lot like a movie script. Candidate feels that not only he is the the counter to this, he feels he can expand the leadership for this new dawn of media. Candidate has used Alinsky's methods of agitating people via IBS talking points and has had great success and feels he's ready to host Neighborhood Boards in his District, however, planning the infrastructure, renting a building, figuring parking, tech stuff and all kinds of codes is not rational at this point in time aka if you're looking to dump money into a project to get radically new political plan 2018, 2020 or 2022.

This plan will be somewhere between a serious setup and candidates current living situation. Candidate assumes form seeing seemingly every center right channel, every center right speaker, every center right leader, every center right Civil Rights Case, from what Alinsky said about the older generation having absolutely no spark, from the Mike Enoch saying he's talked to Republican investors, anyone with a spark or anyone who's got a flame going that they ALL get passed on by Republican Investors. Alinsky said that if someone thinks they can't do something then they've already lost, yet seemingly I'm here writing a business plan for people who seemingly deny where the battle is.

Some people say politics is a blood sport. Some say it's about name. Some candidates want to get their opponent unseated. Alinsky eluded to one must charge their victim status before politics and the public take their moral outrage seriously. Candidate while working in his district filed a Hawaii Civil Rights Commission case. Candidate worked through a neck back and spine injury. Candidate saw older veteran coworkers say 'I can't feel anything in my left arm' to cashiers asking him to go check on anon to make sure he isn't dead in the bathroom or that 'why doesn't just leave or die.' Candidate has seen men younger than him rupture a disk, pinch a nerve and scream out that they couldn't stand due to a pain in their leg. Throughout this campaign tool box there's a lot of strategy of how to agitate people.

I will host Neo-Neighborhood boards and ask questions in a series that agitate people at elected officials: Just like how the main stream media agitates the public daily in the new ways about getting Trump out of office, these Noe-Neighborhood boards are to get U.S. Senate, US House, Governor, Lt. Governor, state senate district, state house and county council out of office.

Candidate knows about the war on men and in instinctively navigated a fifteen on one dog pile where those fifteen had decades of experience and cooperate training classes. Candidate talked story. Candidate was the best at sells. Candidate was the best at lifting. Candidate is the same age as his opponent, however, candidate looks a decade younger than his opponent. In IBS you can literally see speakers going mad with anger as the paid chat room attacks their image yet alone ideas.

Candidate is to use his high testosterone to avoid empathy traps. Some people will say you can exercise after your campaign, I saw your low testosterone wont get far with voters. Candidate is to pick a main co-host that will empathy trap low testosterone men so that she or candidate can rip them apart in front of a live audience.

After the primary the goal is to force my opponent into Blood Sports vs me: Feste vs Todd Internet Bloodsports Hawaii District 2. This is an attempt to re-frame political debates: Buzz words don't survive unlimited timed live streams: "There you go again" - Reagan. The idea is that this is a grass roots alt-media movement for politics. State house rep vs state house rep. Then as senate, congress, etc run then they can call special guest be in members of their party, the public or other elected officials or candidates.

Political Internet Bloodsports offers something new to politics: those parties who partake in this new frame will get an aura of cultural tolerance whereas as it stands the liberal left, ADL, SPLC want to shut this type of live stream down. Ideally people will study how to win, yet as we see from the UN speaker it's all about twisting frame: Intellectual diversity will a rise. Candidate is to let his opponent show up in a non-state of the art setup and let the watchers cringe at his opponents aesthetics.

Week after week meme videos contest will be held with a big prize meme video contest two to one weeks before the vote by mail ballots go out. Youth will have said social media accounts banned for sharing this type of content, and ultimately these social media platforms will de-platform my campaign channel aka interfering with an election. The goal is not just to get more Republicans in but to have the locals morally outraged demanding Democratic elected officials sit down due to not being fit for office via arguing their points live online or in the least talking about said elected officials.

That feed store was a bottle neck for the whole Island, and the candidate learned to make people who live on 5k a year laugh. Candidate is extremely photogenic and has insanely high sexual market value from being the only one lifting at that feed store. Candidate grew up with a speech impediment and is able to switch between accents. Candidate went from listening to Eminem for decades, to being an Uber driver and talking on the fly and being rated on every conversation, going to al-anon meetings and learning how they talk, going to LDS church meetings and learning about the gift of tongues, talking story with the Big Island while working at feed store, talking story at The home improvement store to watching Internet Blood Sports: When it comes to public speakers, you want Feste. Feste does not only punch right but he would willing work on flow charts and other content to keep any right center speaker in the right frame.

Candidate hears the district 12 congress man feels he can unseat his opponent: I bet a lot of people feel this way out some congress or senate or judge etc. Using Morton C. Blackwell public policy law # 9 as using a new popular youtube live streaming formats as political technology.

With social media, personal networks, and special programs from the Leadership Institute Youth leadership school the candidate not only feel's he can lead the left voting base away from the liberal left in District 2 Hawaii. But he can break the frame of fake news.

>it's a trap

The candidate is assuming that the social media platforms will interfere with his campaign. He is planning for this. The candidate is pioneering earned media, IBS propaganda and agitating a whole district.

It's time to re-brand the Left for what they are. There is no better place than Hawaii to expose the Left for what they are and the path they make societies go down. Election after election Democrat candidates have sometimes ran without an opponent: it's time to harvest this fruit from the lefts elected officials in Hawaii and get them talking live straight from half a century of liberal left ideas.

>Stop respecting their narrative.

Candidate will host a range of events to first find common ground then find common ground on being morally outraged at the left. Candidate is to show up to the other parties registering events and focusing on finding common moral outrage: Live action role playing.

Candidate is to have emotional flow charts, semantic flow charts, all kinds of flow charts that lead to finding common ground with whomever or whatever group to agitate and build victim hood.

Candidate has talked story with seemingly every farmer in Hawaii before changing jobs to The home improvement store and has now talked story with seemingly ever contractor. When it comes to branding, when it comes to high energy, you want Feste on your side

Candidate is to get his district feeling like a victim after the kids are banned from social media for sharing his PIBS content. Candidate is to talk about his Hawaii Civil Rights Commission case and build one hell of a flame.

PRESENBT SITUATION (to be completed after the primary election horse-race poll)

Successful navigated workmen comp with a neck back and spine injury.

Successful worked over a year + at a very very busy feed and farm supply location and talked story with seemingly every farmer within 100 miles.

Successful filed Hawaii Civil Rights Commission case.

VOTERS GOALS

The 2016 race with Clif Tsuji vs Angela Kaaihue was like 88% to 12%. The recent census report it tells there are 16,672 registered voters. The over all turnout was 9801. The goal is to win by 88% of the vote or 8,625 voters.

In the 2016 Hawaii District 2 state house election Angela Kaaihue made person attacks on Clif Tsuji about his cancer. That personal attack may of seemignly skued the data, however, pan-asian pandering politics is now a thing. When Clif Tsuji passed away Chris Todd was appointed. Mr. Todd's website was just a photo gallery up until 4-8-2018 where it now has a thirty second video of him talking about how he's going to fix poverty, and half the video was Mr. Todd talking about how people should read some book. Signs in Hilo pop up for Napeahi. I check the website to find a dead link.

I find a weakness in my opponents that money cannot fix: their narrative is extremely short winded struggling to finish a thirty second video, filled with dying buzz words at best, monologue frame, their audience is a handful of extremely old low energy sheep while having literally the worst audio and video quality in recorded political history: they don't want people sharing their message online, they don't want people talking about their message and they don't want clear audio and clear video. Clear audio and clear pictures something this youth generation demands.

With census data we learn that the age group 15-19 is 1862 and 20-24 is 2170 or about 4000 people. The census data includes ages 10-14 of about 1294. This campaign will target these people or about 4300 people. Every kid has an iphone. Car companies target kids to make their parents buy cars, and we too can get kids to make their parents vote. Two areas in District 2 are 204 and 205 and have 40% poverty rate with 31% being a single female household or about 1507 potential voters. The lower age groups who cannot vote and the young voting age group will use moral indication to get their aunties, uncles, and friends of parents to vote for their future.

These two 40% poverty rate areas in District 2 can be targeted with longer video content.

Education and health make up about 32% of the jobs in Hilo. Teachers tell me parents expect the teachers to raise their kids.

As I go to LDS church events, I talk to one of the local teachers who's Japense. Him and I talk story a few times a week.

58.8% of the population in Hilo is registered to vote.

of the 8,625 registered voters 15.3% walk in 59.9% mail in 33.8% show up to a precinct

Youth will engage with aunties and uncles showing how excited they are for their future.

Candidate has talked so much story that he could find common ground on water yet alone actual issues like education, taxes and gardening. Maybe the pan-Asian card is to new to be played.

Appeal:

Involve candidate's history of working at feed store doing choke work and his HCRC case – the bottle neck for the Big Island when it comes to feed – of not only how much story he talked to the locals but how he didn't flinch at hard work vs how his coworkers hid and talked about movies. Muscle talks. Sexual market value talks.

>pushing Agrarian society ideas with a strong back.

Issues:

Anytime candidate is asked about specific details he'll respond "if the left actually had a policy about this, they would of done it in the last 50 years in Hawaii."

Stress Agrarian society ideas

- developing and maintaining a strong back to farm for decades without complaint
- pioneer low tech, medium tech and new tech mixtures
- become the STEM of agriculture to attract tourist and colleges

Stress education

- about 90% are graduating high school and 40% are still in poverty.
- Pioneer Agrarian ideas and write the tropical part of the book
- plans for mixing agrarian society ideas with current neighbor hoods to end people from salting the earth and using harsh chemicals.
- How much of their budget goes to non-English speaking students

Stress the rail

- The rail project has been going over budget for how many years and by how much?
- Funding will go towards pioneering Agrarian society ideas
 - 1. Writing the books to how to apply these methods to other local neighborhoods
 - 2. war vs fire ants, mosquitoes, and lung rat worm disease
 - 3. hydroponics, low tech, and gardens tailored to this weather.

Secondary goals:

- 1. plant the seeds to feed the population incase a USSR break down of the US
- 2. write the open source book of Agrarian ideas for the possible Omniseparatism states
- 3. anti-civilian dis-armament
- 4. pro-religion of choice

OVERALL CAMPAIGN STRATEGY

While I browse the census data I learn that a lot of the population only has a TV. A good chunk have internet and some have no internet. NPR a couple years back banned any guest who had a right view point from talking live, that sent up a in a French Canadian's head and thus Internet Blood Sports (Warski Live channel) was born where two people with opposing view points on a topic argue with no grand goal, with no point system, with no rules, with almost no moderation and no time limit.

After a month of this format, The Southern Poverty Law Center is making media saying this type of speech needs to be shut down. Youtube has shut down live streams with about 2000-3000 viewers. Youtube has deleted videos after they have finished. Despite sand boxing, shadow banning, etc some streams get 5000 people to watch a three to four hour flaming shit show. Channels have been taken down and lawyers are doing great jobs at keeping these channels open, however, liberals in general avoid Internet Bloodsports like the plague.

Every speaking event that the left has, candidate will roll up with equipment to host an IBS on the spot. How does one get better at Internet Bloodsports, watch more Internet Bloodsports. The default frame while debating without notes is "you're/that is anti-white." The only men on this island with higher testosterone levels are me are those on Steroids. I still get accused of sterioids to my face and have gotten really good at emasculating them. Low test men are more likely to feel the emotions of other people. Todd will sense my rage and he will lash out. A big mistake for I talk about my speaking skills throughout this. I don't know how meta you want to get.

Todd was seemingly appointed because he's mixed. Some kind of Asian probably Japanese and white. That makes up about 80% of the population in Hilo. Todd is rather ugly and really unhealthy. https://youtu.be/-gTRVKsBiSU?t=8m17s I link this video to show how peoples brains respond to seeing mixed couples. Todd is going to call me a racist, I'm 75% nordic and 25% pan-European Smith. Once Todd calls me racist it is my job to ask him to define racist, then call him anti-white and to the race realist meme. Race realism is a term used in Japan. Todd is going to try to play the pan-asian card and it is my job to play the pan-European card. Now it is my job to label those who play the whatever-card with no integrity who refuse to show on on Political Internet Bloodsports: "these racial communist want to make and vote on politics but nothing scares them more than speaking live without a teleprompter. These people are intellectual dis host and have no integrity. They should be removed from any public office."

The Warski live channel has been shut down again and again. The Warski has joined an organization that fights to keep their channel open – where the audience is – and has done a great job keeping the channel up and running while covering all kinds of topics until no liberal guest showed up for a month on end. Within an hour the liberal team with masters in biology conceded their point of view to a couple youtubers with about 20,000 subs.

There are back up channels and back up websites, however, the point is not to go to a website, the goal is to stay where the audience is. These social media platforms didn't do anything special and they want to completely rain over the content on said platforms. This campaign also plays into the war for free speech and free speech is now online. Free speech means nothing if you have no audience, don't lose your job, or get sandboxed.

As I watch Russel Rudderman content I sense weakness: his talking points are low energy buzz words and can barely give a couple minute speech. Mr. Todd had a difficult time talking for thirty seconds about a book, and in Internet Blood Sports telling someone to read a book drives the audience crazy with hate for said person for not being able to verbally express the idea. There's plenty videos of when someone mentioned a book and the other or the host will say "if you're unable to talk about the ideal from the book then why do you expect me to read that book? I literally could recommend a life time of books you have to read and you expect me to stop and read a book in a live debate?"

Candidate is to pioneer innovations in earned media with the goal of ending legacy media. Internet Blood Sports isn't just bloody in the sense that careers have been ended and youtube channels with 1 million subs have been dealt a death blow and are bleeding (losing subs and monthly funding) heavy. But the fans really engage with the guests to say that some guest get hard core fans while others get their life work reviewed with extreme prejudice on a daily basis by someone. During my Leadership Institute youth leadership school they showed us a story of some liberal who worked with the Republican party to expose his party of fraud. Political Internet bloodsports is all about agitating districts.

Hilo youth will share content and videos to find their social media accounts banned. Non-Europeans react to their freedom of speech being censored differently than Europeans. As these non-Europeans express their rage for being censored perhaps these anti-white whites in Hilo will wake up, and perhaps this campaign will be lucky enough to capture said reactions and use it as a national tool. However I see this not happening because "You should have budgeted for it."

I want to give out pocket cameras to prominent students. I want to give these to choice volunteers since I'm expecting them to get people in their face for supporting me: it's a shame I will have to train these people how to respond and cannot capture all their awesome and amazing results for the internet to see due to budgeting sheckles for eight months. Volunteers loose stuff and it's a shame we're going to loose that content.

Candidate is to pioneer innovations in youth social and earned media leadership with the goal of raising kids to influence their parents how to vote. Candidate is to show the nation of a grass roots movement that's happening in Hilo, Hawaii with the goal of engaging other elections nation and world wide. A republican candidate went to interview the schools and they had the same message year after year in the hall way: end school violence and more money. Candidate is to agitate the kids by asking them how much they think their school budget is spend on kids that don't speak English and then telling them how much is taken out of each of their too be pay checks. These kids are apathetic. They seek a strong masculine role model: authority is commanded, not demanded.

Candidate is to pioneer aesthetics. In the Nixon vs JFK debate on the radio, it was clear who won but on the TV it was close. As I watch media from Rudderman and Todd I learn that they have no clue what they are doing at besides the underline message of "do not share this video." Delivering the message is key: youtube, twitter, facebook, instagram all have different compression algorithms, and on top of that android, android and laptops have different compression algorithms. Compression algorithm the the breath out of music and make it flat and often distorted. Whereas Candidates audio and video is the best for all platforms, his opponents trust walking up to a mic to read off a teleprompter. Candidate is to deliverer professional audio and video.

PewDiePie and other memes can be harvest for the right to show how much more energetic, high testosterone, excited about life, attractive, great sense of humor and willingness to talk and debate anyone, however, getting a spot to host people is... complicated. I'll seemingly need to rent a spot down town and through trail and error find a landlord that's Republican. I'll seemingly need to hire staff to host said guest. I'll need equipment and other stuff for that area. I will try to keep my personal location and bulk of gear hidden since there's an audio engineer I know who tells me people have to keep their big studios on the down low because some local guys like to come and play chief and steal all your stuff. I assume maximum discrimination due to experiencing filing a HCRC.

There's just so many facets to this plan. Say I send out a mailer each week until Todd shows up to vs me in Political Internet Bloodsports. Then how many mailers do I have to send out to get the congress person to show up? How many facebook ads do I run? Can I get said pan-Asian Congress person laughing at a white student that she doesn't care what happens to the white race?

Candidate has networked with a legendary rock producer on the Big Island and is to get him to set the dials on the too be listed gear.

Candidate is to get youtube to interfere with a political election via free speech and getting a big audience. Candidate is to pioneer leading youth to socialize major platforms like youtube, twitter and facebook. There's an underlining goal about socializing major platforms before they competently censor free speech.

Strategy: While doing a years worth of hard labor at feed store candidate tested different ways of speaking to advance his self produced rap music: Candidate had a slew of locals to get results with. While at feed store, the bottle neck for the island, the candidate had lots of chances to talk story with people who lived on $5k-10k a year: if you can't make someone laugh who makes a living throwing food on the ground... Candidate talked to all kinds of farmers, pet owners, dog moms, aunties, big time contractors and small struggle contractors. Candidate could literally ramble off mid sentence and slow back down and have customers gloating to each other that I made great points.

I mean asking Chris Todd about his union ties on a live unlimited time youtube stream is cherry.

While at feed store the Candidate focused on testing new ways of talking in the sense that the only way out he saw at that time was to rap – Candidate forced himself to speak in new ways, to swing, to slow down and speed up, and stress stuff here and there and became the best sells men to the point where other co-workers told him that if they all got paid commission – he'd be getting paid the most.

One of candidate tactics was to use Trump's talking points on the wall to sell fencing. Candidate could make all the same talking points or about the same to one of the most liberal cities and have customers buying way more fencing then they needed to keep those pigs out.

- >Candidate learned to stay in his frame despite people trying to change the topic.
- >Candidate has seen people grit their face after switching the topic still knowing their in his frame.
- >Candidate grins at the new topic while his opponents are driven mad in front of him.

Candidate is to blast his opponent for never talking in pigeon and question how in tune are they with the neighborhood and suggest they get paid to workout at a feed store. "Feste da can. Todd no can."

While at feed store the candidate was the only non-left person on the clock. Candidate tested ways to respond in his frame while using their buzz words and could see the disgust on the lefts face as candidate gleamed in joy. Candidate learned a lot about buzz words and how to stay in his frame relentlessly.

Candidate will focus on getting youth excited about working towards a future without fire ants, lung rat worm, mosquitoes, not importing 90% of the food to the island. Candidate will suggest they like how youth designed the American flag, they compete and work with each other to send Agrarian society garden designs to the East Hawaii Master Gardeners society – or whatever organization that rises: aka innovation in the STEM field from k-12 + college.

>Candidate is to blast his opponent for using the same recycled buzz words for the last half century while promoting hope in a path that's bearing no fruit. Literally no fruit. It's time to get the left speaking live and try to harvest their buzz words in an unlimited time frame live stream.

Candidate is to talk about his time in workmen comp for a back related injury and getting time off at a very very busy feed store, and how he maintained and built a strong back and had his Dr telling him he's the idea patient. Candidate will push the ideal of how to maintain a strong back as to never flinch in pain lifting anything ever again from this generation on.

>Candidate has a lot of ammo like being able to talk on the War Against Men and anti-whites.

If you want proof of the war on men, go to your local national feed store or store that sells concrete that has workers designated to loading 50+lbs objects into customer cars and ask the whole team how long they've worked there.

Candidate will talk on his Hawaii Civil Communion Rights case & the future the left has for their son at the booths mentioned above.

Candidate's step-dad was the president of East Hawaii Master Gardner society until some group decided to start their own group. One group has all the funding while the other has all the knowledge. Candidate may have a fresh team of volunteers with decades of experience. Seemingly the local city council is taking gardening into their own hands.

Special events:

Pools: Candidate will set up meeting outside swim event at Kawamoto pool with 'coach' who saw him progress from one length of the pool to 10 minute non stop lap swimming: have 'coach' and candidate and his admiring youth join the picture. Have candidate's meet with parents until he's shooed away. Candidate is on very good terms with all life guards.

Beaches: Candidate will show off his body from focusing on not getting injured and try to start a new fitness meme in Hawaii: get fit by lifting bags of feed. Candidate will invite different groups, LDS, Hawaii's finest, Metal Mulisha. All with the intent of pushing Agrarian society ideas.

Candidate is talk about how glade he is to have freedom of religion and flirt with loving Nordic Paganism and seeing one reflection of the one in the Book of Mormon.

Candidate, who's Nordic, will talk about his experience learning about European roots and how much he loves western society ideals to European people. Candidate will say "if want to send your kids to a white school, you too have white identity."

Candidate is to ride the MAGA wave in Japan and not hold distasteful signs like Angela. Candidate is to speak about how he loves cultural diversity and hopes to see how different Japan is from the mass produced current consumer society.

Candidate is to talk to Hawaiian's about what if Omniseparatism and developing farms.

-Candidate will talk to the brands and other figure heads: common enemy, common walls.

Candidate is to encourage people to sign up and use moral indignation on youth to create pressure on their parents or aunties to vote for a future they want.

The last time candidate did no-fap for 60+ days his mom reports that it was weird talking to him, for he seemingly spoke in scripture. Despite Hawaii being Left it has a high amount of Christians. Chris Todd is a Christian.

Candidate is to use his Hawaii Civil Rights Commission case to elevate himself to victim hood status. With this in politics he will use it to label the Left in Hawaii as Anti-white. Ultimately candidate is to start the ADL for anti-white. Candidate is to not only start a few businesses for himself but work to publish work to establish other nodes.

https://youtu.be/hH5Mu8vBzrk?t=1h28s We see Alinski talk about love and how people would love to see you do because it meant that you're not going anywhere and they can go on doing what they want without being concerned about you. Candidate is willing to never work another normal job in his life, and at 1 hour and 2 minute and 55 seconds you see the European world population srink. From this video we also learn to use the term anti-white.

https://youtu.be/iP0WOfVD_M8?t=9m44s till 11:50 we hear about where the war is on these social media monopolies. This campaign will wage war on these monopolies by getting his campaign interfered with and by getting district 2 youth to share his content and to get their accounts banned.

https://youtu.be/ffv8V111ReU?t=2m7s until 4:47 we learn about race and politics. I see why my opponent was appointed. He's seemingly half Japanese and half white. My district is 40% white and 40% Japanese. If you consider Hawaiians and others to be pan-Asian. Seemingly my opponent covers 100% of the race, however, in China, japan, and other areas of the world the term race realism is putting an end to the word racist. If there is one thing I can do is help continue the brand that Donald Trump started: high white testosterone.

https://youtu.be/eiJg0C1WJhE?t=12m7s till 13:42 we learn that these liberals really do not want the right using demographics. Hawaii is the only state that non-white Hispanic men didn't vote for Trump. So many memes and videos will be made interviewing these self-hating anti-white whites, and these videos will be used by whatever youtubers to fight from Texas going blue aka never having another Republican POTUS due to demographic changes.

https://youtu.be/WHzYsit7-vo?t=19m50s until 23:50 we see Texas turning blue in 2024. Radical action must be taken and PIBS is what I offer, and there's no place on the world to move. And you're probably officially registered somewhere in the system as a Republican. Diversity only exist in nations founded by European descents. There's no place else in the world to go. https://youtu.be/ffv8V111ReU?t=7m29s till the end. Since these non-hispanic white men didn't vote for Trump in 20216 in Hawaii one of the things in my tool box is to interview and expose them as much as possible.

https://youtu.be/XD0lxNiZ7mE PewDiePie is getting political. It's time to make some political memes. It's time to label the Right as the party of memes. Reviewing Hawaii District 2 news and mixing in memes. As we can see there's plenty of youtubes who have successful screen setup. We can photoshop Brendan Fraser face onto my opponent. Even PewDiePie is waging war on Hollywood.

https://youtu.be/bIJUmApIRao?t=45s Videos like this have great Trump talking points. One of the points of live streaming is to hit talking points that will be chopped up into videos like this later.

https://youtu.be/fJNdKI3KB6k this video is just good. This campaign will get youth talking. Candidate will not criticize youth but let them just talk and talk. Candidate is to find local youth to join in PIBS vs his opponent. Candidate is to find local youth and get them to argue with liberal left elected officials.

https://youtu.be/FTSvLKY7HEk this campaign will pick up on memes like Soy boys. Candidate is to get his opponent willing to take a testosterone blood test and compare it with his. Todd and Feste are the same age yet Feste looks a solid decade younger than Todd. Feste is to make it clear that these low testosterone young men don't even vote the same way as their 85-100 year testosterone counter parts vote.

https://youtu.be/jXQLUVDOhyo?t=9s we're going to capture and live stream some grade a content in hawaii that will be used in the 2020 election. Every candidate in future campaigns should be given a pocket pen camera because so much grade a content has been missed while collecting signatures.

https://youtu.be/8M7KGe2UnmE candidate will interview people from District 2 and have them fill out buzz freed surveys and laugh at the insanity.

https://youtu.be/WCwC7P7S_MY even Milo is picking up on this IBS format. He would seem to have someone working behind to scene. Milo seemingly has an actual studio just for this. It's silly to think I have to budget pennies for the next eight months. What about renting insurance? What about having back up gear to keep the show going while I argue with insurance companies? What happens if my home address gets doxed and I'm dealing with violence on a daily biases? What happens if I rent a studio to host guest at and the landlord decides to shut it down? What happens if the house I'm renting decides to exercise their right to end the lease regardless of fines? What happens if one I get a congress man on my show speaking live and they train wreck for 10 minutes? Am I to budget how many mistakes they are going to make during an hour of live stream? I hate this egalitarian brotherhood communist way of thinking. This is war and I'm not trying to spend all my mental bandwidth counting and worrying about sheckles. Alinksi said you make a social movement and then make it into a business. I guess the question is will you to still be proud of your pile of sheckles after no nation will home you, your kids and grand kids.

https://youtu.be/G_-wsgpVUlY?t=1m51s We see the one of the most popular IBS streamers are hitting a wall of technology. I originally was thinking about not going for a top end computer and finding one that wasn't over kill, however, I am going after CNN. This content cannot be hindered by technology when these liberal are trying to take away our right to bear arms. Why can't these streamers get any money?

https://youtu.be/hH5Mu8vBzrk till 54:43 this clip is to show that right is evolving. Jordan Peterson and these other figures who are trying persuade people not to vote in race but ideology, yet these people audiences is overwhelmingly white. If you have a nation of ideas while other nations claim blood and soil they will move to your nation and soon you will have no blood and soil and your ideals and blood will die out. This Christian egalitarian ideology either die out in peace in a white nation or end up in the funhouse of these racial communist and be feed the lions until the end of time or so to speak. Remember only in white founded nations is diversity allowed. Other nations like Mexico have laws against messing with the states demographics, so maybe if you're dead set on being an egalitarian Christian you should try to jump the gun and move to Brazil or some other place in South America where they are overwhelmingly Christian.

https://youtu.be/hH5Mu8vBzrk?t=56m9s till 58:08 talks about agitating people and how often useless old people are. Luckily there's a lot of old people in politics. Internet Bloodsports goes a good job at agitating people. Political Internet Bloodsports will force elected officials into this frame, and this is a peaceful way of radically changing the elected officials to prevent world wide Zionist globalist racial communism.

https://youtu.be/ljMPafQpfDU celebration of the Jewish people.

https://youtu.be/WLr9noZqwMY?t=58s It's important to get a setup that can be used for streaming like this. Say Todd or a local congressman goes on a tv and does something, it's then our job to play / pause said content and review it for the district.

https://youtu.be/ZjMEJC5Dffw videos like this are full of good talking points.

https://youtu.be/07qZDuxXSsk Neighborhood Boards / Political Internetblood sports will be a no apologies, no arguments, no explanations, it's sole purpose is to get people agitated to the point of removing elected Left officials from office.

https://youtu.be/VeqH7fjX8qw?t=50s neighborhood boards / Political internet bloodsports will favor confrontational or aggressive manner in which a social environment is maintained. We learn that culture is constently being forced on us by the mainstream media. This campaign plan will counter that with an aggressive debate format that the left has already proven that they are scared of by refusing to show up and talk. This new social conversation will cross pollinate similar organisms.

https://youtu.be/-6dNin-p1Kg?t=1m57s PewDiePie has been kicked out multiple times. He gets a noise complaint and has to move out the next day. I'm expecting if this picks up for either all my stuff to be stolen and or kicked out due to noise complaints especially if this starts to pick up.

https://youtu.be/UO0pQ55NnSY The next two videos go hand in hand. I forget the location of it it was

I will be doxed and will have to move.

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=-jWQLlxLAjI&bpctr=1525478835 video two of two.

CAMPAIGN ACTIVITIES

The activities of this campaign comprise primary of social media. During training I was told that in future social media will be used as the primary method of elections. However 2024 Texas will go blue. 2020 is going to be rough and even during 2018 these liberals are trying to get as many impeach Trump people in office as possible. From the Alinksi video clips from above we learn that offering them a "better way of living or love" is what they want us to do. Alinksi will say if you think you can't do something then you've already lost. 50 fucking god damn years after Reagan gave 4 million Mexicans amnesty and they still haven't felt compelled to vote Republican. If I win or lose I still help the Republican party. Some people will say promote a ten year plan. I think a ten year plan is a good way to get content not doing anything because if you put your mind to it you should be able to get that ten year plan in three months. Within three months I will have a PDF to hand the Republican party pertaining to using social media to get liberals out of office and ultimately Republicans elected.

If social media shuts down the political argument between the two parties, they have opted to have these social media platforms socialized. Free speech means nothing if no one hears it. The town halls have moved to facebook, twitter, IG and youtube.

>if one of these companies shut down my campaign or interfere, they have fallen into a trap.

I will send a mailer out to every registered voter in my district to let them know a private special interest group / company interfered with my campaign. Again expecting me to be able to budget sheckles for every new to be registered voter this year is insanity.

I rather not wave signs. I would rather wave signs until I have say 1000 weekly local viewers from Hawaii on my live stream then start to ask said people what type of content do they want to share my message to their friends and family or ask them what type of topic do their friends and family usually watch and if I can offer that.

Yard signs, bumper stickers, stickers, hats, etc all this stuff would be better known if I had the walk app. Since I have access to this app I have been working to develop new social technology to use instead of the app.

Candidate is to walk say one hundred hard right houses and have out a flier with info: Discord server, twitter and youtube channel with the event timing schedule. Candidate is to get these people to share said content and recruit other local people to watch the streams. Candidate is to give these fliers out while his volunteers run a voter registration booth. Candidate is not to argue face to face while next to voter registration booth but to invite people to argue live vs him on his channel. A lot of people here just have a cell phone. Having plenty money to rent and deck out a office room downtown would be idea to host these anti-white people who are probably doped up and have been waiting to call someone a Nazi. When called a Nazi candidate will ask them to define a Nazi. Then depending on what they say define a communist. Then how they feel about Asia for the Asians, Africa for the Africans, Israeli for the Jews, Japan for the Japanese but European founded nations for everyone. Why are they so anti-white? Are you jealous and envious of what white people build? Should whites be allowed to have their own nations and why not? Would you like to see white people go away in a century? What about two decades? How do you feel about Japan being 99% Japanese and having almost no crime? How do you feel about every other nation having rules against messing with the demographics of the nation expect European built nations? Do white kids have a right to grow up around other white kids?

Candidate is let the discord channel and super chats be a place to find contents for propaganda.

Candidate is to hug all the aunties who want to feel his biceps for the camera. Candidate will have a flood of aunties kissing his cheek while his opponent can't even get close to any female in a picture.

Candidate will talk about his experience filing his case with the Hawaii Civil Rights Commission – a democratic controlled state for about half a century.

Candidate will call up his network and have a black man talk about him getting beat up and the state reviewing it with a board of all liberal judges.

Candidate is to send out a mailer if one of the social media platforms interfere with his campaign. Candidate is to have signs, wavers and banners if one of these social media platforms interfere with his campaign. Candidate is to have a handful of right centered radio stations to interview him on the event.

Candidate is to interview various locals around that he feels comfortable with so that he can relate and spend time listening to their struggles.

Candidate is has sketchy feelings about hosting an Internet Bloodsports debate in public, for even if said battle is hosted in a van – One of the points of Internet Bloodsports is getting people to put money where their mouth is, not just who has the biggest echo. From watching Milo to other people on the right we learn that the left will do anything possible to shut down monograph events... What will they do when their holy politicians are forced into a new frame having to argue their points live vs a high energy right winger. Rolling up with a buss and having vs on the spot is not rational unless we spend hundreds of thousands on security for each weekly event.

Candidate is to host voting registration booths at right center event.

Candidate just a few months ago was appointed district chairman. Candidate has built a volunteer list of about 20 just under three days. 40% of Hilo is white and Candidate is Nordic. Candidate is finding white fanatics. Candidate has found out while collecting signatures after telling Japanese, 40% of hilo, age 40+ people that he's running as a republican they sign his paperwork without even asking about issues.

Candidate has pulled a lot of Hawaiian signatures too from the aggressive dressed men. Either muscles talk or some local who told candidate he's been localized was right. It'll be easy to get these aggressive men on candidates side by talking about cost of living and his opponent being a big union boy.

WALKING THE DISTRICT

Candidate is to walk just enough hard right houses to get one hundred to two hundred local viewers a week. Candidate is then to work with them to focus on getting them to push the content. Get them to ask their liberal friends and coworkers what topics do they want to see? As the campaign goes on as in getting a feel for the co-host they are then to ask the viewers to ask their liberal friends and family who'd they like to see debate from the community: say we get some stoners on to argue weed. After a few were hosted then we ask the viewers what liberal candidates they would like to see. Once we get a few on we'll ask them what elected officials do they want to see on.

Mailers will be sent out to hard right registered voters.

After candidate has hosted a few local liberals demographics will be checked and a mailer will go out highlighting the recent debate.

After candidate has hosted Liberal candidates and has high light video mailers will be sent out to the respected demographics

After candidate has hosted elected liberal officials and has high light video mailers will be sent out to the respected demographics.

A final mailer will be sent to high light not only candidate but the best Liberal vs Republican quotes.

A mailer will be sent out every-time a social media platform interferes with his campaign to express moral outrage.

WAVING SHECUDULE

Candidate from 530am to 830am for two weeks straight. When people asked why he stopped waving he'll respond that everything is moving online and I rather talk to people than wave like a puppet.

Candidate is to feed volunteers pizza.

If said youtube channel isn't growing in local views by other methods than sign waving will be used again to promote new viewers.

SIGNAGE

Candidate is to use the same font and logo for social media and signs. Same logo for social media.

Yard sign for every registered right voter in the walk app.

Candidate expects to win over other demographics like weed smokers, labor, etc and will have to keep an excess of yard signs.

TheRightstuff.biz $120 for a year. I can seemingly get a weekly interview with Mike Enoch. Having him stream with me like say once a week would be great. He'll bring a lot of audience and hype to my campaign. Todd is going to call me alt-right. I'll ask him to define what alt-right is. Then I'll host Mike who is alt-right. IBS can seemingly get away with a lot. The host doesn't express said views so his channel isn't shut down yet the guest speaker does. Mike attracts a lot of Earned Media. So many channels cut up and re-post his stuff all over the internet.

COFFEE HOUR / COMMUNITY INVOLVEMENT

Candidate wont do coffee hours with people. He'll say this often dishonest to the communities and that he wants to live stream guest. Say a Union wants to talk to him, it'll have to be streamed live.

Candidate is to interview master Gardner and have them talk about why the local city council broke up a national non-profit, how they feel about it, and who's on either side.

SUPPLEMENTS

Another word for high energy is high test.

My opponent cannot take this type of stuff, and is probably taking some kind of medication to help with his mood. Unless my opponent radically transforms his body over the next 90 days he will suffer from low test levels. A lot of females posses two out of the three dark triad traits. My female co-host will be able to catch said opponent in an empty trap.

Candidate went from looking 35 to looking 22 in six months of training. Candidate is to write a book about how he did this: expand the leadership. See Appendix.

Now candidate is to become even stronger.

Computer

Candidate is to live stream PIBS.

Three screens, one for screen sharing, one for chat, and one for notes.

Present situation for Internet Bloodsports: The streamers doing this use a hardware compressor and a pre-amp and that's it – source I asked them and can confirm it with my ear. These streamers are working to replace the media.

Mister Metoku has about 225k subs. His audio is the best out of all those who show up to IBS.

Frame Game Radio has about 6k subs. His audio is heavily processed in the video he produces, yet when it comes to live audio processing – he seems to be limited to my current state: My laptop is unable to do much more than stream without video stream without audio processing and without any audio affects.

AndyWarski has about 276k subs. His audio is often peaking and distorting: this type of audio distortion would make anyone on ear buds cringe and probably pull their ear buds out, and audio that peaks actually damages people ears, head phones and speakers. Andy used to host most of said IBS, however, he never really mixed the audio. In a sense when some people speak you have to turn the audio way up and for others you have to turn the audio way down, and this could be due to analog vs digital mixing consoles. Currently at this time there's a half decade old free piece of software called IL minihost modular that is used to add digital affects, and it is safe to say this is not the most sophisticated written piece of software aka it lags computers.

Jean-Francois Gariepy has about 36k subs. His voice is muddy aka the low end is all over the place and sometimes causes headaches. It would seem that the software IBS uses, voicemeeter banana, built in audio affects like a gate and eq are awful.

Vee has about 80k Subs. His video isn't the best. IBS is putting up a lot of technology barriers for people to enter, for when they stream live with a group of streamers their audio and video quality goes to hell.

PewDiePie has about 62 million subs. And this is where the bulk of said gear comes from. I have to buy his chair, so I can say "but can my opponent do this" and lean backwards on the chair. I will harvest said meme for my campaign.

https://youtu.be/92TdzCbJ0Hk in this IBS we see six different streamers. We see five radically different backgrounds, five radically different quality of video and five radically different quality of audio. We also see five different faces. Warski is establishing his setup as host.

https://youtu.be/v6r9nlnS62M It would seem that before this liberal liberal the last liberal to show up was three months prior this video. The Southern Poverty Law Center seemingly told people not to show up on this show and for months no one from the liberal side. Usually these last four hours but within about an hour and a half said liberal people who have masters in biology conceded their point of view to youtube streamers.

https://youtu.be/ImYAqzHISDA?t=3h4m56s The one I wanted to link to presen this point got removed.

The point is sometimes you get a someone one on the show that just laughs in someones face when presented with facts. This one you can see how awful the audio quality is. Now there is a plugin or piece of software that can fix this, however, it would seem you need a very high end computer. While talking to one of my pro-audio friends he says "it's simple to port to PA systems" I'm not really sure how that works, but my pro audio friend loves projects.

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=-jWQLlxLAjI&bpctr=1525149370 @ 4:05 he talks about his audio. This video may be (if it's still up by the time I share my campaign plan) shows that the ADL and youtube really wants to shut this type of format down. The question is will a Republican Lawyer setup a channel to bait these liberals into interfering with an election. Youtube will be used to as political technology, and if youtube interferes with my campaign I hope a Republican lawyer can use this.

https://youtu.be/YbYalGv_iig?t=1h20m in this video we see a successful background and successful audio mixing. My background must have my campaign logo in it. My background must help define my brand. My background will knock on the speaker with the neon light, for he has successful lighting, successful reverb, successful chair, successful background lighting and his clothing is clear.

https://www.youtube.com/channel/UC0rZoXAD5lxgBHMsjrGwWWQ we can see in this channel that he has a consistent background. Just like how the logo needs to be consistent, so does the outfit and background. His audio is not the best.

https://youtu.be/PsrL-_-5hZ0 in this video we see his chad background, however, his video is flipping between screens too much. One screen must be dedicated to sharing content the stream.

https://www.youtube.com/user/Andywarski/videos This is one IBS channel. This a meme waiting to be harvested, and I will work to harvest it for the Republican party.

It is important to note that every room has it's own audio reflections. In a sense one must first kill the revered and resonance of the room before they can get that polished sound in main stream media.

This is a power play to get that polished sound without a multi-million dollar building with the intent for deliving content to be consumed on smart phones, tablets, pcs, and tv systems. Currently ALL IBS fall short of mixing their audio for where youth is: on smart phones. It is important to work with as much audio analog gear as possible at this time for audio aesthetics. Ever phone, tablet, computer, and streaming app has it's own compression algorithms. Currently ALL IBS host and channels can barely process and mix audio for one Master (PA) channel yet alone five people calling in with video, and by that I mean this setup strives to be the first Internet Bloodsports channel that can process, mix and master audio live with pro video and deliver it in optional conditions for iphones, computers, tablets, tvs, android, youtube, facebook and twitter.

Housing

Candidates current renting situation is so that he lives in Hawaii District 2. Candidates window is so badly placed that his door needs to be open for air flow. Candidate has tried to stream before in said room with the door closed and was running out of oxygen. Candidate land lord will not allow an A/C unit. One of the candidates roommate is a felon from so-cal, and said felon has he misses committing crime against the white man despite having half white kids. Candidate currently has two other roommates and the landlord is looking for another two. Said technology would be a hot target.

Candidates current room is anything but a choice setup. Candidate would have to rely on his land lord approving every time his co-host, a republican or guest came to speak on the show. What happens if said land lord didn't really like Republicans that much and refuse to let Republicans show up to be introduce on P IBS?

https://honolulu.craigslist.org/big/apa/d/beautiful-3bd-2ba-home-in/6551379779.html There is a 3brt/2ba for $1750/ per month for a one year lease in Hawaii District 2. The person renting the house might not approve said applicant since income must exceed 2 times the monthly rent. If this one is chosen another A/C unit will be needed. Pros: The three bedrooms will be used as bedroom, master studio and co-host studio.

https://www.apartments.com/557-kukuau-st-hilo-hi/4klqrll/ $2,200 per month with a $2,200 deposit. Seemingly a year long lease. The two bedroom upstairs can be transformed into master studio and co-host studio. Will need two A/C units.

A lot of this campaign plan is budgeting for the worst case, yet it's exhausting to think about maximum discrimination: If I stream live from said house I live in and collect paid super chats will they try to pin me down on the code that I must have a business coded place? While inviting co-host and guest onto the show it's unsettling to think about why the police don't give out rides any more due to rape claims. It then makes me think of renting a business building down town, however, after talking to business owners who have leased the person who owns it is always trying to screw the person leasing into improving the building aka said Dr's office I visited had to pay for a new roof, new fence, and plumbing... I would seemingly need a lawyer to read said leases and defend whatever lease gets signed.

Alinsky said you need a social movement and then to make it into a business and then to make it into a ruckus.

The last six months Internet Bloodsports has became a social movement. The left refuses to show up to these talks now. It's time to take this social movement and make it into a business and get left elected officials out of office. It's time to use the people who would get their accounts banned as a ruckus.

Since all apartments in Hawaii District 2 are currently full. The next set up would be leasing a house.

TRASNPORTION

I do not own a car and my parents are using all three of their cars. The spare car has broken windows that don't go down and the ac is broken. It would be bad of aesthetics to show up seating bullets everywhere.

6 month leases start as low as $120, however, every place I called so far on the Big Island does three year leases. They want me to a buy a used car and will buy it back after I'm done using it. This would seem to muddy things up since a lawyer would have to read into this. The solution is to contact dealers in Tacoma WA and pay Matson about $1000 to ship said car.

MOCK CALENDAR

M-F

Candidate is to wake at 330 AM and by 530 AM he is to be sign waving until 830 AM 9-10 is daily planning 10-1130 is study the news 1pm to 130 is swim 130 to 230 is lifting 230 to 4 is eat and review with volunteers and sign wave 4 to 6 is PIBS 6 to 7 is study how to improve 745 is sleep

Sat

Saturday is about the same expect no lifting. The swimming pool changes it's hours.

Sun

Church is from 1pm to 4pm on Sunday. Candidate will leave early to make sure that he streams live the same time everyday of the week. No lifting on Sunday. An AM swim will replace the 1pm swim.

Candidate is start streaming live and talking about Hawaii and District 2 news. During this time candidate is to be searching and vetting for a co-host.

After a few weeks candidate is to have a $500 meme video contest and use that for below.

Once candidate and co-host have gotten a feel for each other. Using the data from the walk app, candidate is to send out a mailer that has a link to his PIBS channel with said highlight.

Candidate and the co-host are to talk about the news until the political season picks up. During this period candidate is to introduce at least one Republican a week: chairs, candidates, congress, senate, neighboring state house, and just Republicans in general.

After a few Republicans have been introduced candidate will invite and host people from District 2: managers, store owners, workers, single mothers, aggressive men, high school, college, local radio, etc onto the show to talk or argue live.

At the end of each week candidate is to host a meme video contest of $500 for people from District 2 to vote on. Videos must of previous week must be submitted by Wednesday, then voting till Friday and the video will be promoted via facebook, twitter, ads etc.

https://youtu.be/MKH6PAoUuD0 This channel has 77k subs and channels like this are primed to make more dank memes. These dank MAGA memes almost took over reddit before that website changed their whole site to suppress The_Donald https://www.reddit.com/r/The Donald/ has about 603 subs. This is a lot of free media.

When my opponent chair shows up to PIBS I now know I can force a congress or senate on the live stream. Every time a big target shows up on the stream there will be a $2000 meme video contest against said liberal. If the Can't Stump The Trump youtube channels don't pick up on it another channel will, and that channel will use T D to promote their video.

https://youtu.be/RNff-icORNA Infowars has tested this before.

If at anytime the social media platforms interfere with my campaign I will order a special set of post cards for ALL registered voters and mail them out in moral outraged that there's a private special interest group interfering with a US election. I say "who in Hawaii cares? No one cared about my HCRC case. This is what liberals want a one party system that silences and oppresses men." Candidate is to host various people related to this area.

Special events and special events from the leadership institute youth leadership school will be applied in ways that fit my campaign.

Candidate is to attend latter day saints young single adult national conferences in Honolulu and Seattle.

Dunk Contest

This part of the plan is to be used as see fit in live debate aka Internet Bloodsports.

Slogans, sayings, memes change. I have a point in history that I can point at: My HCRC case. Seemingly as long as there some man working some physical job, I will be relevant.

Candidate is to agitate people that have sons that work at labor positions in Hilo: "I used to work at a home improvement store and I saw teams of six men, often young men, replaced in waves every three months due to pack pain. I tried to talk to them but they no care. This is the war on men. Do their aunties, uncles, mom and father even care?"

Candidate will talk about what his group his group deserves and what his group has. Candidates granpa worked one year of labor and was able to build his first house the next. Then candidates granpa sold said house to build a duplex on the waterfront, rented one out and continued to build and sell. Candidate is to point out that these men who do hard labor have nothing besides debt and a destructive drug addiction.

Candidate is to talk about social security and relate it to workmen comp – the system can't even take care of it's workers and we're expected to work until we're how old again?

Candidate is to start a youtube channel with the intent to get paid super chats. He is to only host people to argue with him live that live in his District. Candidate is to setup a discord channel to create a sense of community. Candidate will host various people with the intent of finding a co-host/ moderator for IBS. Candidate seemingly lives in a 88% left district so it should be easy to find people to argue with. While collecting signatures candidate has taken notes and is waiting to trap people in semantic traps.

Candidate is to get his youtube channel, twitter, facebook or something banned and then use the hype he's been building to be morally outraged that _____ is interfering with a US election. Candidate is to pave the way so that people can talk and post freely without fear of losing their jobs.

Candidate is to bring up that Filipino's are the 4th riches group in America. And that they get paid double from the government for any money they get.

Victim hood is an asset in politics, and candidate has a definite point in time to point at with his HCRC case solely based on being part of the male sex.

Candidate is to keep his test levels high, for test decreases ability to feel empathy hence avoiding empathy traps. Empathy traps interrupt the brains net ability of fertility, courage, assertiveness, happiness, avoiding suicide, and will to fight back.

Candidate is to study the high test men that are doing a great job at massacring their guest.

Candidate is going to re-frame his opponents buzzwords into anti-white.

>plz tell me how you hold these two thoughts in your head and justify them >can you define that >that's amazing hampstering >is it possible you are envious and jealous? >give me another example >give me a yes or no >that's not even reality >that is mind blowing >you don't think that's a double standard >that is so insane

>that's not honest language >do you like being a but thinking like a Candidate is to create a collective, high test, virile, powerful and white group of volunteers – the left fears nothing more than this.
Candidate is to say stuff like >when you give up debate and use violence as a sword you give up non-violence as a shield >the right is so far ahead in academia, policy and issues that the left and neo-liberal left will not be able to catch up in the near future and we need to prepare for violence. We import 90% of the food here.
>they, the left, have learned nothing and are too far behind to catch up. We literally give them seeds and in within one month of not supervising them they say this is too hard and we have to feed them so they don't starve to death.
>these civilized people will eat each other.
Candidate is to make people feel fury and feel hate.
>how much self white hatred will you admit >how many conscious will it take

Candidate is to ask his guest VS IBS to define a few works. Left, right, liberal, conservative, Marxist, etc. candidate is to define context.

When asked why the candidate is qualified or about a specific policy candidate is to say the simple and conclusive answer is another question if they, the left, have a policy on homelessness why haven't they presented in the last half century? Are you living in reality or some personal movie?

>Obama was president for 8 years and Chicago didn't change.

Candidate is to take talking points from successful new European politicians.

>First the number of foreigners increase violently. Next they declare they wont respect our law and our customs. Then they impose their sensitives and demand on the public sphere. On all spheres of life, violently and aggressively.

>World of warcraft has thought me what recycled content is.

Candidate will question the virtues of individual liberty like letting their son smoke pot while destroying their own back while getting paid min wage, for a boss who knowingly knows about how long until he has to hire another worker.

Right ideas increasingly disturb the course of events because they require an alertness and a force of argument from our adversaries that they do not have. Candidate is to stay physically fit and take his workout to the next level. While IBS VSing the people from District 2 about everything and getting paid to do it, he will have established himself during a political campaign: a tool he can use to agitate the people to get politicians removed from their power in but a blink of the eye.

This willingness to debate also provides the right with an aura of cultural tolerance.

>The left isn't tolerant, their elected leaders wont even show up and argue about why importing 90% of the food isn't 100% on the left fault.

Candidate was going to wait until the primary to start IBS. However, candidate is to use this as a tool for grass roots politics / fundraising. Candidate is to build his IBS platform so that he can help out the party congress candidates win: getting (R) state house reps in Hawaii is cool but also getting the public to force current (D) congress people to step down is cooler.

While collecting signatures I talked to a liberal. Someone heard I was a Republican and we started talking. I asked him how does he feel about Trump. He then said he doesn't feel good about Trump: everyone in the media, all of his friends who actually keep up with the real news, the post he sees, the what people say. I ask him about the caravan. He tells me I don't see why they can't come in. America is a country of immigrants and Trump is saying we should build a wall and kick them out, that's insane. I ask him if he knows that the Mexican government makes it illegal to mess with Mexico's Demographics. He goes off for a minute about something. I tell him 30% of the Mexican population has moved here. He says 'so they can come here but we can't go there, that doesn't seem fair." I ask him if he knows Japan, China, Africa, Israel, South America, and the East all make it illegal to mess with their country's demographics. He says but those are poor country. I respond do you think Japan, china and Israel are poor country? The East literally has princes and castles. He cringes. I ask him if he knows what's going on in Europe. He's not too sure. I tell him about London. He walks twitching with bugged eyes saying he has to go. Since Antfia comments acts of violence and BLM take microphones, is important to have a "vocal booth" so to speak of the host. Too many times do I watch Milo, Ben or other speaking events have people walk up to the mic to have an awful audio quality of being unable to hear their question. It's important to setup vocal booth for six people total to speak at these neo-Neighborhood Boards. It would be choice to have people at the neighborhood board in a discord server chatting while someone at the event is reading the chat and helping revolve four booths. One booth for the candidate, one for the opponent, one for school, one for college, one for labor, one for elder. Long as it's 1 Republican candidate / elected offical vs 1 Left Candidate / elected official with four rotating guest from the audience. Ideally we're going to have a big TV for the main crowd to watch with good audio.

Eight booths for the crowed to join in. (only four will be active at a time. These extra booths are to rotate people smoothly)

Must have wifi so the main crowd can join in Discord server and type stuff. Someone will be staffed reading the chat room and taking DM's to fill said eight booths.

There's a few big screen TVS with good audio and good new hip lighting. There's plenty spots to sit. Plenty spots for people can break into groups and sit and watch.

A desk for people to come up and get papers to tell him how to get on discord and register in their district.

Political Internet Blood Sports / Neo-Neighborhood Boards

Candidate does not have access to the new "walk app" at this time. Candidate soon will soon be able to see how many hard liberal houses there are in his district. In the 2016 election Hawaii is the only state that non-Hispanic white men didn't vote for Trump. Prime time to knock doors is from 4-6pm M-F, and this is also prime time for live streaming. Knocking door to door doesn't get you corrupted. Alinsky's most viewed clip on youtube where he says he loves a hell of a lot more than those not willing to go out and get corrupted.

Candidate is to host PIBS vs various people, teachers, students, business owners, managers, unions, etc from District 2. The point is to have a weekly paid meme video contest from said content to expose these label these anti-whites: masochist, jealous and envious self-hating-mentally-ill-whites.

Political Internet Bloodsports, however, establishes yourself with an aura of cultural tolerance.

A few months after Internet Bloodsports started the Southern Poverty Law Center is calling to shut this format down. Now it hasn't shut down per say, however, liberals no longer show up on the show. Now it would be interesting to see liberal social leaders show up and argue their points live vs Right social leaders. However, we have an opportunity to get force the elected liberal leaders into PIBS.

Not only do we have the opportunity to force elected liberal leaders that have ran without an opponent into this live streaming format. We have the opportunity to get youth on our side in a sense they will share the meme videos and get their social media accounts banned.

What better person to be their voice than a labor worker from their district that has successful filed a Hawaii Civil Rights Commission case in repose to sex discrimination in Hawaii District 2.

Districts are to host PIBS from 4pm to 6pm on Fridays. Now normies don't think about politics every three minutes. Staring May candidate is to host streams to cover local Hawaii News while seeking a female co-host who's good at empathy traps. After co-host and candidate get a feel for each other, they are to host people from district 2 until political season picks up. Candidate is to host and introduce a local Republican each week: business owners, workers, candidates, officials, chairmen, etc. Once political season picks up candidate is to force his opponent into this frame. Once candidates opponent crumbles and joins this new frame. Candidate is to force congress, senate, governor, etc in this this frame.

Each week there will be a paid meme video contest around $500 or $1000 that District 2 gets to vote on via a Discord server. When candidate host say a liberal congress man, senate, etc the meme video contest goes to $5000: We're going to meme liberals out of office.

I moved to Hawaii in October 2015. It took about six months to get a job at pier 1 imports. Then it took a month to get a job at feed store. Around May 2016. Around December 2016 I decided to train more seriously. In Feb 2017 I suffered a work man comp neck back and spine injury and that lasted about 90 days without lifting then from then on I trained even stronger and that period is when I went from 2015 picture to the 2017 photo. I trained with a bag of feed, fish oil and a multi vit, and that's what my antiaging book will be on.

these because it would seem not hiring men for cashiers and not hiring women for loading bags of feed at feed store / is a common practice. I learned about , the , and how to get a new back out of the system and 14k of benefits in 90 days.

The only person I know Adam Jay Manion Bryan. I know you we've talked many times. It's not that part of it. You seemed like a really decent guy, But upon reading those pages my opinion changed. If I'm being honest, your campaign literature that you gave me didn't read like named Adam on the campaign literature. It was more like you were speaking of some new world where "whites" are better. It's 2018. And we live in one of the largest cultural and ethically rich places in the world. I have big islands I had a 30 never told you this in person because after reading your "campaign literature" I had no idea what your reaction would be. So here it is. Really attacking people? And you don't even know if it true, sounds like a hit piece to me, no quotes, no contents, not to mention, its stupid, one running for offence in Hawaii would say that and you have to be stupid to believe it. He may have brought up the human rights violations that many white skinned people experience in Hawaii, wither you are mixed Hawaiian like my self or a haole. It douse happen and form what I have seen around the world its what happens to minorities and it should be addressed. But the real problem is with people like you lazerhaze, the people of Hawaii for the most part or good loving people and when confronted with their behavior towards me or my children are normally willing to make good. But haole's like you are the ones that try to stomp me when I spaeck up, because you are trying soooo hard to prove your not a racist.

State House Rep Candidate (R) Hawaii District 2

I moved to Hawaii around three years ago. My mother had back surgery and my step dad had a heart attack in the same year. I was black pilled from driving for Uber in Seattle. I came to Hawaii to shovel mulch. Thinking of memes + caffeine pills landed me a job part time. I was picking up ten 50lbs bags of duck feed one day when I dropped off a resume at one of the local feed stores. Shortly after I started moving 50lbs bags of feed about 40 hours a week.

After about seven months I tell my manager something along the lines of 'I was lifting something and now there's a pain in my back going from my hip, back, spine and neck. My pain is a 9.' I write up a report and keep it simple. I talked to a women on the phone and told her the same thing I just wrote down. I talked to another women on the phone and was to be sent to a preferred location. The preferred location seemingly didn't have a chiropractor and I was prescribed pain meds. I went to the hospital which also seemingly didn't have a chiropractor and was prescribed pain meds and was suggested to try some stretches. I then remembered the chiropractor ads on the shopping carts at the local grocery store.

I seemingly had 48 hours to get care. There's lots of deadlines. Luckily I showed up on a day that the Dr / Chiropractor was in. Why the insurance company sent me to a preferred location that didn't have a chiropractor in response to a worker comp hip, neck, back, shoulder and spine injury seems silly. I relaid and wrote the same message of something like 'I was lifting something and now there's a pain in my back going from my hip, back, spine and neck. My pain is a 9.' I relaid the same story to a murse case manager. While talking to my nurse case manager she asked me what I felt and I told her I felt I should follow the Dr / Chiropractor care instructions. I told them my insurance company didn't give me any paper work on numbers and they told me they take workmen comp and they will figure it out.

I was to be given 15 chiropractor and 20 massages with a lifting restriction. After about seven weeks my pain was only about a 5/6. The Dr wrote me a prescription for another 15/20. Although my pain only went down to 3. I was given a clean bill of health. I asked the Dr what his chiropractor rates are usually and I thought to myself, 'wow I just got 10k of benefits in 14 weeks.'

State House Rep Candidate (R) Hawaii District 2 Hawaii Civil Rights Commission Story

Around the same time as me getting $10k of benefits out of the system I applied to transfer job duties from warehouse duties to cashier duties under the same job title, Team Member. My location hired another women making it 100% women who held cashier duties. I documented me applying to the position since I've never seen a man hired for cashier duties.

There's a lot I could of put in my civil rights case but I solely focused like a laser on one point that I believe I was discriminated solely based on sex citing that my boss saying that it would cause havoc. Shortly after having a case worker assigned to my case I cited my religion for having a preference for having a man on my case. During the intake interview he said something like 'this could open the flood gates.' I call back in a week to learn that said guy got offered a new job, that there wasn't enough time to wait for another man to be assigned to my case since there's a deadline.

Despite not watching TV in years and never liking sports. I went off like a NFL coach on the big screen. Seemingly the response from my 'money fixes everything' boss changed. She gave me a reason, and I quoted Hawaii State law from the part about discrimination. She said something like my boss said he didn't and I said 12-46-102 that pretty much says the burden of proving it relies on the employer. I felt I had a solid case since all the men's names are clumped together and spaced out from the female names on the weekly schedule, since there's daily check list for both job duties, and I told them to review the evidence. A manager told me they could find no cause. I replied to send it to the person above them and they also said there's no cause.

What qualifies me for running for office?

From workmen comp to filing with the Hawaii Civil Rights Commission I went up against about ten people with decades of training and experience and got $10k of benefits out of the system as a straight white male.

I'm pro-white yet I think we can all agree that companies grinding young men's spine into nothing and replacing them like clockwork is a poor choice. These globalist have all the data. A decade ago my mother wrecked her back to put food on the table for me at some dead end job. A decade later _____ are handing out pain meds like candy.

State House Rep Candidate (R) Hawaii District 2 'Why won't he just leave or die!' – Hamplanet

56 % face goy cashier to US veteran.

About 15 employees with like 12 with the same job title. About half are assigned to cashier duties and are all just happen to be females, equality. Then there's one general manager and one warehouse manager. Then there's a receiver who usually uses the fork lift. So there's about five guys. One of them is a lead and spends most the day talking to the manager about some shitty Jew produced TV show decades old. I, someone on the right who's not a conservative, understands the hatred for the white man in Hawaii, for I too hate white liberal men. Like Japan, China and Russia I am race realist. This leaflet is why I'm cannot believe any longer in the Jewish made up ideology of conservatives. Capitalism was made up by Jews to destroy Rome. I'll get into these salve based religions like Christianity later, till then seek my campaign literature of how I got 40 massages and 30 chiropractor out of workmen comp. So there's about four guys who do hard physical labor between 8am to about 6pm.

So I'm going through the workmen comp system with a healthy distrust for any blue or short haired women. Workmen comp came about in the US around 1855. Dates are important. The Jews passed the hart -cellar act of 1965 opening the US to everyone on the world. My healthy distrust in the system rewarded me with the care I needed. Whereas I've heard full a grown cuck, six kids not of his own, cry out their meth head emotions from a mouth with baby sized teeth to their greedy hooked noose boss about how it's unfair the Trump supporter got care and he, the zombie masses of the shit lib party status quo, didn't. Next time goy, check the size nose.

Mr. "I can't feel anything in my left arm" vet and I get to close with each other. Despite me having lifting restrictions. After I finish workmen comp I tell him, just don't respond to the cashier calls. I'll get em'. This shit lib hated me from the start but after seeing how I treated him compared to the other shit lib co-workers, he shared food with me. One of the butter golem cashiers tells me to check the male bathroom because it sinks and it thinks the vet is dead. This anti-white cries out weeks later "why won't he leave or just die!" What is she smoking? Why did it take her six months to find out she was pregnant? Why are is meth head masochism death cult allowed influence policy for those who do no consent... Just think about what they would do the kids! Did you know in the Jewish encyclopedia it says that sexually abusing and torturing non-Jewish female past the age of three is not a sin?

State House Rep Candidate (R) Hawaii District 2 The Jew who thought 1% of it's paycheck was too much.

My understanding is unless the mother is ethically Jewish than the offspring cannot immigrant to Israel. Israel is an ethno-state: They DNA test everyone who wants to even visit. In the US it used to be illegal for a dual citizen to hold office here, but the Jews changed that. Despite 90% of Americans not trusting the media.... how many of their heads are echo chambers for Jewish lies? 90% of the communist spies were ethically Jewish. Jews promote race mixing for non-Jews. Did you know in Soviet (Jewish) Russia the Jews banned marriage? Did you know the Soviet Jewish state passed out tokens to their goons to 'have their way' with wives and Christian women who's family had a history of monogamy where highly targeted? I forget if it's 120 or 240 countries that have kicked out Jew in the past 2000 years. No one wanted to raise all those mixed bastard kids. Plus STD's were on the rise, gross. The Russian Revolution high government was made up of about 85% ethic Jewish people. About 30 million Salvs were starved to death. Why should Hawaii learn about Jews when there are so many fires?

Spending 10 hours to put out one fire when the fire started can start another in 30 is mad. The big island imports about 90% of the food. Brazil truckers went on strike and it's havoc. How many shipment delays is the Hawaii away from havoc?

This kike cashier for some reason fells compelled to tell me how it's undermining the host nation. Despite having a full time job for about five years and despite the company offering medical for 1% of it's pay check, the kike thought 1% of it's paycheck was too much and opted for Obummer care. This poor excuse for a mother was or is on the local city council board. Make no mistake: Jews have their moral standards and they then change the goy moral standards to fit their Jewish needs.

90% of Americans hate the Jewish lying media. Honestly fake news is nothing new. Mein Kampf is the best seller in Iran right now because Iseral snipers take pride using one bullet to take out two (a pregnant mother). You dumb shit Christians that love the bible I got this to say to you: If you love the critique of Jewish supremacist so much why don't you listen to critique of Jewish supremacist by a non-ethic Jew? Every time you watch a movie these Jews catalog thousands of your emotions then feed you the morals they choose for you via social media. That's why it's called a social feed, goy.

State House Rep Candidate (R) Hawaii District 2 Thot vs waifu: the origins of bad blood

A thot is a selective whore who doesn't trust the Jewish media yet sleeps with who they point at. Riding the cock carousel, orbiters give her what she wants because she post pictures of her ass.

No, I don't want to raise your kids.

No, I don't want your purple hair.

No, I don't want your dozen of STDS.

She's looking for some IG fame, letting chads run trains while on her stanky, thank god for perfume.

She's showing off her ass and thighs, boosting her self esteem, using her pussy to get money.

If you got a dozen dudes in your phone who buy you lunch, Yes I'm talking to you.

If you got a choker necklace, yes I'm talking to you.

If you fuck people while not in love, Yes I'm talking to you.

Using your pussy to get money, Yes I'm talking to you.

Arby's roast beef without the cheese, no thank you.

Stop sucking random niggas, gotta grow a bush to hide the herpes bumps, walking bio-hazard disease aka the cities dump, institute Sharia law worse than in Libia.

You should make some better decisions and scrap the ash from those Jewish values.

Your shit is my business when you live on the system spreading your gonorrhea.

Thot in the 30's who's only interaction with her kids is face time five minutes a day while working as a cashier having a red bull and shrimp chips for lunch. I'm sure she's used to lines of 30 second transactions with random niggas expect she's not totally dopped up. How low that seed has sunken. Somali's on average have an IQ of about 60. The term clinically retarded is used when you're IQ is less than 70. German shepherds, the dog, have a higher IQ. Is sex with a nigger 200x or 2000x more likely to get POZ. Or was that herpes or hepatitis? Niggers on average consume $10k a year more in taxes than they produce. Mean while Jews are feeding Japanese prime minsters food out of a shoe. I don't know about you but I'm thankful our Jewish overlords evaluate my intelligence of that of a high-school student and are giving me the silent treatment in response to me using my recent workmen comp / civil rights case to claim to be a human rights activist because unlike the Jews I have a event in history I can point too that anyone can question and review the evidence. Hate fact: when one sees an interracial couple the area of their brain related to disgust lights up like a Christmas tree opposed to just seeing a diseased bloody fat rat on their pillow. When watching porn I reprogrammed my brain by thinking how sick every interracial thumb nail I saw. Read Ride the Tiger!

State House Rep Candidate (R) Hawaii District 2 Seattle is racist against niggers.

The needle exchange program evolved into a safe space for Bernie-bros, Antfia losers and racist shit lib females. In Seattle there's a building that is funded and stocked by tax payers money so things can walk in off the street and get a safe space where it gets a small bed, a TV and a volunteer to shoot it up with some government quality Heroine. Wow, just wow. Has it ever occurred to them that niggers love raping and this safe space and the drugs funded by the tax payer hurts nigger?

Jay-Lazy-Pitbull-Z told his story about selling dope in NYC, and now shit libs are giving dope away in Seattle and LA? Dems are the real racist.

Honestly, I grew up in Tacompton or 30 minute south of Seattle. Rent was like $300 a month whereas rent, no utilities, is like $1200 in Seattle. I'm starting to think the term Feeling the Burn came into being by a Jewish mind for gas lighting people about STDS: Shit libs are feeling a burning sensation be in herpes or hepatitis or the fuck flue (POZ) and the Jews are doing their usually Jewish tricks in diverting the blame on another group.

Race-Mixing is financed and led by the Jews. 90% of convicted communist traitors & spies have been racial Jews. It used to be illegal for a dual citizen to hold a high government position, but the Jews changed that. Your morals and ethics have been programmed to you by ZOG controlled social media and cameras. A few generations have been programmed. Jews have psychoanalyzed you and know how to change your morals and ethics. Jews are constantly moving the goal post for the final touch down.

I choose to discipline myself to fight an enemy who wants to enslave me and rape my children. Unlike nigger slaves who were castrated with rocks, white slaves were breed together to have white off spring. The word slave has at it's root salv or the ethnic people of Russia. Jews will gaslight you about me wanting to take away your freedom yet wishes it could ban Mein Kampf without bringing too much attention to the book, So the authors of the bible and the makers of fake news claim Mein Kampf will bore you to death. Such wow how the goy are conditioned into only thinking that the only critique of Jewish power can come from an ethic Jew from thousands of years ago while allowing an ever changing, morphing, ever more brutal and relentless critique of their own races culture.

State House Rep Candidate (R) Hawaii District 2 Business as usually 29 year old white man running for office gets drunk one night and writes about twenty lines of text that shits all over Obummer care legacy making it another dindu nuffin. Niggers are dumb and violent... in other news water is wet. Finally something everyone wants: massages. Imagine if I wrote more than twenty lines of text about how to navigate workman comp and file with the civil rights law... I went from asking normies about how they feel about people not being able to read voting to claiming those useful idiots who want free massages after a life time of having to work in an unfair system. These normies won't opt for workman comp because they are scared shitless of loosing their job even if it means breaking there back. Luckily there's a lot of people out there developing back pain or who have back pain. Believe me, and white history, these people who were thrown in jail or unable to compete they'd would of sent off to start their own colony and govern themselves. Yet Jews are dead set on being the leading role of this multicultural experiment. So your races existence and children's well being is an experiment? Seek and share my campaign literature because I seek to make Obummers legacy, the highest status nigger in the world, just another dindu nuffin. Watch me not even care about upping the quality of my work, being outside the system, having less $1000 in the bank, shitting all over Obummers legacy and telling the people how to get the care they deserve.

Who would win? A rigged political system, thousand of years of planning, endless blank checks, ZOG, countless shit libs, every rat noose genetic fuck up on the planet, countless cuck-seratives, and billions of niggers or one pure blood white man who listened to the audio book SIEGE less than 24 hours ago?

Anyways, I was going to list the 25 points in the appendix from SIEGE. But I rather let people know they can find that book on Archieve.org I mean honestly, you take the word Germany and replace it with Hawaiian. Hawaiians can also read White Power by Rockwell and replace the world white community with Hawaiian Islands. Just try not to keep physical copies of these books laying around since if police see it... yeah there's police training in the US for seeing people having physical books.

No book ever written by a Nigger, or album or mixtape for that matter, is considered intelligently dangerous: "woke." Whereas SIEGE, White Power, Mein Kampf, 200 years together, anything Nietzsche is. White man listens to SIEGE audio book and within less than 24 hours undermines 200 years of ZOG... in other words he acts in instinct and listens to his gut feeling and his genes shine.... in other words the media will never mention how many people cure their back pain because I'm intelligently dangerous. The media will never share my literature cuz it's a death blow to the system.

Source 8chan /pol/ meme. Have you debunked any of Culture of Critique yet?

During the civil war "In god we trust" started to be printed on money. During the civil war there were coins going around with niggers in shackles saying "Am I not your brother?" Decide for yourself: are you equal? Boomers have so many proxy terms for Niggers it's almost like they have a mouthful of kibble. I wonder how much niggers sell for in Africa in 2018... $10? I wonder what they get fed? So many hard hitting questions. "to communicate anything to a Goy about our religious relations would be equal to the killing of all Jews, for if the Goyium knew what we teach about them, they would kill us openly." -Talmud, Sanhedrin 59a. Diversity is a plague. No future for democracy.

11% of the world's billionaires are Jewish despite only .1% of the world population being Jewish. That 1% shit libs cry about? About 45% of them are Jewish.

State House Rep Candidate (R) Hawaii District 2 (((Cuck-seratives)))

Six months ago I thought it was clear I was alt-right, so I was interviewed for an alt-right group. I was let in but I was called a (((neo-cuck-serative))). I never heard that term before. I was pissed and was kicked out in less than an hour. I later got some PDF books. Hawaiians can't read White Power by Rockwell and tell me those tactics weren't used against them by (((US))). Rockwell wrote that book so within two months and would know what's going on. Note in the video game Mine Craft Jews and Niggers are not people as per legal and due process of the courts of Mine Craft. Free audio book or PDF found at Archive.org How about all these (((shit-lib))) students add that to their (((liberal))) book list. I mean we both hate (((conservatives))) but in short there's no term of abuse not used by both commie-jew-controlled-right and commie-jew-left for me. That ought to be a lesson to you dimwits.

The masses of people, dim by nature, tired by overwork, just might be fooled by someone in the (((system))). If I wasn't for a ton of edgy political incorrect memes I probably would of trusted people in the (((system))). One of my favorite things to do is to check in with various people of light around Hilo. One big soy boy tells me his father is a DR and a proud (((conservative))) before hobbling off to push carts. One of the heirs of a tobacco company has a $4 million dollar mansion. He spends his time paying 100 whores to stay on birth control from age 18 to 25 to be led around on a leash, being hit with a riding crop, and getting all stretched out before replacing their post-wall bodies and now border line personalities. Any man who is worth his salt can tell if a women has done shit like this.

The already rich and the cowardly pretenders called (((conservatives))) who look down on me and do all they can to destroy my imagine. I waste so much time checking in with the sons of these proud (((conservative))) to watch as their soul, backs, and dreams slowly gets crushed one by one. (((conservatives))) are cowards and weaklings. Have-it-both-ways people. I will "prove" this but only if you ridicule (((them)))... now visit a home improvement store and see the guys pushing carts, then go across the street to one of the various box stores and watch young people hobbling around pushing carts or hobbling between smoking cigarettes shelters. I'm grinning thinking of the sons of these proud (((conservative))) breaking their back pushing carts before hobbling off to the smoking shelter to smoke a cigarette meanwhile the heir of a tobacco company keeps 100 whores on birth control and cocaine until they've been stretched out beyond repair or hit the wall.

Does the (((system)) not do a 100% complete brain wash? To think there's some white thots on this side of the Island that could be getting paid six figures a year but gets the same physical and mental life long scars for free, with lower quality drugs, and STDS from local Niggers. Talk about zero class.

State House Rep Candidate (R) Hawaii District 2 Your future was robbed.

Tor, the deep web browser, sent out a tweet saying they don't welcome the 'dailystormer.name' URL. The deep web is also know as the dark web a place known for buying designer drugs, viewing child porn, hiring hit men, buy guns, or watch snuff videos etc. 100% of the media is owned by Jews and they want a control over the narrative. The ONLY non-Jewish ran media got bullied off the internet. Godaddy, the company who caved like the weak sissy cuck, is now being served with 7,000 other sites that the ADL and SPLC want removed.

The Daily Stormer is the fist website in history to be removed from the internet for reporting the news with a non-Jewish spin. If you think you have freedom of speech on social media instead of saying you hate niggers talk about Jewish power because ZOG will shut you down. Remember Jews move the goal post for goy morals and ethics constantly. Every movie you've watched ZOG has collected thousand of emotional reactions from the heard. Ever social media feed you've looked at with your phone has helped trailer your social media feed. Jews have their morals and ethics and they constantly move the goal post for the goy morals and values.

Christians are forced to bake a cake for a POZ party. A POZ party is where HIV/AIDS infested men have sex with each other while trying to breed a super potent strain of AIDS to take over the world. Sometimes young men who feel society rejects them finds a welcoming group and these POZ parties throw a 'gift giving' event where 200 POZ men in a dungeon run a train. Talk about going all in and positive vibes only. Read the Culture of Critique before hating the white man! Jews hide with the white man in statistics when it suits them.

Marks, an ethic Jew, in the communist manifesto said fags, dykes, niggers and race mixers will be fucking useless in the revolution to come. Niggers still live in mud huts, but make no mistake they like the Jew will enslave you and rape your kids. Niggers are tweeting out that they want to enslave white women to clean their house, rape daily and make her eat it's shit: "Cultural enrichment." Honestly the J-left cannot compete with ideas and facts and that's why they want to shut down freedom of speech. Why do niggers tweet this? Remember the AVERAGE IQ is like 60. Jews openly say they will be the leading role in this multi-cultural experiment. Open boarders for the goy and closed boarders for the Jew. The west is dead... We're a generation of revenge.

State House Rep Candidate (R) Hawaii District 2 Shit skin rapes girls and cucks jerk to it.

Do you know what's going on in Europe? 6 year old girls are getting gang rapped by shit skins, and then they use a slur in t he court and get a longer sentence than the gang of rapist. Nihilism is the rejection of universal morals and ethics. These shit skins are walking out of courts after the judge rules 'that's just their culture.'

Anytime you see a hippie looking white women ask her if she's tolerant. If she says yes tell her that she'd look cute in a hijab and that any sons she has you bet the Doctor will do a great fucking job turning the boy into a girl. That her son doesn't need his balls and they'll chop off his dick and dig a hole into his crotch. These tolerant white women think offering love will win. Let those who want to die die. Let those who want to live live. Let those who want their bloodlines to become sex slaves for eternity let them. The world would be a better place.

No one in Hawaii likes diversity. If they did they would move out of the highest cost of living state in the nation and move to some ghetto on the mainland.

Hawaii is getting less and less hand picked shit skins.

I've talked to the cuck-seratives in Hawaii. They seemingly think that God will come down and save the white race so they go about like a good goy on a 3000 year old platform. I too hate self hating whites. If you betray you're race your disqualified. White women and black man couples are like 3000x more likely to have a divorce. Does that count all couples who never get to married due to domestic violence? Niggers are open about it in their music, they will beat you if they can't pimp you out, then you hit the wall due to drugs or age and niggers say can't turn a hoe into a house wife, then pick up a new thot with a bag of dope. Maybe we should do what Israel does and take away women rights and make them not able to divorce their husband unless the women can prove abuse. Of course when you live in a police state they just laugh and turn off the camera.

I want nothing to do with other races while Jews and Niggers want to enslave and rape your kids. 70 years later and niggers are calling for segregated areas. The SPLC and the ADL are fighting. The left is eating it self alive while the cuk-seratives jerk off to their kids getting gang raped in the night and refuse to stand up in fear of being called a racist. Hi, I have balls, they are white and my name is on the ballot. Funny story how I got here you might ask. Read SIEGE.

I've never been so happy after violently uprooting every Jewish lie, every alien moral, every slave morality, every thought policing fairy tail, decades of education aka Jewish conditioning for the goy. I bet Hawaiians, Japanese and even some whites feel the same way about the system: they don't want to go down in the history books as a race that was genocided while having a note next to them that they were good goys for playing by alien rules and law. While there's some thot out there playing gotta-catch-em all with STDS from niggers thinking her social status is as high as her bush she has to cover the herpes, you should be out there getting massages. State House Rep Candidate (R) Hawaii District 2 Nuke Africa.

What father of Japanese, European or Hawaiian will encourage his beautiful and accomplished daughter to marry a nigger? Would he enthusiastically give her away into marriage? Why is equality only speechified and never seen. If he is of sound mind let him speak. Then and only then can this diabolic thing called equality be reconsidered. Any debate will be removed from the internet by ZOG, for he is not sound minded and that's why his wife pegs him and has his chastity seated so deep.

Why it ask. Why should I give it a reason, for if there is a fact, cause or story in the world it's head with act as a black hole. It refuse to root up laws, ethics, morals, stories, facts and causes of long since rotten corpses, and in fact saying it locked it self in a mental prison is an understatement.

Vile indeed are those who preach equality. Most of our ancestors would glory naked in the sun and wind yet today thots, the lowest sunken seed, are growing out their bush to cover their herpes.

A mans opportunities are never exhausted long as there's other people, of not his friend, who have millions of acres or piles of gold. Here then is an opportunities on a collusive scale. Seize the opportunities, all else is error. How fast an aristocracy based on merit would mow down a aristocracy based on credit. He who claims equality with another is ever called upon to prove his claim not by a rotten phrases parroted from moldy documents but by actual deeds. Business minds thoroughly understand and have learned from bitter experience that some men are destine by nature to bare command and some to obey. Even before a thousand years before their birth. Some call them brothers but fear nothing more than living in a ghetto. Shit lib white women from Cali go to Africa to be raped all night. One claims to be a scholar of Malcolm-X and apologized to the nigger while being rapped all night long. They come back with aids and infest the dim witted cucked soy boys who are enthralled by at least being kissed once by death. White south Africans are being thrown into boiling pots of water, elder women are having the bottom of their feet lit on fire repeatedly, and any beautiful white female is being fucking massacred. The Hawaii Republican Party in their public agenda tells that will be a refuge for those in need of it across the world yet turn a blind eye to white South Africans while taking the Nigger into their bosom. 60 years of liberal politics in Hawaii has done enough damage. ditch it before Niggers take full advance of the lube that is know as tolerance. Equality, 3000 years and never proven once. Abe Lincoln wanted to send the blacks back to Africa and FDR wanted to keep the Jews out. The saddest words of tongue and pen are what might have been.

State House Rep Candidate (R) Hawaii District 2 Motherland or prostitute?

If any race can buy land in your races homeland / nation / state, etc it's not a home land. Your races motherland is now a prostitute. I mean the terrorist nation known as Israel was founded on ethnic cleansing. Jews are crying out that Israel only being 75% Ethnically Jewish genocide and that non-ethnic Jews need to removed by force. What % Hawaiian is Hawaii? Don't be anti-semitism now goy.

Did you know Israel will pay it's citizens to hunt down Niggers and remove them from Israel by force? People who live in the US like to point out how big the military budget is. Did you know the amount of welfare to wet backs and niggers is about the same as the military budget? The yellow and white man pay for health care while niggers sit on welfare. Did you know the amount of aid sent to Israel each year is about the same as the military budget? Mean while Hawaiians move out of Hawaii due to costs.

Dual citizens from Israel vote for wars to send the best men into war. It's healthy for a man to want to fight for his nation. Did you know that Jews were notified on 9-11 not to show up to work that day? Did you know the patriot act, implemented after 9-11, was written in Israel? Did you know every computer chip made past the late 70's ports to Israel? Did you know when Russia found out that Israel could shut down Russian power plants with flip of a button Russians went back to analog? Did you know Russians are seemingly the only ones with digital equipment that doesn't port to Israel?

Do they know that America was originally meant only for white European immigrants of good character? That only white land owning men could vote? Some of these neo-cuck-seratives, search Murdoch Murdoch on cheekyvideos.net to find who, openly say that they don't care how brown America gets long as the Constitution stays in tact, yet turn around and say that Israel being 75% Jewish is genocide and that force needs to used to remove the non-ethnic Jew.

Do you care how non-ethnic Japanese Japan gets long as 'people' still fly the flag?

Do you care how non-ethnic Hawaiian Hawaii gets long as 'people' still say Aloha?

Africa and Israel are ethno-states who have their aggression first policy, violence before questions.

Whereas the goys are taking a nap, non-aggressive policy. J-D chosen people say that the Goyim were born only to serve the Jew. Without that, they have no place in the world. These rabbi's openly say that stuff like this. Rabbi's be saying that when the next Jewish Mashia comes that every Jew will have 40,000 slaves. Just pick up a Israel news paper. The Jew is open about this like the book World Jerwly.

State House Rep Candidate (R) Hawaii District 2 Hawaiian time.

Non-Hawaiians mock Hawaiian's for working so slow compared to the mainland. It's lot like the EU yelling at Italy to work faster. Italy yells back 'hey, who you think you're talking too.' Italy didn't have a taste of Fascism but they wrote one of the books on it. Italy has been denied that economic system ever since. Ever since then Italy has thrown out dozen of different types of governments but the Jewish economic system has stayed the same. In Italy one girl was attacked and they rioted and partially overthrew their government. People from around the world call them fat, stupid, lazy but in reality they don't put up with their women being attacked yet alone going missing, being raped, etc. Does a non-Hawaiian being born in Hawaii make them Hawaiian? Does a non-Sweden who moves to Sweden make them Sweden? Is someone Japanese when they get a piece of paper from the Japanese government? Does me getting invited to a Muslim titty bar make me Muslim? You jealous?

Why did the life long Mormon white man go full blood and soil over his Christian identity? I gotta thumbs up these local females because this to-be-race mixing weak flamboyant cuck has jerked it so much that by h is mid twenties he developed a serious wrist injury. This planet is dying. Nothing on this Earth stays sick for more than a couple months. Something is killing this planet. Does that something have a name? Does that something have an address? Calm down, I'm just saying they might need a Pit bull emotional support animal.

Do Hawaiians care if they are genocided long as the people who live on the Hawaiian's after them hold the value of the Aloha spirit. Ask me if I care about the constitution more than my people, the authors.

Why can't my people move onto something else that maybe only us understand? It's like history stopped in 1945. Why does one race have to baby sit another oh right Jews and Niggers can't farm. Do two tigers kill each other after a successful hunt... yes if one takes too much of the kill. Despite workers only being able to seek workman comp so many times until they are un-hireable... ZOG has spent trillions on Africa and these niggers after one month let the crops die and say farming is hard. Then spent Trillions on Africans in the US with what to show? Nigger tech... Aids? I've stopped listening to any and all nigger music. People say rap is elementary and should be banned... but have you heard Oxxxymiron aka Russian rap? It's almost like whatever the white man puts his spirit into becomes art.

The most precious possession you have in the world is your own people. And for this people. And for the sake of this people, we will struggle and fight, and never slacken, never tire, never lose courage, and never lose faith. Www.FearTheReply.com gab.ai/lv199loki

State House Rep Candidate (R) Hawaii District 2 Every criticism of Jews is AntiSemitism. In every context.

Nasim Aghdam. She was a vegan, light skinned women from Iran, she was obsessed with chickens, IG dance videos without showing skin, even had some muscles and short hair. She worked at youtube and youtube demonetized her, and within a week she shot up the place. I can't help but admire her and the feeling seems to go both ways. Ever since Israel snipers started wearing hoodies that say one bullet two kills that have a pregnant Muslim women in the cross hair Mein Kampf has been a consistent best seller. These Muslim states can't print the book as fast as Muslims are buying it up. BASED. I hope they sell English copies of SIEGE. I can't wait to see the fourth Rei.. I mean fourth book cover.

A lot of people who live in America think that we live in a capitalist society that if there's a demand for a product that someone will sell it. WRONG. The lying main stream media (100% owned and ran by Jews) hasn't made money in decades. Interracial white female and black male porn has never made profit: it's all political propaganda. Somehow people think they need 18 years of education to have two kids. Niggers cry about slavery in the US despite like 78% of slave owners being ethnically Jewish in the US. Nigger slavery is more brutal than ever in 2018 with Muslim slavers.

Some how Muslims societies not only function but fight back and get results against Jews and seemingly just say fuck off to publican education all together. If education, morals or ethics could save the world it would have long ago. I rather see schools in Hawaii fall apart over night and the Japanese government use that money to get parents farming with their kids. If the Big Island imports 90% of their food, and those food ships ship out of CA, and CA has Israel dual citizens in high government that have no problem voting the US into wars for Israel I'm sure that they will never forget what side Japan took. Did you know in the Jewish encyclopedia it says if a Jew ties up it's neighbor and they starve to death it's not a sin? Or you can play into the system of pigs like a good goy and listen to Nigger wisdom youtube videos about how having nine baby mamma's drives him insane and that you should never have kids or get a girl and just work and find what ever makes you happy even if it kills you.

Befriending Muslims makes both us grin. If you don't have a friend named Mohammad who urges you to someday visit his favorite titty bar in some Muslim country you're probably already cucked. If some old Japanese man doesn't give you the silent nod of approval you're probably already cucked.

State House Rep Candidate (R) Hawaii District 2 You have never seen (((political))) blood sports till you seen Internet Blood Sports

Internet Blood Sports, IBS, started about nine months ago on (((youtube))). Some big youtuber was sick and tied of making the same stagnant type of content. In short there are no rules, no time limit in IBS besides there's a host and maybe co-host who keep the guest on topic IE someone can't read from a book for ten minutes. An IBS stream picks a topic and invites people that oppose each other and then live streams it: 2v2, 3v3, 5v1. These IBS live streams on (((youtube))) got upward of 10k live viewers with sometimes 200,000 total views... for content that sometimes goes over five hours. There's never enough blood when it comes to IBS whereas politics is (((sissy))) (((Christian))) (((shit))) that makes nigger equal to whites by forcing whites down to the level of niggers.

Some of these streams were so bloody that (((youtube))) shut down the stream live with 5k viewers. Once a (((Jew))) showed up to vs a popular youtuber to only have the stream taken down as soon as it was done... How many of those watching that live stream are now Nazis. The (((ADL))) and (((SPLC))) called out a few months after IBS started to shut it down. Shortly after no (((shit lib))) showed up and it was just people who were on the (((right))). There wasn't really any blood, it was just people allying up and became border line normie talk radio. Some open National Socialist, Nazi, would show up and get shut down within minutes of talking to a live audience. Anyone who ever said or thinks Hawaii should be for the Hawaiians is a national socialist, Nazi. READ SIEGE, FAGGOT! Arcive.org audio book SIEGE by James Mason.

Within a few months some white youtuber made content better than the fake news ever thought up. It made a lot of money and went from 100 viewers to 10,000 in less than two months. Will (((politics))) embrace this or will the (((hooknoses) go "oy vey we messed up." When the (((Jews))) cry shut it down who's name gets brought up? These memes are reaching millions.

(((ZOG))) will never allow (((politics))) to change in the (((US))). (((They))) need to keep up this (((left))) and (((right))) shell game. These (((commies))) on (((youtube))) got beat up. Imagine if I asked my opponent how (((they))) thought about (((Isreal))) feeding the Japanese prime minister food out of a shoe? That's why (((they))) need questions feed to them like the swine (((they))) are. Your whole life you and mostly everyone you has been feed (((Jewish))) lies yet never turned into a (((Jew)))) whereas an IBS Nazi guest turned a live audience of thousands into Nazi's in less than two minutes before he got booted off by (((youtube))).

Thank you Bryan for trying to help White children, women and men who face discrimination in workplace hiring, promotions and college admissions through affirmative action and other state sponsored anti-White policies.

If the Hawaii Republican Party and Democrat Party value diversity then why are they not disavowing Kamehameha Schools when they have an admission policy based on race? Why is it okay to legally discriminate against Whites based on the color of their skin.

Thanks again Bryan for bringing the challenges Whites face in Hawaii to the forefront. You have nothing to be ashamed of and you are not alone.

They have not? What do you call the creation called OHA?

OHA has been hoarding cash and assets for their Polynesian-Hawaiian only nation building. You are either misinformed, or have a short memory that OHA sponsored a convention of only Polynesians that composed a constitution that would allow only Polynesians in a new Kingdom.

Doesn't get anymore racist than that.

The only ethnic group in Hawaii that has some of its leaders demanding to create a race-nationalist government with racial-supremacist superior rights for themselves is "Native Hawaiians." That is still true. Bryan Feste represents nobody but himself, and he has been thrown out of the Republican Party the moment they discovered his racist views. Good riddance to stinky rubbish.

Manipol-Larson is a hypocrite. She emigrated from the Philippines and immediately want's to impose herself and her Filipino moral code on us. Then she has the nerve to say bigotry has no place in Hawaii.

The only difference is Bryan Feste is White so he is defamed and slandered by the press while Manipol-Larson is applauded for her Filipino Supremacy. The anti-White bigotry in Hawaii is disgusting.

Shame on the Hawaii Tribune Herald and Hawaii Republican Party for their hatred towards Whites. Thank you Bryan for exposing the double standard.

Aloha My Fellow Republicans,

As we approach the primary election, it is a good time to remember- our Republican Party of Hawaii is in the best shape it has been in for years. Over the last few weeks, I have watched elements of our party lose focus and turn their considerable energy against one another. I intervened more than one time with the hope that we refocus on the most important fight, defeating the Democrats this November. Several members of the party decided that their personal opinions and direction were above the Party's, jeopardizing our chances in this critical election.

Earlier this week I followed the rules of our Party and adopted an Executive Committee resolution. I did this to avoid the chaos and confusion created when differing personalities attempt to assert their control over the process. We cannot move forward when it is not clear who is in charge. By taking control of the party in the short term, I intend to focus all of us on defeating the Democrats and preventing self-destruction, which has handed the opposition easy victories consistently for the last 20+ years. I am 100 percent focused on all of us coming together to avoid the politics of self-destruction that have haunted our party for 20+ years.

HILO — The Hawaii Republican Party says it has expelled a candidate for state House District 2 after it became aware of his racist views.

Bryan Feste, who is running as a Republican for the Hilo seat, said that he wants an "all white nation" and shared campaign material that states he is "pro white" and uses derogatory language for Jewish and black Americans.

State Party Chairwoman Shirlene Ostrov said she had met the 29-year-old candidate before but was not aware of his views until she saw some of the fliers. Feste said he moved to Hawaii three years ago to be with his parents in Hawaiian Paradise Park.

"The Hawaii Republican Party values the rich diversity of our great state," Ostrov said, after noting Feste had been expelled.

She said the nature of the state's primary elections means the party can't stop him from running as a Republican or "representing outrageous and disgusting views that in no way, shape or form represent or express the views of Hawaii Republicans." Feste said he was already considering dropping out of the race, but his name will appear on the ballot for the Aug. 11 primary. The deadline to withdraw was June 8. Ballots were mailed this week to absentee voters. Also running as a Republican for the seat is Grace Manipol-Larson.

The seat is held by Rep. Chris Todd, a Democrat, who faces a primary challenge from Terri The district covers Hilo, Keaukaha, Panaewa and Waiakea.

He is not a Republican, but Hawaii has a state-run primary system in which the party cannot stop a person from falsely claiming to be a Republican from seeking nomination in a public primary election and representing outrageous and disgusting views and opinions that in no way, shape or form represent or express the views of Hawaii Bryan Feste I Can the Hawaii GOP chairwomen explain why at the Hawaii Republican Conference the speakers said Israel more times than America? Does the Hawaii GOP chairwomen know of the Naturalization act of 1790 or the National Origins act of 1924? Does she know what the the hartceller immigration act of 1965? Does she know that Lincoln wanted to send the blacks back to Africa and FDR wanted to keep the Jews out? What are the Hawaii Republican Party values, where did they get these values and is there any any evidence of acting on these values and not just having them as talking points, is there any evidence of the Hawaii Republican Party not even trying to talk about it's so called values and cucking completely to Israel? Does she have an official statement about one article in the Jewish National Review was saying that the Israeli has the right to use deadly force to defend it's border and in the next month the next headline by the same writer now is the time to end family separation let's open our borders - Can the Hawaii GOP chairwomen make a statement on each point listed her or does she depend on a alien power to cover up the cause and affect of the christ-insanity world view? I bet she has absolutely nothing to say about 35,000 White women raped a year by black males. If you look at the violence all over the Western world hundreds of thousands of White people are victim of non-white violence, intimidation, assault even murder and rape from Britain to Germany to France to Italy to Canada to America. Because we have a alien control over our media, that hates us and wants to destroy us. I bet she has absolutely nothing to saw about Hawaiians being almost completed genocide by christinsanity. The Hawaii GOP chairwomen condones all of this because she's a cuck-serative. Who are these trusted flaggers that get the last say on who gets freedom of speech and who doesn't? The Southern Poverty Law Center led by Richard Cohen the anti-defamation league led by Jonathan Greenblatt and the European no hate speech movement whose core is composed of the European Union of Jewish students the aforementioned groups are all pro-Israel often to the point of fanaticism but work around the clock to shut down any nationalist or even mild dissident sentiment in the West. Contact Lorraine Shin, BJPenn's mother and East Hawaii GOP chair, and ask her if she wants Hawaii for the Hawaiians. I mentioned I wanted Hawaii for the Hawaiians and her eyes and face lite up and next thing I know I was suggested to run for office. Anyone who wants Hawaii for the Hawaiians is a National Socialist, Nazi. Every Jewish organization from the Southern Poverty Law Center, antidefamation league, world Jewish Congress, American Jewish Committee, Wiesenthal Center, embodies a single party line violence racial supremacy for Israel and cosmopolitan open borders liberalism for White countries. Is the Hawaii Republican Party Western the onus is on my opponents to prove it and apparently they don't want to. HIRA, Hawaii Republican action, has more follows on zogbook than the official Hawaii Republican page. Can you contact HIRA and see what actions the Hawaii Republican Party has taken against them? "Everything we admire on this Earth today—science and art, technology and invention—is solely the creative product of a few peoples, and perhaps originally, of one race. On them depends the existence of this entire culture. If they perish, the beauty of this Earth will sink into the grave with them. We also support existing immigration laws and proposed reforms that concurrently address the needs of national security." What does the Hawaii GOP chair to say for the complete lack of compassion for White South African Farmers? This is evidence that the Hawaii Republican Party is lead and managed by frauds who are only concerned about their careers and cucking to Israel. With reports of acute Stockholm Syndrome still affecting State Committee members who continue to believe all is well in the Hawaii GOP, HIRA wanted to make sure you received our latest, fully-documented report about Ostrov's numerous broken promises. These are no minor matters. Hundreds of thousands of Hawaii residents will be watching TV screens on the evening of the General Election (as well as refreshing their computer browsers and pushing their smart phones to the edge) to keep up with the 1st, 2nd, 3rd, and FINAL printouts of balloting results from the State Elections Office. WHY should you needlessly endure the suspense of that evening when professionals like you ought to already know that Democrats are on track to wipe the floor with the unprepared HRP (or is it RPH? Ask Blackburn and Grimmer) due to various combinations of nonfeasance, misfeasance and malfeasance?  BREAKING NEWS  HAWAII GOP FINANCE CHAIR QUITS IN DISGUST AND ADMITS HAWAII GOP IS NOSEDIVING IN 2018

Aloha, Republicans:

It's shocking, but true: With the General Election just two months from today, Hawaii GOP state chair Shirlene Ostrov's closest ally, confidant appointee, supporter and alleged paramour has formally resigned his position with the party.

Early this morning, Mark Blackburn suddenly and without warning resigned in disgust as the Hawaii Republican Party's Finance Committee Chairman and openly admitted that the Hawaii Republican Party is nosediving in 2018 under Ostrov's failed leadership. Quitting this close to Election Day reveals that political neophyte and full-blown RINO Ostrov mistakenly surrounded herself with amateurs and nincompoops like Blackburn who Excerpts from Blackburn's resignation letter -- sent to party leaders statewide today at 3am Hawaii time from his iPhone -- reveal a great deal about the coming political disaster Blackburn and Ostrov and their fellow officers have arrogantly and stupidly engineered. HIRA can exclusively share with you the sordid details of how much money, time, and effort have been wasted by the Hawaii GOP and its duped supporters since Ostrov took power in May 2017 . . . Efforts which will be for naught in 2018.

Blackburn admits that plans to "spend money on each and every nominee on the ballot between now and November" have now been cancelled According to Blackburn, the state party's now cancelled plans for political support were, "TV advertisements, yard signs, palm cards, mailers, newspaper advertisements, door-to-door canvassing, and more." This was probably all B.S. and bluster since many GOP candidates running in 2018 alerted HIRA that they never heard from the party, not even to get a copy of their campaign logo to be utilized in any advertising or printed materials in time for the final stage of

RACIST LEGISLATORS SEEK HIGHER OFFICE: Tupola + Ing are seeking to block most ethnic groups from running for state office

Aloha. Republicans:

As you know, OHA is a state agency funded by taxpayers of all races and ethnic groups in Hawaii. The U.S. Supreme Court has ruled unequivocally that it's illegal for Democrats and RINO's in the 50th State to strip the voting rights of Asians, Blacks, Latinos, Whites and Filipinos by eliminating their ability to vote for OHA trustees. Likewise, the Supreme Court has overwhelmingly ruled that ANYONE can run to serve on OHA's dysfunctional board of trustees. But that doesn't keep liberal race hustlers from trying to

Yes, Mark Blackburn has declared the Hawaii Republican Party DEAD in 2018 just two months before the election. That should be a signal to us all that it's time to start working on replacing these RINO losers who destroy. Republican ambitions year after year after year. For the past few weeks, it's been clear that Ostrov's entire slate elected on Kauai opposes her. These are the same people who supported her candidacy for state chair. Now her special friend Blackburn admits the party is doomed in 2018. There's nobody else to blame but this revolting collection of RINO's who just wasted two years since their last disaster in 2016. For the record, HIRA believes they should all resign TODAY so that real Republicans can begin putting the pieces back together in time for 2020.
